PRESIDENT HITS SUPREME COURT OVER VACATIONS

Wants It to Hear 'Must' Cases.

Journeys

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—White House correspondents who heard President Roosevelt's criticism of the Supreme court summer adjournment leafed back through their diaries and found that since March 4, 1933, Mr. Roosevelt has been away from Washington 706 days, or 40 per cent of the time he has been in office. In his first term he was away 672 days, or 42 per cent of the time, making 105,000 miles—more than any other President except Taft, who made 115,000 miles in four years.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—Insisting that his "judiciary reform" program would be carried through at this session of congress, President Roosevelt today attacked the Supreme court for taking its regular summer adjournment and leaving undecided cases that are not even on the court's docket.

The President complained of the four month vacation which the Supreme court justices are taking, a practice which has been adhered to since the size of the court was fixed at nine members and the justices were relieved of circuit riding duties in 1869. The Supreme court, as such, has always adjourned for the summer since its organization nearly 150 years ago.

Cites Issues Undecided.

Mr. Roosevelt complained that the justices were going away for the summer leaving undecided important government cases involving the validity of the TVA, PWA loans for the construction of municipal electric plants, and the registration provision of the Wheeler-Rayburn public utility act.

The court acted on each of these cases when it adjourned last Monday after handing down opinions in all cases that had been argued and submitted. It refused to review the Electric Bond and Share company's case, leaving to stand a government victory wherein the company was required to register with the SEC, and it denied a government request to dismiss a suit pending in the District court against the expansion of the TVA.

Petitions for review having been denied in these cases, they were not on the court's docket. In the third case the court agreed to review the question of PWA loans for municipal power plants, which will be argued at the October term.

Hits Lower Courts, Too.

The President explained that the court was acting within its legal authority when it adjourned for the summer, admitting that he had looked up the law on this subject. But he made it plain that he considered the practice bad.

He even charged the court with failure to speed up and regulate the lower federal tribunals, whose dockets, he said, are congested. He mentioned the anti-trust case against the Aluminum Company of America, in which two lower courts have issued injunctions, and said that no suggestion for a remedy of such incidents had come from the Supreme court.

The President insisted at his press conference that his "judiciary reform" proposal would be put through at this session of congress, and denounced as "silly" newspaper stories saying it was to be abandoned. However, it transpired that he had placed the matter entirely in the hands of Senate Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson and that little hope is entertained for the success of the legislation in so far as it relates to the packing of the Supreme court.

May Drop High Court Section.

Robinson was instructed at a White House conference last night, to do the best he could on a compromise of the Supreme court packing proposal, but to put the "judiciary reform" bill anyway. Robinson, it was learned, has little hope of securing an agreement on a compromise that could be put through the senate, and if such an agreement cannot be reached he himself will move to strike out the section of the bill relating to the Supreme court.

NAZIS BEHEAD JEWISH YOUTH, CITIZEN OF U. S.

Envoy Dodd Fails in Effort to Save Him.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 4.—Helmuth Hirsch, Jewish youth, born in Germany but technically an American citizen, who was sentenced after a secret trial in the German People's court, met death bravely today. A German executioner wielded a hand ax and ended a life which the United States government tried its best to save.

Appeals by the American government for a new and less secret trial, or for information regarding evidence against the youth, were ignored, and a plea for clemency was rejected by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler himself.

Hirsch was sentenced to die for "preparing high treason by violation of the law governing explosives," according to the only official information issued on the charges.

Resigned to His Fate.

Hirsch had been awaiting execution in the death house of Ploetzensee prison since March 8. He had little hope at any time that the American government could help him obtain a new and public trial.

At 6 o'clock this morning, as the doomed youth emerged from an inner, circular stairway, a warden posted at the corner of the court signaled toward the chapel and a tiny bell started sounding the death knell, which was kept up until the warden signaled that the executioner's job had been done.

Two assistants to the executioner guided the victim to the block, and put him into the proper place on the main platform. The executioner himself stood on a line marked in concrete, clutching the ax in his hand while the death sentence was read for the last time.

Red Posters Tell Story.

Some hours later, two flaming red posters appeared on Berlin streets. One announced: "The 21 year old Hirsch from Prague, who was sentenced by the People's court March 8, 1937, for preparing high treason in a crime to be committed with explosives, was executed this morning."

A similar poster was issued about 20 year old Oscar Denner, "executed for high treason" in the same spot in Ploetzensee prison, only a short while elapsing between the two executions. A new Nazi regulation provides that up to four persons may be executed daily by an execution in one prison.

Ambassador Pleads in Vain.

United States Ambassador William E. Dodd, after the appeal to Hitler was formally rejected last Saturday, had been negotiating feverishly with the foreign office and the chancellery, warning Foreign Minister Baron Konstantin von Neurath and the secretary of state that the American government and people would be unable to understand the beheading of an American citizen on the strength of a secret trial, especially since Germany refused to divulge any evidence.

The American consul general in Berlin, Douglas Jenkins, and the American consul, Raymond Geist, both called on Hirsch in the prison after it was established beyond doubt that he was an American citizen.

Officials Fail to See Him.

They went immediately to the prison yesterday when it was learned that he would be executed this morning. They told Prosecuting Attorney Dr. Folk that they had come to be with the youth and take his last message when the court informed him of his impending execution.

They were told they would be allowed to do so if he expressed a desire to see them. They waited from 6:30 p. m. to almost 9 p. m. The prosecuting attorney then told them that the youth had not expressed any desire to see them and that therefore they could not see him.

Court Visits Doomed Man.

Jenkins and Geist told German officials they would be available all night if at any time Hirsch wanted to see them. At 8 o'clock this morning German officials telephoned to inform the American consul that the youth had been beheaded.

According to German law, the entire court in a given case must as-

Edward Backs Vicar Against Church Wrath

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 4.—The Church of England will have to combat the legal representative of the duke of Windsor if it tries to punish the Rev. R. Anderson Jardine for marrying the former King Edward VIII and Wallis Warfield [Simpson], the Rev. Mr. Jardine himself asserted tonight.

The smiling country cleric, who is vicar of St. Paul's church in Darlington, Derbyshire, emerged from a first class compartment of the train from Paris on his way home from the ceremony he performed last Thursday in the Château of Cande near Monts, France.

"Here's what the duke and duchess gave me," he exulted, and exhibited a pair of solid gold cuff links bearing the crest and initial of Edward. He had also a piece of the wedding cake and in his little red covered prayer book the signatures of his most famous bride and bridegroom.

The Archbishop is Stymied.

Though the archbishop of Canterbury and other leaders in the Anglican hierarchy wrathfully disavowed the marriage of the duke and the American divorcée, the dauntless "poor man's parson" is not expected to face discipline. Popular sentiment is crystalizing behind him and tonight his superior, the bishop of Durham, said nothing would be done.

The vicar smilingly talked as he walked along the platform of Victoria station.

"Do you expect to lose your job?" he was asked.

Not Much Perturbed.

He indicated that he had no great worries about his future.

"Isn't your action going to cause a split in the Church of England and widen the breach between that church and nonconformist churches?" Jardine was asked.

"Well," he shrugged, "what of it?"

"My conscience is perfectly free. I was not marrying a divorced couple—that is one point which seems to have been overlooked.

"They already had been married by civil service when I took my part in the ceremony. When the duke was king, he was defender of the faith—why should he be deprived of its privileges now? I think it only right that the blessing of God should be upon them. I have no regrets for my action."

Jardine seemed to anticipate that he would have to face his bishops soon and apparently was rushing back to Darlington fully confident that he would be able to hold his own. His congregation is understood to be for him.

"No protest meetings have been called and none will be," the people's warden, E. H. Waddleton of Darlington, said today. He added: "The majority of the regular churchgoers are supporting the vicar. No one with any standing in the church thinks he did wrong."

On the other hand, the church council of St. Paul's will summon Jardine to explain his act. It lies within the province of the council, even if all the rest of the parish backs the vicar, to recommend his replacement to the bishop. Presumably it is through the church council the church authorities, furious at Jardine for defying their wishes, will work.

WELL, WELL, WELL, WELL, WELL, WELL, WELL, WELL, WELL!

Paris, June 4.—(AP)—The chamber of deputies today voted to abolish tipping, an old French custom.

A government bill, which goes now to the senate, survived a heated debate over whether such a deep-rooted practice could be wiped out by law. It won by a slim, two vote margin.

The bill is part of the People's front program, which considers tipping "contrary to human dignity"—and less remunerative than fixed wages. Hotel interests opposed it. Tourist sentiment was not consulted.

LIQUOR SPLITS PRESBYTERIANS; 14 PASTORS QUIT

Philadelphia, Pa., June. 4.—[Special.]—On the ground that the stanch old Presbyterian church of America had departed from the "historic position of American Presbyterianism," 14 ministers and three elders of the denomination turned their backs upon it in a statement tonight and announced the formation of a new organization known as the Bible Presbyterian synod.

Their action was taken immediately following the close of the third general assembly of the Presbyterian church of America. For the second day in succession the denomination's highest governing body had refused to go on record as recommending total abstinence and once more it had been described as a "wet church" by Dr. J. Oliver Buswell, president of Wheaton college.

Townsendites Split Up Over Court Packing

The Townsend plan movement with its rainbow promise of a $200 monthly federal pension for every American citizen over 60 years old, appeared heading toward disaster last night. From Washington, New York, and Los Angeles came reports of dissension within official ranks, and a general bolting from the leadership of Dr. Francis E. Townsend, originator of the plan.

The dissension centered in the national headquarters of the elaborate organization at 720 North Michigan avenue here and in the Townsend national weekly, published here.

Statement Planned.

Late last night J. W. Brinton, editor of the journal, announced that a joint statement by executives of the staf would be issued this morning. Mr. Brinton refused to say what the statement would reveal, but it was understood from other sources that it probably would contain the resignations of ten department heads of the national organization and probably many of their subordinates, over disagreements with Dr. Townsend's policies.

The controversy between Townsend and his officials rose over Townsend's bitter opposition to President Roosevelt's court packing scheme. At a meeting in the Washington office of Representative Charles N. Crosby [D., Pa.], chairman of the so-called Townsend steering committee in the house, Townsend on Thursday declared that defeat of the court scheme was more important than his pension plan.

Issue Unauthorized.

One Chicago Townsend official declared last night that in opposing the court packing, Dr. Townsend was taking sides on an issue which he was not authorized by his supporters to attack or support. The only issue he should concern himself with, according to this official, is the Townsend plan.

Dr. Townsend was called into Chicago last week for a showdown, but in spite of the advice of friends, it was said, insisted on his right as an American citizen to take a hand in the court packing controversy. This brought the dispute to a head.

Relief Clients in Milwaukee Ride in Autos

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 4.—[Special.]—About 75 per cent of those receiving relief at Milwaukee's outdoor stations roll up in automobiles, some in their own cars, some in taxis, but most of them in a form of jitney that specializes in relief deliveries at 10 or 15 cents a person and package. The figures were arrived at in an eight day check up by William L. Coffey, in charge of county institutions, for the purpose of learning whether the stations all were necessary and whether they were best located to serve their purpose.

The revelation of the part the automobile plays in easing the job of relief distribution was a byproduct and not the general purpose of the test. It was an involuntary contribution to the general fund of relief knowledge as was the recent discovery of Benjamin Glassberg in charge of outdoor relief of the path being beaten by young brides and grooms from the marriage license bureau to the relief counter.

Allowed Cost of Carriers.

The ownership of automobiles and the use of cabs by families on relief does not present a possibility of joy riding while living at the expense of the county, Mr. Coffey explained. The cost of limited use of an automobile is permitted chiefly to those who receive relief to supplement their WPA wages and who need a car to carry them the long distance from their homes to their jobs.

There is no provision for buying cars for relief clients, but gasoline is permitted on a basis of the cost of the city transportation to and from work, he said.

If a street car pass at $1 a week were needed for four weeks, $4 worth of gasoline and oil can be substituted to permit the use of the family car for home to work transportation. A similar scale is worked out for those who use their cars to taxis to visit the relief stations. Where the WPA income is less than the budget needed to maintain the family, supplemental relief is given by the county and this sometimes includes the cost of transportation or the upkeep of a car.

Nearly Half Use Taxis.

Of the 3,425 relief customers who visited the eight stations checked, the record shows 1,517 or 44.3 per cent left in taxis or jitneys. There were 1,005 or 29.3 per cent in private cars. The remaining 698 or 26.4 per cent carried their bundles to the nearest street car or to their homes or packed them in coaster wagons.

Relief distribution is so scheduled that most of the recipients visit headquarters every two weeks and receive supplies to last them for two weeks. This includes potatoes, vegetables and other bulky supplies, usually constituting too big a bundle to be carried handily in the arms. Some have to come back on alternate weeks to get meat or perishable supplies.

The jitney service has developed among small car owners who form a line along headquarters and pack in as many bundle carriers as the car can carry and distribute them at 10 or 15 cents a load.

STEEL COMPANY FILES PROTEST IN OHIO TOWN

Asst. Postmaster Blames Union.

Youngstown, O., June 4.—[Special.]—The Republic Steel corporation charged tonight that officials of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization are now permitted to serve as mail inspectors in the Ohio steel strike region. Four parcels of food addressed to workers in the Republic plant in Niles, O., were refused by the postoffice in that city.

"The union leaders will not allow it," said Bert Flaherty, assistant postmaster at Niles, according to the steel company representatives who sought to mail the parcels.

They quoted Flaherty as saying that a Mr. Payne and a Mr. Galloway of the union would have to inspect and approve all mail addressed to men in the plant.

Union Men Called.

"Yesterday a man brought a package to the postoffice, saying it was medicine for one of the Republic steel employés," Flaherty was quoted as saying to the steel company agents. "We sent for Mr. Payne and Mr. Galloway of the union; the package was opened and found to contain medicine. Mr. Payne and Mr. Galloway then gave permission for the package to go through the mails."

The assistant postmaster also was quoted as saying that the union pickets would not allow food, clothing, or newspapers to be delivered in the plant, but they would allow the postal department to deliver such regular parcel post packages as, for example, a package from the Westinghouse Electric company.

After the Republic company's charge had been made public, Assistant Postmaster Flaherty admitted that the package of medicine had been examined by picket captains, but he denied that other inspections were being made or permitted.

They Confer on Problem.

He said the medicine package was presented at a time when the pickets and a postoffice inspector were conferring on the problem of handling mail into the Niles plant.

Lewis L. Guarnieri, Warren, O., attorney who represented the steel company in the unsuccessful effort to mail the food parcels at Niles, declared parcels also had been rejected when presented at the Warren postoffice with a request that they be sent by registered mail to the steel plant at Warren.

"Walter Zeigler, parcel post clerk on duty at the Warren postoffice, said he was sorry but he would not accept any such packages for delivery to the Republic Steel plant," Attorney Guarnieri's statement declared. Three witnesses accompanied the attorney on his mission, which was regarded as laying the groundwork for a test in federal court.

Action Approved.

In Washington, D. C., Jesse M. Donaldson, deputy first assistant postmaster general, said today that the postmaster at Warren acted properly when he refused to accept foodstuffs for delivery to the Republic plant.

Donaldson denied, however, that postal authorities are permitting strike leaders or anybody else outside the service to inspect packages.

"If they are doing this, is it in violation of the law?" he was asked.

"Why, of course," he replied, "but they are not doing it. No postmaster or postal inspector would think of such a thing. Our policy is to take no part in these strike situations. We are delivering the mail that has always been delivered to those plants, but we are not going into the freight business to help them out.

Policy for 30 Years.

"Why don't the employers run their own trucks? Why don't they send the stuff by express? Why do they ask us to send our men in there and get them murdered? It has been our policy for thirty years to maintain only normal deliveries in troubled areas. That policy still stands."

[Chicago postal officials said they knew of no such rule. They declared no inspections of parcel post are made here except the routine examinations for fragility and inspections of parcels suspected of carrying explosives. The Chicago postoffice is making its regular deliveries to the strike bound steel plants here, and will continue to do so, the officials said. They declared they would accept food parcels sent to the besieged Republic mill in South Chicago. This mill so far has had no difficulty in receiving supplies, in contrast to the situation at the Niles and Warren, O., plants of the company.]

Philip Murray, chairman of the steel workers' organizing committee, which called the strike against the Republic, Inland, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube companies nine days ago, conferred today with Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio in the governor's office at Columbus.

Gov. Davey Hopeful.

Asked after the meeting if any progress in settling the strike had been made, Gov. Davey said:

"I am still hopeful. Please do not ask me any more questions."

He declared his next step would be to ask the heads of the steel companies to another conference. Tom Girdler, chairman of the Republic company, who conferred with the governor last week, afterward declared the company would refuse to meet the S. W. O. C. demand for a written contract, the only issue in the strike.

Two days ago Murray asserted he would not settle the strike unless Girdler signs a contract. Girdler's Republic plants are the union's main target, because most of them have continued to operate in defiance of the strike. Inland and Youngstown plants were closed by the management when the strike started.

Many Seek Reinstatement.

In Buffalo, N. Y., Martin H. Stearns, a spokesman for the Republic company, declared strikers are flocking back to the plant there seeking reinstatement.

"They are men who stopped work because of fear of intimidation," he said. "All rolling mills in the plant as well as the blast furnaces and seven of the nine open harth furnaces are operating. From all indications, the C. I. O. is about to fold up."

Charles Payne, regional director of the S. W. O. C., scoffed at Stearns' statement, declaring at least 2,200 employés of the plant are still on strike.

Chain Ties to Rail Tracks.

Strike pickets at Warren, O., strengthened their blockade of the Republic plant in that city chaining a pile of ties on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks as a train approached the plant. Railroad police made no effort to interfere. Three railroads serving the Mahoning valley plants have sought an injunction in federal court to stop pickets from interfering with freight trains. A hearing on the injunction is scheduled for next Tuesday.

BACK TO WORK DRIVE

Two independent unions, not affiliated with the C. I. O., pushed a back to work campaign yesterday among the 22,000 steel workers affected by the strike in the Chicago district.

In Indiana Harbor, where the Inland and Youngstown companies have large mills, independent union organizers were making a house to house canvass, asking strikers to sign a petition to go back to work. H. O. Brown, an official of the Association of Steel Employês, composed of Youngstown workers, said his union has already enlisted 3,000 of the plant's 7,000 employés.

Majority Claimed.

Among Inland and Republic workers the Steel Workers Union of America, another independent group, also was circulating petitions. The union claims a majority of the men in the South Chicago mill of the Republic company and at least a third of the 13,000 employés of the Inland company's Indiana Harbor mill.

Officials of the South Chicago Republic mill, where seven men were fatally injured in a riot last Sunday, said workers were steadily trickling back to their jobs. Fourteen hundred men were at work in the plant, they said, as compared with 1,000 at the start of the walkout.

$30 a Day Pay Reported.

Strike leaders disputed this claim, but they admitted some men had gone back to work, attracted by the opportunity to earn overtime pay. Some men in the plant were reported to be earning as much as $30 a day.

Youngstown employés in the Chicago district received letters yesterday from Frank Purcell, president of the company, declaring it would reopen its plants as soon as its gates were cleared of pickets.

FREED ON CHECK CHARGE.

LOOP HANDBOOK OPERATOR SLAIN BY TWO ROBBERS

Police last night were seeking two killers who walked into a quiet handbook in the loop district yesterday and shot the proprietor to death when he resisted their demands for money. Then they clattered down three flights of stairs and escaped.

The slain victim was John Bansfield O'Malley, 55 years old, 7735 Ridgeland avenue. His handbook, known as the Wells-Kinzie club, was in room 303 of the office building at 404 North Wells street.

The police are also seeking as witnesses three men who fled from the shop just after the murder. These were believed by Capt. Thomas Harrison of the Chicago avenue police to be O'Malley's two employés and a customer who had dropped in to bet on the early races. The time of the killing was fixed at about 1:40 p. m.

O'Malley was shot twice through the body with a .22 caliber revolver.

His body was found just inside the outer door of the handbook shop. Police last night had been unable to determine whether the bandits obtained any money.

SEIZE 20 SLOT MACHINES AT NIGHT LIFE SPOTS

Twenty slot machines were seized by the Morton Grove county highway police last night in their first successful raid on the elaborate night life spots on Skokie boulevard and No Man's Land between Kenilworth and Wilmette. In previous recent raids led by Lieut. Henry J. Andel the machines disappeared shortly before the arrival of the raiders. Four of the gambling devices were confiscated at the Skyrocket, on Skokie boulevard at the county line. One machine was taken at the Cormaine club, Main street and McCormick boulevard, Niles Center, and one at the Club Cherie, 6021 Dempster road, Morton Grove. In No Man's Land the raiders visited The Cottage, Lakota Beach, and Murphy's Lodge, seizing one machine at each.

Hotel Uses $15,600,000 Bonds to Stoke Furnaces

The furnaces of the Morrison hotel were fired for a time yesterday with $15,600,000 worth of unsold bonds of independent park districts which were merged in the Chicago park district two years ago. The bonds became valueless because other issues were substituted for them after the park consolidation.

REFUSES TO CALL MICHIGAN GUARD IN STRIKE RIOT

Governor Orders State Police to Newberry.

Newberry, Mich., June 4.—[Special.]—Gov. Frank Murphy tonight declined a plea that National Guardsmen be sent here and ordered upper peninsula members of the state police force concentrated in this vicinity to preserve order following a labor riot which left one man dead and several injured.

Sherif Ernest Shaw had asked the governor to call out the militia to forestall a threat of striking loggers, who were routed by nonunion men, to return and "take the town apart." Murphy expressed confidence that with the aid of state officers, local authorities could maintain order.

One thousand men participated in the fighting at the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company's plant, whose employés have refused to join the widespread strike of members of the Timber and Sawmill Workers' union which started May 24. The strikers demand a minimum hourly wage of 55 cents, single beds and showers in their lumber camps.

Eject 25 Union Agitators.

Twenty-five union men were ejected from the mill grounds when they came here yesterday to enlist the company's workers. They announced they would return today with reenforcements.

Nine hundred men, including twenty special deputies, mobilized at the mill early today when fire whistles gave the signal the outside agitators were returning. They met 100 strikers from Munising, who were marching on the plant.

The fighting started when the agitators reached the mill and demanded it be closed. The nonunion men used clubs and streams of water. The strikers used brickbats, sticks and their fists. The agitators finally were driven two miles into the country.

When the battle was over a man about 60 years old was found dead in a street. He apparently was a member of the strikers' party for he was not known here. Coroner R. E. Spinks said he died from natural causes, aggravated by overexertion.

End Sitdown in Chrysler Plant.

Detroit, Mich., June 4.—[Special.]—A sitdown strike at the Chrysler corporation's Jefferson avenue plant threw 12,500 employés of the auto concern out of work for a time today, but the trouble was settled this afternoon.

The plants affected were the Jefferson, Kercheval, and De Soto factories. Night shifts were called to work as usual.

Upward of 3,000 employés in the Packard Motor Car company's small car division were kept idle because of a strike of union men in the concern's stamping division. The strikers seek recognition of a shop steward system.

More than 5,000 General Motors employés were thrown out of work at Pontiac, Mich. The Fisher Body plant, employing 3,300, was closed, supposedly to forestall a sitdown strike. A parts shortage stopped the Pontiac Motor company's assembly line and made 1,800 idle.

Common Pleas Judge Ralph W. Liddy, who is conducting a one man grand jury investigation of the recent Ford riot in Dearborn, said he would rule Monday on a motion of the Dearborn city attorney to dismiss the Ford inquiry on the ground his jurisdiction halts at the Detroit city limits.

Plan Ford Plant Reopening.

Richmond, Cal., June 4.—(AP)—On the heels of a tentative union peace offer officials of the strikebound Ford Motor company plant tonight announced plans to resume operations Monday.

Rear Admiral F. D. Berrien Collapses in New Haven

New Haven, Conn., June 4.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Frank D. Berrien, 65 years old, retired, of New Haven, collapsed tonight while walking across the Central Green here and was taken to a hospital where his condition was reported serious.

FANSTEEL STRIKE LEADER ADMITS COURT DEFIANCE

Felt Order Illegal, He Testifies.

A new defense was presented yesterday in the Circuit court at Waukegan by eighty-five strikers on trial for contempt of court for violating a judicial order to evacuate the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation plant in North Chicago during the sitdown strike last February.

Charles Warner, 48 years old, former village trustee of Gurnee, who had worked for the company for 24 years, testified the men stopped work because they believed the company violated the Wagner labor relations act in refusing to recognize their union. Because of this, he said, the men regarded the court order as illegal.

Belongs to C. I. O. Union.

Warner is a member of the Amalgamated Association of Steel, Iron, and Tin Workers of America, an affiliate of the John L. Lewis' radical Committee for Industrial Organization. Also on trial is Meyer Adelman, 330 pound former Kentucky chef, in charge of steel union organization for the C. I. O. in the industrial district of Waukegan and Milwaukee.

Trained in War Service.

Questioned by Paul Glaser, labor attorney, and cross-examined by Harold Keele for the corporation, Warner testified he was a captain in the strikers' guard defending the plant against the law forces of Sherif Lawrence Doolittle. The sherif finally expelled the strikers in a tear gas attack after they had held the plant for nine days.

"A. J. Ansela, plant superintendent, said the company would not recognize the union," Warner testified. "We then voted unanimously to strike because the company violated the federal labor law.

"The men stopped work of their own volition to protect their jobs because the company was violating the national law. They thought that the court acted illegally in issuing the injunction when the company was a law violator."

AMELIA MAKES 1,600 MILE HOP TO BRAZIL PORT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 4.—Amelia Earhart brought her plane down at 4:31 p. m. today at the seaport town of Fortaleza, in northeastern Brazil, after a hop which took her 1,600 miles farther along on her flight around the world. She had taken off from Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, a little more than eleven hours earlier.

The landing at Fortaleza was 300 miles short of the goal which the American flyer had set for herself, the original plan having been to reach Natal, on the coast.

Miss Earhart planned to remain in Fortaleza until tomorrow morning, when she will hop on to Natal before starting over the South Atlantic for Dakar, Senegal, 1,900 miles from Fortaleza.

BEAUTY SHOP FORCE FIGHTS UNION IN COURT

Join Boss in Asking U. S. Writ Against Pickets.

Sixteen employés of the beauty shop at 5558 West North avenue joined their employer, Ross W. Swing, yesterday in a petition for a federal court injunction to restrain the American Federation of Labor and two of its unions from attempting to organize them or to picket the shop.

In the unusual action the employés and employer join in declaring that the presence of pickets around the beauty shop prevents them from doing their work properly, that they are being intimidated and their constitutional rights violated.

The local unions named with the A. F. of L. in the petition are No. 548 of the Journeyman Barbers' and No. 548D of the Hairdressers and Cosmetologists' union. Three organizers for the unions, Patsy Trotter, Felix Rose, and N. C. Iannella, are also defendants.

The petition states that the union organizers demanded that Swing instruct his employés to join the unions. Swing refused, but told the organizers they could talk to his force.

The employés, fifteen women and one man, declined to join the union, according to the petition, on the ground that they are satisfied with their wages and hours and that union affiliation would merely mean they would pay fees without benefit.

After the union offers were rejected, the petition continued, the organizers sent pickets to the beauty shop, who intimidated the workers.

"Composure is required in beauty work, and the employés of the shop were unable to work calmly when surrounded by picketing," says the petition.

Johnny Comes Marching Home, but Is It as a Hero?

Several weeks ago, Albert Fisk, an attorney living at 62 East Chestnut street, got a dog to guard his apartment. Thursday night when Fisk returned home, he found the doors forced open, but nothing was missing except the dog whom he had named Johnny. "I don't know," Fisk told Chicago avenue police, "whether a burglar stole Johnny, or whether Johnny chased away a burglar and forgot to come back." Yesterday Johnny came back, but Fisk still wonders what happened to him.

FORMER PACKING OFFICIAL DIES AS CAR HITS PILLAR

Alpha L. Eberhart Killed in Downtown Crash.

Alpha L. Eberhart, 60 years old, 2634 South Michigan avenue, midwest representative for a trailer firm and formerly for many years a packing company executive, was killed early today when his automobile crashed into an "L" pillar in Wabash avenue near Harrison street. His gray haired companion, Mrs. Margaret Chapman, 1732 North La Salle street, suffered facial bruises. She told police she is a sister of a nationally prominent news writer. Eberhart and Mrs. Chapman were driving north at the time of the accident. Eberhart formerly was connected with the Dold Packing company, and before that was vice president of the Cross Roy Eberhart and Harris company.

Youth Killed on North Side.

Robert Hughes, 18 years old, 6322 Glenwood avenue, was killed, and his companion, Jack Thompson, 15, of 1341 Early avenue, a Senn High school student was slightly injured when their automobile struck a safety island in Broadway at Hollywood avenue, bounced across the street, and then ricocheted off another automobile and into a lamp post.

The youths were delivering a consignment of liquor to the Edgewater Beach hotel. Hughes was employed as a clerk in Ben Segal's liquor store at 6202 Broadway. Segal was giving a party at the hotel in honor of the birthday of his son, Arthur.

Liquor was called for and Hughes and young Thompson started out to deliver it. They were driving south when their machine struck the safety island.

Deputy Bailif Killed.

Harold [Hocker] Lewis, 60 years old, 3001 Jackson boulevard, a deputy bailif under Municipal Court Bailif Al Horan, was killed early today by an automobile almost in front of his home. The driver was Joseph Tucek, 32, of 1225 Highland avenue, Berwyn, a machinist. Prior to becoming a bailif Lewis had for 35 years been a saloonkeeper on the west side. He had places at 7 North California avenue and Madison street and Ogden avenue.

Charles Strand, 59 years old, 210 West Garfield boulevard, died yesterday in the county hospital from injuries suffered Monday when he was struck by the truck of rescue squad, No. 3, of the fire department at Garfield boulevard and Wentworth avenue. James Schwickrath, 30, 6710 South Sangamon street, was driver of the truck.

Crushed, Dies of Injuries.

Richard Robinson, 17 years old, colored, 407 East 43d street, a truck loader, who was crushed against his truck at 49th street and Racine avenue by a hit and run driver on Thursday, died yesterday in the county hospital.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 448 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. During the same period 348 were killed and 8,628 injured in trafic accidents in Chicago.

Charles Starting, 87, in Safety court with broken arm when motorist who struck him while he was riding bicycle won freedom.

William Highberger, 37 years old, 323 Center street, a cab driver, was sentenced to nine days in jail by Judge George B. Weiss in Safety court yesterday for driving while intoxicated. He has already spent 11 days in jail awaiting trial.

Rev. George T. Green.

Judge Weiss fined the Rev. George T. Green, 56 years old, 924 East 76th street, pastor of the Ingleside Methodist church, $10 and costs for reckless driving after a collision.

Judge Weiss freed Walter Schoenbach, 63 years old, 5401 Cornell avenue, when Schoenbach convinced the court that he did not know that his car had brushed Charles Starting, 87 years old, 7053 Dante avenue, who was riding a bicycle. Schoenbach agreed to pay the cyclist's doctor bill for a broken arm.

Judge John Gutknecht in Trafic court sent Charles Salvatore, 25 years old, 5301 Flournoy street, to jail pending a decision on his speeding case. Salvatore has been in court 13 times previously on trafic charges.

ROOSEVELT ASKS 40 MILLION CUT IN FARM BILL

Washington, D. C., June 4.—(AP)—Congress received word today that President Roosevelt wants it to appropriate $10,000,000, instead of the $50,000,000 favored by congressional farm leaders, to help farm tenants buy homes of their own in the next fiscal year.

Chairman Marvin Jones [D., Tex.] of the house agriculture committee, who previously had contended he would rather have no tenancy bill at all than a "skeletonized" measure, refused immediate comment.

The reaction of Chairman John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.] of the senate agriculture committee likewise was not disclosed.

Bankhead revealed President Roosevelt's desire for curtailment of the proposed tenant aid program after a White House conference. He said the President would approve a bill appropriating $10,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, $25,000,000 the next year, and $50,000,000 the third.

MOB ACCUSED OF LYNCHING WRONG MAN IN ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala., June 4.—(AP)—A jury hearing the impeachment trial of Sherif J. L. Corbitt, charged with failing to protect a Negro from a mob, was told today the mob "lynched the wrong Negro."

Chief Justice John C. Anderson ruled, however, the evidence was not competent, and added, "The sherif is just as responsible to protect an innocent man as he is a guilty one."

GREEN BARELY SUPPORTS HOUR AND WAGE BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—A cautious indorsement of the administration's new wage and hour bill if applied only to a "very limited field of workers" with annual incomes of less than $1,200 was given by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, before the joint labor committee of the senate and house today.

Even this restrained indorsement of the principle of the measure, given with manifest skepticism and misgivings, was conditioned upon six qualifying amendments which Mr. Green proposed "to make certain that the provisions of the act shall operate in fact and in practice to encourage and not to supplant collective bargaining on wages in the field covered by governmental regulation."

Persuade Green to Appear.

Although President Roosevelt told his leaders in congress that the wage and hour bill would have to be passed at this session because it had been promised to labor in his 1936 campaign, the administration had to persuade Mr. Green to appear and testify in support of it .

Administration spokesmen frankly admit that they had to have the indorsement of Mr. Green, as a leader of organized labor, to give the measure "respectability," a reputation which John L. Lewis does not enjoy in congress.

In approving the application of the act to the regulation of minimum wages for men with annual incomes of not more than $1,200, Mr. Green emphasized his opposition to government interference, "as in other countries, with the fixing of general minimum wage standards for men as well as women and minors."

Prefers Own Methods.

"Any such proposal to deal with the fixing of general minimum wage standards by a government fiat for men in private industry would be strenuously opposed by the American Federation of Labor as contrary to our conceptions of democracy and as violating the cardinal principles of self-government in private industry prevailing in this country," he declared.

"The American Federation of Labor has insisted from the beginning upon the establishment of a living wage as a minimum, and it has, through the force of organized effort, succeeded in establishing minimum wages far superior to those prescribed by wage boards of other countries."

The principal effect of Mr. Green's amendments would be to make certain that minimum wage and maximum hour agreements reached by collective bargaining could not be upset by the federal regulatory board unless the standards were below those established by competitors, in which event they might be raised but not lowered, and [2] that the board will deal with craft employment as a separate classification wherever it is found to exist.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins also testified today, expressing enthusiastic approval of the bill.

LOESCH URGES HORNER TO SIGN PAROLE REFORM

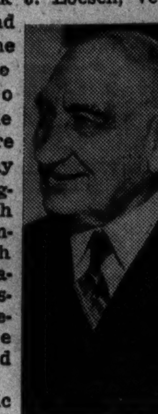
CRIMINAL COURT.
Troy Moses, manslaughter, sentenced to one to fourteen years in the penitentiary by Judge Benjamin P. Epstein.

Gov. Henry Horner was urged yesterday by Frank J. Loesch, veteran crime fighter and president of the Chicago crime commission, to sign the parole reform measure passed Thursday by the state legislature. Loesch headed a committee which sponsored the parole reform legislation after a series of parole scandals shocked the state.



FRANK J. LOESCH.

In a public statment issued on his return yesterday from an eastern trip, Mr. Loesch pointed out that the opposition to the legislation comes only from theorists, who know nothing of the practical side of the fight pointed out, have had their chance to reform criminals and have failed, and it is now time to let men who know the practical side of penology do something about the evil.

Judges Given Power.

The key bill in the parole reform program, which waits only the governor's signature to make it a law, empowers the sentencing judge, who hears first hand the details of the crime committed, to fix a minimum and a maximum sentence within the present indeterminate sentence act.

For instance, on a robbery charge, which now provides for a one year to life sentence, a judge can fix a minimum at one, three, five, or even fiften years, depending on the facts and the past record of the defendant. The judge also sets the maximum and the parole board cannot parole before the expiration of the minimum or keep a defendant after the maximum.

Loesch Points to Sponsors.

"I have not talked with the governor," said Mr. Loesch, "and I do not intend to, but it ought to be convincing to him that it was the practical men in the enforcement of the criminal law who were unanimous in the formulating of these bills, and presenting them to the legislature and working for them there."

Mr. Loesch pointed out that the bills for the reform program were the combined efforts of such outstanding crime fighters as State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney and Judge John Prystalski, who when chief justice of the Criminal court a few years ago started the campaign against professional criminals which reformed conditions in Chicago when the city had the reputation of being the crime center of the world.

Pleased by Majority.

"It is a matter of personal gratification that the bill amending the indeterminate sentence and parole law should have passed the senate and the house b ysuch a handsome majority," said Mr. Loesch.

"I must decline to accept all the credit that is given to me for that success. The real credit belongs to the able men who made up the committee which I called together to discuss the evils and the remedies. These men should be congratulated for most of the work that was done to bring about the passage of the bills.

"The men most responsible for the success are Judge Prystalski and Judge Robert C. O'Connell, who have experience as both assistant state's attorney and judges in the Criminal court; States Attorney Thomas J. Courtney and his two principal assistants, Wilbert Crowley and Emmet Moynihan; Police Commissioner James P. Allman, Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan, Senator Harold G. Ward, and Elmer J. Schnackenberg, house minority leader, and Louis Geiman, a former assistant prosecutor.

Unanimous in Views.

"It was their long practical experience and observation of the defects of the administration of the indeterminate sentence and parole laws which made the discussion in the committee so interesting and full.

"The fact that these men were so unanimous in their views on the subject after years of experience confirmed me in my opinion that the laws should be amended.

"Of course, there were opposition views, but it is a curious fact that those views came from theorists, who did not have the practical daily experience with the subjects. Theorists had their chance; now practical men should be given an opportunity to handle the subject."

Mr. Loesch said he desired to especially express his gratitude to Senator Ward and Mr. Schnackenberg for successfully guiding the legislation through the senate and house over the objection of college professors, social service workers, and other theorists who were advocating their own parole reform measures.

GUN TOTER GRANTED PROBATION.
Edward Winter, 21 years old, 5626 Miltimore avenue, was granted probation for a year yesterday by Municipal Judge Gibson E. Gorman on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

2 Paroled Convicts Face Return; 1 Almost Escapes

The cases of two paroled convicts occupied the attention of authorities last night. One involved John Murray, 34 years old, 6315 South Green street, a quick trigger gunman. The other had to do with Leon Crabtree, 37, of 740 Irving Park boulevard, whose discharge in the Trafic court almost saved him from an immediate return to prison as a parole violator.

The state's attorney's office last night had virtually completed arrangements for a speedy prosecution of Murray. On Thursday night he held up the United Cigar store at 741 West Madison street, snapped his trigger at a citizen who sought to arrest him, and then fired two shots at Policemen James Alesia and Stephen Watson. They shot him twice and captured him.

Record Goes to 1921.

Murray's record goes to 1921, the early period including several bridewell sentences. Among his early crimes was the burglary of the White Bros. warehouse. In February, 1926, he was sentenced to Joliet for a term of 10 years to life for robbery. He was paroled in December, 1933. He had been sought as a parole violator for more than a year because he had stopped making parole reports.

The case of Crabtree is more complicated. He was arrested by Chicago avenue police on a charge of driving an automobile without the consent of the owner, Col. George T. Langhorne, 1180 Lake Shore drive. The car was taken by Crabtree from a garage where he was employed. He returned the car.

Discharged on Plea.

Police had him arraigned before Judge John Gutknecht in the Trafic court, where only trafic violations are handled, instead of the Automobile court, where more serious charges are heard. Crabtree pleaded he had simply borrowed Col. Langhorne's car to pick up relatives whose car had broken down at Beecher, Ill., and he was discharged.

For a time it appeared that his acquittal would prevent him being returned to prison as a parole violator, but parole agents arrested him after the court appearance. He was in the county jail last night, awaiting a return to prison with the next shipment of prisoners. Crabtree was paroled last July after serving four years of a one year to life sentence imposed in Edgar county, Illinois.

TRACTION MERGER FINANCIAL PLAN IS UP TO OWNERS

Property Value City's Only Concern, Says Mayor.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

The working out of a financial program for a consolidation of the Chicago Surface Lines and the Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated lines] as the basis for a new unified ordinance is a problem which must be settled by owners of the systems and not by city officials, Mayor Kelly said yesterday.

In revealing the provisions of a consolidation plan submitted to him by elevated interests Wednesday, Mayor Kelly said he would request representatives of both systems to begin negotiations immediately in an effort to work out a unification plan. The city's chief concern in the financial set-up, he stated, would be the total value to be placed on the properties.

Fixes 178 Millions Capital.

The plan submitted to Mayor Kelly by the special elevated reorganization committee, headed by William J. Lynch, proposes merger of the two systems into one new company with total capitalization something in excess of 178 million dollars, with the amount to be fixed by a final valuation of the properties. It proposes approximately proportionate treatment to both systems.

Announcement of the proposal brought immediate objections from surface lines interests who declared their system, which is making money and in good cash position, should not be merged on an equal basis with the elevated which is operating at a deficit and hampered by lack of cash.

Offer of New Securities.

The plan offered by the elevated committee proposes a new company with five classes of securities to be issued in exchange for outstanding obligations. There would be, under the plan, one issue of first mortgage bonds, two classes of general mortgage bonds, and two kinds of common stock.

The plan suggests that holders of about 72 million dollars of first mortgage bonds of the surface lines companies be given $30,541,725, or about 40 per cent of their principal in new first mortgage obligations because the system has that amount of cash in various funds. The balance of 60 per cent would be met with series A general mortgage bonds.

Other Holders Considered.

Holders of other surface line securities, including junior mortgage bonds, would be given series B general mortgage bonds and common stock for their claims.

Holders of elevated mortgage bonds, under the plan would get series A and series B general mortgage bonds for their principal and common stock for accrued interest. Holders of elevated debentures, unsecured claims and preferred and common stocks, it is proposed would be common stock.

RUSSIA ACCUSED OF ORDERING NAZI WARSHIP BOMBED

Paris Paper Lays Incident to Soviet Flyers.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 4.—The bombing of the German pocket battleship Deutschland last Saturday as it lay in the harbor at Ibiza, in the Balearic islands, was done by two Russian planes commanded by Russian officers on direct instructions from Moscow, according to the Paris weekly paper Gringoire, an organ of far right political opinion.

The bombing of the 10,000 ton Deutschland, in which 28 sailors were killed by a missil which fell into the messroom, touched off an international incident which threatened, and still threatents, to result in the Spanish civil war spreading to other parts of Europe. Reichsfuehrer Hitler immediately took drastic reprisals against Spain by ordering the 10,000 ton pocket battleship Admiral Scheer and four destroyers to bombard the Spanish port of Almeria. About thirty persons were killed and the town laid in ruins by this bombardment.

Says Russia Has Spanish Base.

Gringoire charged that there is a Russian air squadron at Valencia, temporary capital of Spain, independent of the Spanish war command and led by a Russian officer, Col. Wassily Tigrov.

"On May 28," Gringoire said, "Col. Tigrov received a code telegram from Moscow. It was the day before the attack on the Deutschland. Upon receiving the telegram, he called a conference of eighteen ranking officers. Following the conference six soviet planes of the TB-3 type received orders to be ready for a special mission. On May 29 they made several flights along the coast in groups of two.

"In the evening two of these planes attacked the Deutschland. One of these planes was comamnded by First Lieut. Wassily Schmidt, the other by Capt. Anton Prigorine."

Russia Organizes United Front.

MOSCOW, June 4.—(AP)—The Third [communist] Internationale today asked its long standing enemy, the Second [Socialist] Internationale, to forget their differences for the moment and join in united action "against German and Italian intervention in Spain."

Georgi Dimitrov, secretary general of the communist Internationale, in announcing the proposal, said it was the direct result of the recent bombardment by German warships of the Spanish port of Almeria

He invited the International Federation of Trades Unions also to participate in the formation of a joint commission to work out aid for the Spanish government.

Spain May Demand Damages.

VALENCIA, Spain, June 4.—(AP)—The Spanish republic holds the London nonintervention committee and all nations participating in it "responsible to a degree" for the bombardment of Almeria, Foreign Minister Jose Giral Pereira said tonight.

He added, however, that if reparations are demanded action will be taken against Germany alone, because it was a German fleet which shelled the seaport.

20 Slain in Madrid.

MADRID, June 4.—(AP)—A rebel artillery bombardment today killed at least 20 persons and wounded 60 in downtown Madrid.

Rejoicing over the death in an air crash yesterday of the rebel Gen. Emilio Mola, Madrilenos thronged the streets at the usually safe hour between 11 and 12. Then the shells began to fall.

One of the city's biggest hotels was the scene of the day's most gruesome bloodshed. Rushing in panic to the hotel hallway when the shelling started, people were scattered again by a bursting shell which killed a woman and three men.

Rebels Mourn Loss of Mola.

BURGOS, Spain, June 4.—(AP)—Gen. Emilio Mola's commander in chief, Generalissimo Francisco Franco, his soldiers, and the officers of his staf said a military farewell today to the dead chieftain of the northern Spanish rebel armies.

The bodies of Mola and of the four companions killed with him in an air crash near Breviesca yesterday lay in state all morning at military headquarters here. Then they were carried through the streets in an impressive two hour procession.

Permit Foreign Bids on Old Ships

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—Despite the American neutrality law, which is designed to keep the country out of foreign wars, and with a cautious eye toward profit, the maritime commission today announced that it will permit foreign countries to bid on 28 obsolete steel cargo vessels offered for sale for scrap.

In the opinion of the state department the bids which are to be opened July 8 violate the spirit if not the letter of the neutrality law. When informed of this reaction commission officials said they considered the obtaining of an adequate price the paramount interest of the government.

First Bids Rejected.

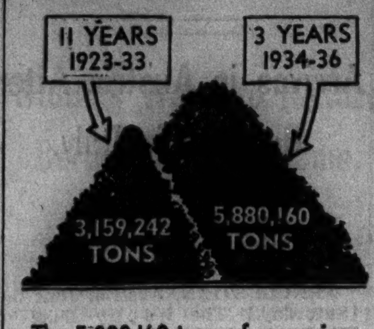
The ships to be sold are rusting at Staten Island, Norfolk, and New Orleans. They were advertised for sale last May, but the bids were rejected because they were below the current market price for scrap iron, and therefore held unfair to the government. No consideration was given to the fact that successful bidding firms would have to break up the vessels.

In announcing readvertisment and the lifting of bars against foreign countries, the commission said it owed a duty to the government to obtain the highest prices for these vessels consistent with its obligation to advance the American merchant marine. The commission ignored the possibility that the ships might be turned into weapons of war for use against not only the American merchant marine but the American nation.

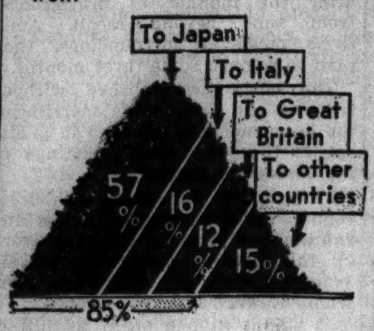
No License Required.

Under the neutrality act there is no license requirement for the shipment of scrap iron as there is for shipment of guns and ammunition. Scrap iron, like many another raw material, is not considered a weapon of war in the terminology of the neutrality act although it was labeled contraband during the war.

Comparison of the volume of scrap iron exports from United States during the last three years and during the preceding eleven years is shown in the first pyramids below. In the other are shown the proportions sent to importing countries.



The 5,880,160 tons of scrap iron exported in the last three years went



ELEVATOR TRAP PINS WATCHMAN FOR FOUR HOURS

Charles Conover, 28 years old, 6125 Ellis avenue, a watchman for the Central Watch service, made the mistake last night of thinking the elevator he was in was slipping and might fall. That was at 8:30 p. m., at the tenth floor of the building at 229 South Market street. Conover made a frantic leap for the tenth floor landing. He didn't quite make it, and the inner top of the elevator pinned him against the floor.

Hours passed before the Central Watch offices could locate him. At 12:37 this morning—four hours and seven minutes after he was caught—he was released by Acting Chief James Collins of the 27th fire battalion, who raised the elevator. Conover suffered no worse injuries than hip bruises. "But I did a lot of sweating," he said.

Ten Families Driven from Their Homes by Flames

Fire drove ten families out of their flats in two three-story frame houses at 1619-21 South Racine avenue last night. No one was hurt. The fire supposedly started in the basement flat of Emil Duczman at 1619 Racine avenue. He called the fire department. The flames jumped the gangway and attacked the building on the south. Firemen under Chief James Harrold of the 8th battalion soon put out the blaze. Damage to each house was estimated at $500.

NORTH STONEHAM, England, June 4.—(AP)—Basque refugee children encamped in this South England village today cheered the announcement of the death of the Spanish rebel general, Emilio Mola. "Hurrah, now we can go back to Spain!" many shouted. The children held Mola responsible for the rebel siege of their capital, Bilbao, and thought his death in a plane crash meant end of the war.

LOVELORN HEART GIVES A MYSTERY TO LAKE FOREST

Wed, Fleeced and Jilted, Widow's Suit Reveals.

Lake Forest and the north shore had a mystery last night, a mystery of marriage and money. The puzzling questions were: Who is Mrs. Bertha Allison and where is her new husband, Malcolm, and the bride's $500?

Chicago and Los Angeles police can't find Malcolm and the missing currency, and much amateur sleuthing failed to disclose who Mrs. Allison is or even her address in Lake Forest. But her lawyer whispers she was a wealthy widow.

Annulment Suit Filed.

The lawyer, George L. Reilly, brought the mystery to public attention. Late yesterday afternoon, about closing time, when he thought there were no reporters looking, he went into the Lake county courthouse at Waukegan and filed suit to annul the marriage of Bertha Allison of Lake Forest and Malcolm C. Allison of Los Angeles, whose last known address was the Harding hotel on Clark street in Chicago.

Mrs. Allison says in her bill that she met Allison in April. How and where are just minor mysteries. He told her he owned a fine business in Los Angeles, and that, with plenty of money in the bank, he thought that it was now time to settle down. He was 60 years old, courtly and glib, a pleasant fellow withal.

A Lonely Heart Responds.

The mysterious Bertha was 52, her husband was dead, two children were grown up, and she was lonely. When the suave Allison proposed, she accepted. They motored to Crown Point on May 18 in her car and were married by a justice of the peace.

On the way back to Chicago, the bridegroom announced that he had come away without his pocketbook. Could the new Mrs. Allison lend him some money? Mrs. Allison could. She pulled $500 in bills from her purse and handed them over.

Bridegroom Flits Away.

Arriving in the city Malcolm suddenly remembered he had a pressing business engagement in Los Angeles.

"I must go away," he told his bride, "but I will come back to you ere the ink is dry on our marriage certificate." He left her, slightly dazed, at the railroad station. She drove home to Lake Forest to await Malcolm's return for their honeymoon.

Days passed and there was no sign of Allison. The bride asked Los Angeles police to look around for Malcolm; in fact, the annulment bill states, they combed the city for him.

Reached at his Lake Forest home, Reilly was affable, but not talkative. Yes, Mrs. Allison comes from a fine family; he had heard she was well to do. She was, of course, disappointed about Malcolm.

Well! Office Holders Object to Pay Boost

Tampa, Fla., June 4.—(AP)—Four members of the Hillsborough county commission today sent a protest to Tallahassee against a bill already passed by the Florida house and senate to raise their salaries from $300 to $350 a month. The board telegraphed the Hillsborough delegation to recall the bill or amend it to make the higher salary effective Jan. 1, 1939, at the start of the next commission term. "We were elected on the basis of $300 a month," said Commissioner F. W. Ball, "and I think we ought to serve out the term on that salary."

10,000 WORKERS SEE NAZI NAVY MANEUVERS OFF HELIGOLAND ISLE

ABOARD THE STEAMER ROLAND OFF HELIGOLAND, June 3.—(AP)—The German navy today held its first maneuvers off Heligoland since this little island was refortified in defiance of the Versailles treaty.

Only a skeleton fleet participated, because so many of the reich's men-of-war have been sent to Spanish waters. Of Germany's three pocket battleships, not one appeared. Of its six cruisers, only the Nuernberg and the Karlsruhe participated. Only 12 of its 36 new submarines were here.

Some 10,000 vacationing workers watched the maneuvers from the decks of steamers, including five passenger liners taking workers on vacation trips to the Norwegian fjords as part of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's "strength through joy" program. The climax of the maneuvers came in a simulated air attack on these passenger craft.

FRENCH SENATE PASSES BLUM'S PRESS GAG LAW

PARIS, June 4.—(AP)—The French senate tonight adopted Premier Leon Blum's "press reform" bill without a record vote. The bill was passed by the chamber of deputies on Dec. 9.

The measure would subject editors and others responsible for newspaper articles to criminal prosecution for defamation of character. Previously, newspapers usually were able to escape prosecution by printing the reply of a person who considered himself defamed.

WISCONSIN BIDS FOR DUCHESS AND DUKE OF WINDSOR

Madison, Wis., June 4.—[Special.]—The duke and duchess of Windsor were congratulated and urged to visit Wisconsin in a joint resolution rushed through both houses of the legislature today.

The duke was commended for "boldly and fearlessly asserting his individual rights and demonstrating democratic ideals," the duchess as an "American, loved and respected." Both were congratulated for "placing love and happiness before traditions, pomp, glory, and power."

THROWN TO FLOOR AND ROBBED.

A thief trailed Mrs. Elizabeth A. Ren, 28 years old, into the lobby of the apartment building where she lives at 8150 Drexel avenue early yesterday, threw her to the floor, and escaped with her purse containing $35.

DUKE CARRIES WALLY THROUGH DOOR OF CASTLE

Arrives in Austria After Ovations in Italy.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ARNOLDSTEIN, Austria, June 5—[Saturday.]—The happy duke of Windsor carried his American duchess over the threshold of romantic Castle Wasserleonburg early this morning after the manner of bridegrooms from time beyond recall. Amid these medieval surroundings, they plan to sojourn some three months.

The entry accomplished without tripping and with much merriment, the honeymooners accepted in genial spirits the low bowed greetings of the household employés.

They found the castle—which is reputed to be haunted—spotless and shining as a result of assiduous work by the servants under the surveillance of Countess Muenster, from whom Edward leased the abode.

It stands atop a steep foothill of the Dobratsch mountains and is accessible only by narrow and tortuous roads, some parts of which still are in the process of construction. From the castle's clear windows one can see Italy and Jugo-slavia. Not far away lies Noetsch with its 180 souls.

Ready to Guard Privacy.

Over the rather frightening roads sped the automobile bearing the duke and his bride from Arnoldstein, where at a quarter before midnight [5:45 p. m. Friday, Chicago daylight time] they left the special car in which they had ridden from France.

The former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain was married on Thursday in the old Château of Cande near Monts, France, to the former Wallis Warfield of Baltimore, divorced wife of Ernest Simpson of London. The mayor of Monts performed the civil ceremony and an Anglican clergyman—despite opposition—the religious service. The ducal couple left France in their special car attached to the Simplon-Oriente express and flashed through the night and morning to Venice, where after a wait of more than two hours, this car was attached to the train that brought it here.

From the moment the crack transcontinental European train crossed into Italy yesterday at 9:30 a. m. the duke and duchess received ovations all along the route. Large, curious, and evidently friendly groups gathered at the frontier station of Domodossola and at numerous small towns at which the train stopped on its way to Milan. Since Edward was traveling as a private citizen, no official notice was taken.

Forced Forth by Applause.

At Milan Edward's welcome to Italy became a noisy demonstration. About 300 enthusiasts were so insistent with their handclapping and cheering that the genial couple finally came out of seclusion for the first time during the day. It was then past noon.

Edward opened a recalcitrant window himself, from which he and his bride smiled cordially upon the crowd, which cheered lustily. Among the confused cries was heard the yell of one enthusiast, in Italian: "Long live the king!"

Sweltering Venice cheered the world's most romantic newlyweds with true Latin fervor as they crowded two hours between trains with a full measure of sightseeing.

JOB OFFER ONLY A FRIENDLY ACT, SAYS M'KINLAY

Unaware Juror Was in Zintak Case, He Testifies.

Robert W. McKinlay, federal court receiver charged with attempting to bribe a juror in the first trial of Frank V. Zintak, ousted Superior court clerk, took the stand in his own defense in Judge Robert Jerome Dunne's court yesterday. He denied he had any intention of bribery when he offered a job to his boyhood friend, Gustave V. Anderson.

McKinlay, who is 59 years old, spoke feelingly of his boyhood friendship with Anderson, whom he called Gus, and declared that he sought him out in a restaurant at 59th street and Wentworth avenue the day before the Zintak trial started simply because he was a school pal more than 40 years ago.

Tells of Pleas for Job.

"I did not know that Gus Anderson was on the Zintak jury panel at the time I found him in the restaurant," McKinlay testified. "He had been seeing me off and on for three years, asking for jobs."

He flatly denied that he had agreed to give Anderson a four year job at $2,500 a year in exchange for a vote to acquit Zintak.

"When he first came to me," McKinlay went on, "I told him: 'Gus, there aren't many jobs in the bankruptcy business. This business isn't so good now that the depression is ending.

"'However,' I told Gus, 'if I get a building where you could act as custodian, I'll let you know.'"

Such a building came under his jurisdiction as a receiver shortly before he offered Gus a job, McKinlay said, and he looked for his former friend to tell him about it.

During the morning the defense presented numerous men in public life as character witnesses for McKinlay. Among them were John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor; William H. Sexton, former corporation counsel, and Henry P. Chandler, attorney. They testified that they had never known the defendant to do anything wrong.

Reason for Interest in Trial.

The prosecution attempted to show that McKinlay evinced special interest in Zintak during the progress of his trials. "Why did you attend the trial sessions so regularly?" he was asked.

"Well," McKinlay replied, "Mr. Zintak was a golfer, and I often played golf with him. When a man keeps an honest golf score, you can be pretty sure he's always honest. I was a friend of Mr. Zintak, and believed he was honest."

McKinlay described at length his public life, saying he was a former member of the state legislature and the Cook county board of commissioners. He began work as a boy of 12, he said. The defense will resume its case Monday.

PROSECUTOR TELLS MILLION SUIT THREAT IN BANQUET SCANDAL

Los Angeles, Cal., June 4.—(AP)—The story of a pretty film extra that she and other extras were duped into attending a gay studio party during which she was attacked by a film salesman drew the attention of District Attorney Buron Fitts today.

Patricia Douglas.

Fitts said counsel for the extra, Patricia Douglas, 20 years old, declared his client might file a million dollar lawsuit against the salesman.

After ordering all reports of the party be turned over to him, Fitts issued a statement that about a month ago she complained of an attack.

"The story," Fitts asserted, "told by her was that she had become very ill and left the banquet table, going to an automobile where, in the darkness, she was attacked by an unknown man. She later gave a man's name, and if the facts indicate a crime has been committed and a satisfactory identification has been made, we will prosecute the individual."

COUNTY REVIVES DREAM OF COURT TEMPLE IN LOOP

Studies Ways to Realize Cermak's Old Scheme.

After lying dormant for ten years, the grandiose scheme of a gigantic loop temple of justice to house all the city, county, and state courts was revived yesterday by the county board.

Sitting as a finance committee, the board authorized President Clayton F. Smith on Monday to appoint a committee of commissioners, judges, and private citizens to investigate the need of a consolidated court building, possible sites for it, and ways to raise the necessary money.

Judge Outlines Reasons.

This action was taken after receipt of two letters. One from Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit court outlined reasons in favor of the consolidation. The other, from a real estate firm, offered three possible sites, all near the present county building at Randolph and Clark streets.

Revival of this scheme recalled the sumptuous plans under consideration ten years ago by the late Anton J. Cermak, then president of the county board. Various schemes, one costing as high as $60,000,000, were advanced. One plan called for the erection of twin towers, fifty stories high, opposite the present building. Another proposed to add twenty-three stories to the present county building.

All of these ideas finally came to nothing and the new Criminal Court building and county jail were erected on the west side in 1929 at a cost of $7,500,000.

Judge Fisher proposed yesterday that facilities for the Criminal court judges be combined with those of the Circuit, Superior, Appellate, County, Probate, and Municipal courts in one building. The city, he suggested, might be willing to buy the west side palace, possibly for a contagious disease hospital.

Would Keep Present Jail.

The jail at the west side building would remain in use for prisoners serving sentences. He suggested that another jail for those awaiting trial be erected atop the contemplated downtown structure.

George S. Lurie & Co., apparently in answer to a request from the board, proposed three sites: The Reaper block, extending along Washington from Clark to Dearborn streets which could be purchased for $6,500,000; the 16 story Ashland block, on the northeast corner of Randolph and Clark streets, $3,000,000, and the Burnham building, La Salle and Randolph streets, $6,000,000, subject to a $4,000,000 mortgage.

THE LIFE-SAVING SESSION.

With the passage by the house of the Ward-Schnackenberg parole bill, already approved by the senate, the 60th general assembly registers the first score on a record of life saving legislation which, according to present prospects, bids fair to be notable in the history of the state. This measure, which we trust will receive the governor's approval, vests in trial courts authority to fix minimum and maximum terms under the indeterminate sentence act and puts a restraint upon the operations of parole which public opinion demands. Initiated by a committee of which Mr. Frank Loesch was chairman, it represents expert judgment. The legislators who voted for it, and especially Senator Ward, who championed it in the senate, and Representative Schnackenberg, who directed its more difficult course in the house, deserve public thanks. The opposition of mistaken humanitarianism and that of criminal lawyers and others who profit by the weaknesses of parole administration or maladministration have not availed. Criminal justice will be strengthened, as it sorely needs to be, and with greater certainty of adequate punishment for offenders public security will be increased. That means the saving of lives.

Another life saving measure, the Saltiel bill for the control of the venereal disease plague, wisely amended in the senate, is in a favorable situation and will soon be the law of Illinois, a long step forward in the campaign against one of the worst sources of disease and degeneration with which the American people are afflicted.

As to the motor license bill, another life-saving measure, the situation is less satisfactory. In the controversy over whether the administration of the license system shall be given to the governor's department of highways or to the secretary of state THE TRIBUNE has not taken sides, believing that Gov. Horner and Secretary Hughes will not permit their differences to defeat a measure clearly and urgently needed for the saving of life on the highways. That would be a responsibility too heavy with sorrow and death, too certain of its deadly consequences, for any humane and honorable man to assume. Agreement must be reached in time to insure enactment or lives will be sacrificed. No question of administration can have a feather's weight against that tragic fact.

If these three measures are placed upon the statutes of Illinois the 60th general assembly and the governor will have accomplished a record of life-saving noteworthy in the lawmaking of this or any other state.

EMERGENCY IN A NEWSPAPER OFFICE.

Leo, Bob, Eddie, Louie, and the other boys in the mechanical departments of THE TRIBUNE are still talking about the feat that was performed getting out the paper the morning after the Hindenburg exploded. Like Bill Dietrich's no-hit, no-run game against the Browns last Tuesday, it is something that will be talked about for a long time.

Few readers were probably aware that there was anything different about the paper the morning of May 7. There was unusual news, to be sure, in the disaster and the circumstances surrounding. The average reader, too, may have been impressed with the pictures which were taken by cameras focused upon the Zeppelin at the very moment of the explosion. The appearance of the pictures, thanks to wire-photo, a few hours after the accident may also have suggested something out of the ordinary. But that there were unprecedented manufacturing problems in getting out the paper few readers were in a position to understand.

In every manufacturing plant there is a figure which is regarded as tops in performance. Forty-eight pages involving four color printing was tops in THE TRIBUNE plant for an issue printed, cut, folded and delivered in one simultaneous operation. May 7 was the Friday before Mother's day. It was a day on which every important merchant wanted to be in the paper. Commitments had been made by THE TRIBUNE to print a large volume of advertising. And long in advance, a leading candy merchant had arranged for a page for that day printed in four colors. Late Thursday afternoon the plan for Friday's paper was formulated. It called for an early edition of 44 pages, going up to 48 pages in the second edition. Although 48 pages was recognized as tops, an attempt was going to be made to print 50 pages in the final editions.

At 6:32 Thursday evening, the presses started rolling out the first edition according to schedule. Only 500 copies had been printed when a flash came that stopped the presses. The Hindenburg, about to land after a successful trans-Atlantic trip, had exploded in midair. In 20 minutes a story of the disaster was not only written, but was in type with headlines and captions. By 7 o'clock the presses had resumed the printing of the first edition. Further editions came along through the night and the paper's size increased. When the time came for the finals, it was found that 52 pages were required. And the organization which had been geared to turn out 48 pages as a maximum, when four color printing had to be done, successfully printed not two but four more pages than had previously been considered tops.

More than 950,000 copies of THE TRIBUNE were wanted that day and more than 950,000 copies of the paper of record-breaking size were supplied, and on schedule, as they were wanted. It was possible to meet this additional demand for the papers because an experienced and competent personnel had the right equipment available. THE TRIBUNE's lines of ultramodern, highspeed color presses were purchased at the low point of the depression when orders for presses were few and far between. This created employment for a substantial number of skilled workers in the press manufacturing plants. THE TRIBUNE was not hampered at that time by the heavy tax the government now levies on earnings retained for development. If it had been, THE TRIBUNE could not have met the demand for newspapers the morning after the Hindenburg accident.

Eddie and the others cannot stretch this press capacity indefinitly to meet the rate of growth which is continuing. With the circulation up 19,000 daily and 28,000 Sunday over last year, there is need for additional equipment. Additional presses are needed to turn out larger papers and more of them. The tax on earnings retained for development makes it difficult to obtain funds for expansion. But orders have been placed. What is true of THE TRIBUNE is true of most industries. They should be expanding and taking advantage of new technologies, employing more people themselves and buying more equipment, thus furnishing more employment elsewhere. The retained earnings tax is calculated to prevent this and to create stagnation.

THE POSTOFFICE IN CONSPIRACY.

An unnamed spokesman for Mr. Farley's postoffice department in Washington explains the new service rule prohibiting the delivery of parcel post packages to persons in the picketed steel plants of Youngstown and Warren, O. He says that after the strike started and the picket lines were thrown around the plants numerous packages of food were received at the local postoffices, addressed to men on the company property.

"Inasmuch as the government normally had not been delivering such mail to these branch plants," says the spokesman, "it was decided not to start delivery at this time. If the postoffice department had made such deliveries it would have been accused of aiding those within the plant at the expense of the strikers."

This explanation leaves the conduct of the government less justified than it was before. Who gave the postoffice the right to decide that persons in legal occupation of property were not entitled to service which would be given if the place of address were not being surrounded by men illegally preventing the delivery of mail?

It was the duty of the government to force its way into the plants with any mail or parcel post packages offered at a postoffice. It was the duty of the United States marshal, with a force of deputies, to clear the obstructers out of the way and see that the mail trucks got in. If he couldn't raise a sufficient force, it was the duty of the government to use any means available, even the army, to see that its mail went where it was addressed.

Instead of that the government says it would be unfair to the lawless element to give postoffice service to the lawful occupants. If anything crazier than this explanation has ever been offered for a governmental misdeed, the occasion of it cannot be recalled.

The men in the plants who need the parcel post food packages are doing nothing in violation of the laws of the state of Ohio or the United States. They are entitled to protection they are not getting, and the men on the outside who are preventing the delivery of mail are committing a crime against the laws of the United States and crimes against the postoffice authority which never have been tolerated before.

We have emphasized the fact that when persons illegally seized property and occupied it, the authorities, as in Michigan, insisted that food supplies be kept going to them and that the property owners supply the plants with heat and light and water. When the situation is reversed, when the men are where they have a right to be and where the law should protect them, the United States postoffice refuses to give the service that every citizen is entitled to have.

Congressman Dudly A. White of Ohio has a resolution demanding an inquiry into this conspiracy of federal governmental officials and organized lawlessness. It should be supported by the unanimous opinion of American citizens, who should be horrified when their federal government proceeds to such preposterous, indefensible and lawless extremes against one group of citizens and in favor of another, the injured group being law abiding and the favored group lawless.

Editorial of the Day

SHORTS ARE ALL RIGHT.

[Rockford Register-Republic.]

Courts have sufficiently relaxed from their austere dignity to tackle the problem of shorts that adorn but do not very greatly conceal the lower extremities of male or female in the warm summer months. The New York Court of Appeals has ruled that it is constitutional to wear these abbreviated garments in public.

The question came before the seven judges of the New York court on an appeal from the conviction of a girl reporter in a test case of the Yonkers city ordinance which forbids wearing of shorts in public. The low court at Yonkers had ruled that the feminine news writer had impaired the peace of the community by appearing in yellow short pants, a colored halter with a yellow jacket over it, no stockings, white sandals and no hat. She was fined $10.

The higher court took a broader view, holding that people may dress as they please, as long as they do not offend public order and decency. The justices said that ordinarily the courts leave matters of dress to good sense and force of public opinion, but added that customary street clothes are sometimes pretty drab and that if some wished to color their outfits a bit they could see little harm in it.

That the court could not be accused of taking the matter too seriously, one of the justices concluded the opinion by observing that the constitution still leaves some room for people to make fools of themselves if they desire.

We hope the matter is settled by the opinion of the New York court, but we also hope the precedent will not be taken too literally by those people whose lines are such as to make full covering more appropriate.

You may be interested in this bit of folklore. The old colored mammy, recalling a friend of hers who lived in the Louisiana swamps, referred to her "knee baby." By much and insistent quizzing I learned that in a family of small children the youngest is referred to as the "nursin' baby." Sometimes there is a "fust knee baby" creeping the floor and a "second knee baby" toddling about his mother's knee. Mattune.

I have been ordered by my physician to take a much needed rest and my children (bless them!) have suggested this might be a good time to read up on some of the best sellers I had overlooked. Consequently I have at my bedside Tobacco Road, God's Little Acres, and an article from a magazine titled (never mind, you don't permit some words in the col.). Boy, I haven't gotten such a kick out of reading since Min Brown, the daughter of the school principal, sneaked one of her dad's hidden books out for me. Mother burned it—but too late; I had read it. A BOAST—OR A HINT?

Some time ago there was an article in the Line by Michela, and there's a gal after me own Irish heart! In her Portrait of a Career Woman she says people say of her, "She must be very lonely; no husband; no children." Our views are identical. I, too, have been pitied, but I can look out of my six room cottage and say, "I don't envy any of them. Many of them envy me my independence, my ablity to earn and spend my own money without asking the Head of the House for it." I may have wept a little, but the smiles far exceed the tears in number. TUBERCULOSIS SIGNALS ARE FLYING.

IF each of us would maintain his resistance at par—not become overtired nor burn the candle at both ends—there would be less than half the present number of cases of tuberculosis. This statement is not exaggerated. Even though we assume that many have the disease in childhood, the chances are that our natural body defenses will hold it within leash so firmly that we will never become aware of its presence. Unfortunately, however, children are exposed to various acute infections which will lower resistance by destroying reserve—thus "lighting up" the disease.

Again, when youngsters are in high school or college, social activities and studies combined may place too great a load upon youthful frames. This particular period—which should represent outdoor life, good food, and plenty of rest because it is the formative, growing stage—is all too often burdened with exciting events which harrow the nervous system and prevent the acquisition of a sound physical constitution.

Of course no form of neglect can CAUSE tuberculosis. It can only create a situation that will permit a tubercle bacillus to flourish—but every time we leave unguarded the fortifications of the body, advantage may be taken of our negligence.

What are some of the warnings of the disease? There are four of special significance: [1] fatigue; [2] loss of weight; [3] upset digestion, and [4] cough. We all become tired at times, and taken alone this may not have any special meaning. But when one is exhausted all the time, regardless of effort, the cue must not be overlooked.

Indigestion can denote a thousand things, but if it accompanies fatigue, if appetite fails, if it is satisfied with but a fraction of an average meal—it may be important.

Strangely enough, cough does not always accompany tuberculosis, but when the attacks persist for several weeks—"hang on"—they should be investigated. On an average a cold, even with a cough, clears up in a week or ten days. But whenever the symptom is accompanied by hoarseness or a constant desire to clear the throat we have implications enough to warant a more careful scrutiny.

The tuberculin test is a simple procedure and is helpful in arriving at a diagnosis. Then comes the examination by the physician and, finally, a careful X-ray study of the chest. If disease exists within the lungs that fact will be indicated by shadows cast on the X-ray plate. It would be a fine thing if every student in each year of his high school and college life could have a chest X-ray plate. We would thus be able to detect the disease in many instances long before outward manifestations appeared.

Of course there are other signals that should be heeded. Whenever blood enters the mouth report that fact to your physician. It may come from the nasal passages or the gums, but in some cases the source is the lungs. Coughed-up material may be streaked with blood or there may be a teaspoonful or more. If it is expectorated from the lungs, the sign is urgent; if it comes from the nasal passages it has but little weight.

Why is tuberculosis so common? In the first place, the organisms are so small that they can be carried about on bits of dust. They can live for several hours in particles of moist sputum, and sunlight is their greatest enemy. They will thrive best, therefore, in dark, damp places where they have been deposited by a human being with the disease.

Because of the ease with which the affliction is disseminated no one should countenance the filthy habit of spitting, as the voided substance may contain tubercule bacilli. The germs may then become mixed with the dust of rooms and breathed in by those who occupy them. Clean drinking cups and eating utensils are of equal consequence and, we hope, no one nowadays ever uses a pencil or other article that has come in contact with the lips of another.

HEART CLOT.

Anxious writes:

I would like information on a clot of blood in the heart.

1. Is it possible to recognize formation of a clot before it reaches a fatal termination?
2. What are the symptoms?
3. Can the trouble be arrested or cured?
4. In the case of sudden death is it possible for a physician to diagnose definitly that the cause was embolism?

REPLY.

You probably refer to a blood clot which forms in the heart because of disease and which breaks away, plugging one of the coronary arteries. This accident has the effect of depriving a portion of the heart muscle of nutriment [blood].

1. Yes, by characteristic symptoms and an electrocardiogram.
2. Pain—usually in the region of the heart and stomach—great restlessness, faintness, and shortness of breath.
3. Many cases recover and carry on for years with comfort and efficiency. Much depends on how large a section of the heart has been affected.
4. Only at autopsy.

CALCIUM.

B. A. E. writes: Is there danger of a person who has taken calcium to help mend broken bones having bad results from it? How would it affect one? The patient complains of burning tongue and weakness. What is the remedy?

REPLY.

Danger of calcium poisoning is very slight. Huge doses may produce clots in the veins, numbness, and tingling of the extremities. Any untoward effect of calcium salts—when taken in excess—is counteracted by citric acid, which favors elimination of calcium from the blood. Temporary sensations of heat and dryness of mucous membranes and skin may follow if the drug is given intravenously or injected into the muscles. In some patients there may be digestive upsets.

HYPERTENSION.

Mrs. E. D. writes: Could thyroid trouble be the cause of high blood pressure in a young person of 25 when there seems to be no other organic disease to cause it?

REPLY.

Probably not. Hypertension is not present in all cases of hyperthyroidism. When no organic cause can be found the sympathetic nervous system may be responding to a highly emotional disposition. Rest and freedom from nervous tension are advised.

SANTIAGO, Chile.—A serious shortage of labor exists today in some South American nations. For this reason, immigration—both to people the continent and to take care of production—has become a major political issue.

Practically all Latin presidents, in their annual messages to congress, admitted there has been no unemployment problem since the depression was overcome, but, to the contrary, there is a shortage of workers that, in many cases, is causing production to lag.

Government officials in Argentina confess that their country, with its "amazing agricultural prosperity," can immediately absorb another half million workers. The Spanish civil war has deprived the "estancias" of their annual supply of harvest labor, causing a critical situation in some farming areas.

Brazil requires immigrants for actual labor as well as settlement. Its need has become acute since last year, when it turned its back on oriental labor. In the cotton industry, which is prospering at the expense of the United States, more workers are required.

Both these Atlantic countries, as well as those bordering the Pacific, have been holding back from mass importation of European immigrants because of the recent doctrinal strife. They fear both Reds and Fascists.

The population issue was dramatized by the Argentine and Brazilian government delegates to the American regional labor conference in Santiago, who went on record that their countries are prepared to reassume their "historic rôle" of absorbing the surplus inhabitants of the old world. They practically recognized Europe's right to expect to settle in these parts.

Soon after that conference, however, the South American nations were forced into a police union to check the inflow of political extremists. The regulations were tightened when Europe became divided in racial creeds, and a continental policy of welcoming European laborers and settlers en masse was nipped in the bud. Latins reverted to the slogan, "Selected Immigrants Only."

Doubts are now expressed as to whether sufficient selected immigrants can be obtained to cope with continental economic expansion.

The idea of bringing Nordic colonists has been to the fore in recent months. Negotiations have occurred between South American delegates and northern government representatives at Geneva. The Argentine foreign minister, Carlos Saavedra Lamas, took an active part when presiding over the league of nations assembly.

Saavedra took one step further last month when he signed a treaty with H. A. van Karnebeck, special Dutch ambassador, heading a trade mission to South America, to attract farmers and colonists from Holland. Similar agreements will be proposed to Belgium, Denmark, Hungary, and Switzerland.

The Dutch also had immigration negotiations with Brazil, Uruguay, and Chile. Discussions with Germany and Italy have been abandoned, as their political tenets are an obstacle to the assimilation of their citizens.

All the west coast republics, Chile, Peru, Bolivia, Ecuador and Colombia, require, primarily, selected families for expansion of population, but resurgent trade and difficulty in obtaining these have compelled a general leveling of minimum requirements. The "selected immigrants" they appeal for are usually those European craftsmen who are satisfied with their home positions.

Bolivia is anxious to secure an immediate supply because it is short of industrial as well as colonizing labor. It is backward in the development of its productive oriental provinces and no men can be spared from the mining sphere in the Altiplano. Even before the European armament programs speeded up mining production, Bolivia was short of 25,000 men in the tin industry. The Chaco war denuded the country of its man power, as also happened in Paraguay.

THE MOTHER COUNTRY.

RIVERSIDE, Ont., June 1.—In a recent issue of THE TRIBUNE you have a cartoon showing England, represented by John Bull, standing on the brink of a precipice scanning the Italian situation with a very worried look, as all of us will admit well he might. Other figures representing Canada, Australia, and other British dominions are depicted holding John Bull back with a rope, and Canada has a pair of shears in her hand ready to cut the rope and allow Britain to perish if she should get into difficulties.

As a former resident of Australia and New Zealand, and now of the Dominion of Canada, may I be permitted to say that I think this cartoon shows a very poor conception of the attitude the British dominions would take under these circumstances? Surely the events of the last few months—namely, the abdication of Edward, whom most of us regard as the world's greatest fool, the coronation the Empire day celebrations—should leave no doubt as to how the dominions stand in regard to the mother country, but for the benefit of those who may be misled by your cartoons and articles on British affairs might I say this: We sincerely hope British efforts to keep out of European entanglements will be successful, but if ever Britain gets into a difficulty, such as that suggested by your cartoon, we who are proud to call ourselves Britishers will be on hand all right, and not with a pair of scissors, either. A. J. SMITH.

A LETTER WRITTEN IN ANGER.

Chicago, May 31.—The brutality of the Chicago police surpasses all bounds. No matter how hard THE TRIBUNE tries to cover up the cold, merciless, murderous activities of the police department in the steel strike, it is clear to every thinking person that the steel companies, in their illegal attempt to evade the Wagner law and to crush unionism, have the use of the police as strikebreakers. And what is more, THE TRIBUNE has exposed itself as a tool and ally of these powerful forces against the workers.

You twist and squirm in your attempt to present these poor men and women who are killed, shot, clubbed and gassed as the offenders. Your news picture captions are belied by the pictures themselves. Thinking people can see that your news columns are not objective but are colored to serve the most brutal employers.

This letter will not appear in print, since you refuse to print the truth.

DELAYS ON FOSTER AVENUE.

Chicago, June 2.—With one-way trafic on Sheridan road, the congestion north of Foster avenue has been eliminated, but there is no provision for the fellow who would proceed westward on Foster. He gets as far as the intersection of Foster and Broadway and then moves two or three car lengths at a time until he can get a chance to dash across Broadway with the fast working green signal. It usually takes five minutes to cover two blocks.

Why does that light work so fast? The Fosterites are aware that there is heavy trafic on Broadway, but the light does not stay green long enough to let more than a half dozen cars across. Why not a longer signal? A thirty-second signal will accommodate four times as many cars as a fifteen-second flash because the cars have time to get in motion. NORTHWESTSIDER.

TRUST ESTATE.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—An estate is to be held in trust, to be turned over on a given date to the beneficiary [1] who now receives the income. What would be the possible disposition of the estate, as the designated trust company [2] will not handle it because it is too small?

3. When the assets of the estate are converted into securities legal for trust fund investment should the appreciation in value from the time of inventory be considered as income and paid to the beneficiary as such? If not, why? The federal tax laws consider the appreciation of securities as income and tax is levied accordingly. A. H. D.

1. This implies that the trust is now operative.
2. This would seem to imply that the trust is not operative. In general, if a trustee has accepted the trust the carrying out of the terms can be compelled. If the trustee refuses to accept the trust an alternative trustee could be appointed by the court.
3. We cannot give advice of any value without having the facts and the wording more accurately before us.

MALONE DEFENSE LINKS DEPOSITS TO OLD SAVINGS

Contends Alleged Income Came Out of Vault.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Attorneys for William H. Malone, former chairman of the Illinois tax commission who is on trial for alleged income tax evasion, began presentation of testimony yesterday before a jury in Federal Judge William H. Holly's court.

Their defense was calculated to show that the currency deposits on which the government charges Malone evaded payment of $59,000 tax in 1929 and 1930 were not income but were funds accumulated in previous years. They also indicated an attempt to show that some of the money had been kept in a safety deposit box.

Claim $570,000 Deposits.

The government has contended that Malone's bank accounts show currency deposits of $330,000 in 1929 and 1930 which were not reported in his tax returns. In 1928, which is outside the indictment due to the statute of limitations, the government gave evidence to show that he made $240,000 of similar cash deposits. Most of this $570,000 is alleged to have been collected from corporations which had tax assessment affairs before the state tax commission.

This morning Malone is to take the stand in his own behalf, according to his counsel, Charles Rathbun. Both sides said yesterday the case may go to the jury late Monday.

After a procession of character witnesses had sworn to the unblemished quality of Malone's reputation as a law abiding citizen, Attorney Rathbun called C. H. Ronan to the stand. Ronan, now on leave from the Securities Exchange commission in Washington, had been one of the government's witnesses. Under Rathbun's questioning he said he made out Malone's income tax returns for the years 1930, 1931 and 1932. In this task, he said, he had examined Malone's books back to Jan. 1, 1926. Then came the question indicating the line of defense argument.

Reports Malone's Remarks.

Q. [by Rathbun]—As to these items not identified [the various deposits of currency in $500 and $1,000 bills], did you ask Malone if they were income? A.—Yes, I did. It was my duty as an auditor to find out. Malone informed me all these items had come from the accumulation of funds by him in the years prior to 1930.

Ronan testified that Malone, instead of being a tax dodger, actually paid taxes twice on $35,000 of profits from one deal.

"In 1925," said Ronan, "Malone's income tax return reported a capital gain of $55,000. In 1926 he reported a profit sale of $35,000. My investigation showed it was the same property in both returns, and he had paid income tax twice on $35,000."

"Objection," said District Attorney Michael Igoe. "The years 1925 and 1926 are not in the indictments, which are for 1929 and 1930."

Attorneys Clash on Evidence.

"Well, the government went back to 1928," said Attorney Rathbun. "You presented evidence about Malone's income for that year on the theory it was to show intent. We're submitting this to show intent, too. Intent to pay income tax."

Cross-examination of Ronan by District Attorney Igoe sought to shake the defense contention that the alleged concealed income was in reality accumulated funds. His questions were concerned with Malone's 1930 income tax return, when the government contends that $62,050 of currency deposits from unknown sources was not reported.

Q. [by Igoe]—On the books, did you find any record that large sums had been put into a safety deposit box or a baking powder can? A.—No.

Q.—Nothing on the records to show large sums had been drawn and put outside? A.—No.

Two Returns Prepared.

Q.—You prepared two returns for 1930? A.—One was prepared simply as a computation in view of an investigation by internal revenue agents. The return that was filed showed a net loss, no tax.

Q.—You eliminated certain currency items in the return filed with the government for 1930? A.—That's right.

Q.—Then you prepared two returns, one including currency items, the other eliminating the currency items? A.—No, there was a difference. The return filed reflects profits and losses on the books, the other added to it currency, the course of which I did not know about. It was not eliminated, merely not included.

Charles Marshall, manager of the La Salle-Madison Safe Deposit company in the Roanoke building, testified Malone had a safety box which he visited about 300 times, sometimes with a companion, between 1919 and 1931.

First of the character witnesses was Margaret Haley, for many years business representative of the Chicago Teachers' federation. She said she had known Malone for twenty years and that his reputation was very good. Among other witnesses who testified to the same effect were Charles W. Vail, former clerk of the state Supreme court for eighteen years; Dr. Thomas E. Conley and Dr. M. W. Caveney of Park Ridge, Malone's home town; the Rev. Raymond C. Hohenstein of the Redeemer Lutheran church of Park Ridge, the Rev. F. C. Richter of Edison Park, Henry S. Beacon, Park Ridge insurance man, and George O. Fairweather, business manager of the University of Chicago.

CHICAGO YOUTHS GET LIFE FOR KILLING TEACHER

Onida, S. D., June 4.—[Special.]—Two young Chicago hitch-hikers were sentenced to life terms at hard labor in the South Dakota penitentiary today after they pleaded guilty in Circuit court of having murdered Miss Ada Carey, school teacher of Blunt, in an attempted robbery near here May 21.

Judge John F. Hughes told the youths, Howard Christensen and Norman Westberg, both 17 years old, that it was fortunate for them the state does not have capital punishment.

The boys confessed they shot and killed the popular young teacher in an attempt to rob her of her car after she had given them a ride. They fled from the car, which overturned when they shot her.

BREAD ON THE WATERS

By CALEB

A STORY is often told in Detroit of the late Senator James Couzens, who set out some years ago to prove that farmers were in distress simply because they didn't operate their farms in the right way.

He bought a large farm at the edge of town and carefully selected several men in succession to manage it scientifically. It lost money persistently.

At last Mr. Couzens became convinced that there is more against the farmer than lack of science in his operations.

But the real point of the story is of the Couzens luck. He had bought the farm so close to the city that appreciation in ground value more than made up all his losses!

We have a feeling that Mr. Rockefeller, with his public spirited restoration of Williamsburg, Virginia, is running into the same kind of favorable result.

Williamsburg is taking the country by storm—or more correctly, vice versa. And it merits all the attention it is receiving.

In the first place, Williamsburg was a colonial village of great importance. Our early great men numerously walked the streets you walk in Williamsburg today. When its glorious past was the pulsing present, events conspired to eclipse the town.

The capital was moved inland. Main highways passed up the place. After its colonial heyday, it drowsed in comparative seclusion, just out of the main currents of progress.

As a consequence, no bustling nineteenth century commerce scratched the remains of the 1700's out of the earth. No furore of building hopelessly diluted the colonial relics and atmosphere.

The Reverend Goodwin, Rector of Bruton Parish Church for some years, became zealous in his enthusiasm for the sleeping village, with evidences on every hand of its wonderful past.

Mr. Rockefeller heard Rev. Goodwin's story—and the rest is current history. The inns are full, the streets and restored buildings are visited in endless procession by people who are, I dare say, invariably glad they went. If Williamsburg becomes self-supporting or more, it will be well. It may encourage others to "cast their bread upon the waters" for good causes.

He Dies with Another on Treason Charge.

semble when a person sentenced to death is informed that he has only a few hours to live. A person so sentenced may make a plea to present evidence up to the time set for the execution. In accordance with this regulation the court was present when the last message was given so it could decide immediately whether or not evidence was sufficient to justify reopening the trial.

The judges, the prosecuting attorney, and the clerk were with Hirsch for an hour and a half. Americans did not know whether in this time new evidence was presented by Hirsch. If he did present such evidence the court found it insufficient to reopen the case.

The prosecuting attorney, after the session with Hirsch, told American officials he had taken the approach of death calmly. He asked for a cup of coffee and permission to write a last letter to relatives. These wishes were complied with, the prosecutor declared. Up to this afternoon, however, his last letters were not in the hands of any official American representative.

U. S. Makes Every Effort.

The prosecuting attorney yesterday assured Jenkins and Geist that a rabbi would spend last night with Hirsch. Up to the time the American officials left the prison no rabbi was seen to enter. The ministry of justice, which was asked by THE TRIBUNE to give the name of the rabbi on duty at the prison, declared that it could not reveal the name or any details of the case "in view of the present circumstances."

Ambassador Dodd and Washington officials sought with every resource of their command to win a reprieve for the youth.

German officials all agreed that they realized that the American public would fail to comprehend the execution of the youth on the strength of evidence kept secret and they declared they tried to induce Der Fuehrer to change his viewpoint. Hitler insisted on the death penalty.

Fail to Reveal Evidence.

When American officials interceded in Hirsch's behalf toward the end of April they were told the evidence would be presented to them after the execution. Today the United States representatives tried in vain to induce German officials to reveal details of the charges.

A careful piecing together of information gleaned in Berlin and Prague reveals that Hirsch's father, Siegfried Hirsch, loved Germany so much that he left a good position in Lorraine when it became French territory and settled in Stuttgart with his family.

Helmuth, going to a German school, became closely associated with the National Youth club, which in the years after the "shame of Versailles" kept up the patriotism of German youth and systematically cultivated the spirit of sacrifice and willingness to die for a great cause.

Move to Czechoslovakia.

The national leader of Hirsch's group fled to England last year and then suddenly turned up in Prague, where the Hirsch family had gone in 1935. Through this leader, Hirsch was brought into contact with former Nazis who had fled from Germany.

The Czech police were certain that Hirsch left Czechoslovakia without any explosives in his possession, but the German secret police charged he was carrying explosives when arrested in Germany.

Reliable sources declare the main charge against Hirsch was that he was found in possession of explosives which were to be used to blow up the office building in which Jew Baiter Julius Streicher, one of Hitler's favorite lieutenants, was working.

TOLD TO SLEEP ON $1,000; WAKES UP TO A SHOCK

Miss Hattie Senger, 40 years old, 837 North Karlov avenue, complained to Hudson avenue police last night that she met a dark woman two weeks ago and that now she had lost $1,000 and all clews to the whereabouts of the dark woman.

Two weeks ago, Miss Senger said, she came across a card saying that character reading as well as a look into the future could be had by calling at 1444 North Clark street. She called there and met the woman, according to her story. She called yesterday for the last time, bringing $1,000 as per instructions.

The dark woman, related Miss Senger, advised her to take the money home and to sleep on it. The money was wrapped up, Miss Senger went home and slept on what she thought was the $1,000, but which was, she dscovered several hours later, a batch of brown paper. Sergt. Ambrose Mahoney went to the Clark street address to find the dark woman, but she was gone.

Mysteries Offer Warm Weather Fare to Reader

Thrills and Fun Abound in This Collection.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

THERE may be something directly related about a heat wave and a literary crime wave. To mystery addicts the weather is not of necessity accessory to crime. But to those who read a mystery thriller only now and then the urge to get at one is almost immediate, come a good hot day. Last week-end sent us to the anodyne of literary crime. We found some good knockout drops.

A Mystery Savored with Heart Interest.

"The Pattern," by Mignon G. Eberhart [Doubleday-Doran, $2]. Published last Friday.

Mignon Eberhart.

Mignon Eberhart, who started her writing career by winning the Scotland Yard prize, and whom Gertrude Stein, a passionate reader of mysteries, declared to be one of the best mystifiers in America, has a special and very popular savor of romance and mystery which might be labeled "Eberhart's Ebbervescing."

In her latest the romance bubbles through the mystery and makes murder practically painless for the reader. Corpses lie about—one in a drifting canoe and two others less casually—but the reader remembers they once belonged to characters which the world was not better for harboring, anyway. Love would have almost as hard a go of it as do the detectives except that it is true love, and an indictment for murder can be little more than an annoyance when shared with one's true love.

"The Pattern" is a good story, and it is a good mystery, and the people talk like good human beings. In a word, it is good!

Spike Tracy Is Back as a Detective Again.

"Murder Makes Murder," by H. Ashbrook [Coward-McCann, $2].

The redoubtable Spike Tracy again is the successful detective on the job in "Murder Makes Murder," which is the sort of book that a blasé mystery fan labels a "very satisfactory story with an unsatisfactory solution."

There are three murders. A generation passes between the first one and the second joint tragedy. All sorts of incentives to murder can and do grow with the years, but when the daughter of the first victim and her grandmother meet death the reader is ill prepared to recognize the hand that fells them. Red herrings are drawn almost too satisfactorily across the trail. Interesting, though.

Second of Crimefiles Surpasses First One.

"File on Rufus Ray: Crimefile No. 2," by Helen Reilly [Morrow, $1.95].

If you remember the recent "File on Bolitho Blane," by Dennis Wheatley and J. G. Links, that startling, complete dossier of a crime done in the exact pattern of a police crime file, you will run like the hare [pursued by hounds, not vying with the tortoise] to the nearest bookshop and get "File on Rufus Ray." It is a much better job as writing, it seems to me, than its predecessor, because psychologically the solution is more tenable than Bolitho Blane's.

Rufus Ray is a famous divorce lawyer who might have been rubbed out by any one of the losing and many of the winning litigants in the 463 cases which he won without a reversal. The reader, as amateur detective, is given all the clews the police found—a white pearl button, some confetti, and the ash from a cigar, in addition to photographs of all of the suspects.

A Detective's Doings Made Real as Truth.

"Harness Bull," by Leslie T. White [Harcourt-Brace, $2].

This mystery story goes through the routine of a day and a night and another day in the life of a chief of detectives in a big city. It is acknowledged fiction, not fact, but it sounds like gospel truth.

Perry Mason Stars in This Lively Tale.

"The Case of the Dangerous Dowager," by Erle Stanley Gardner [Morrow, $2].

The dowager is nearly 70 who employs our old friendly sleuth, Perry Mason. For a while it appears as if Perry himself would land in jail as an accessory to a good thorough murder. The reader is more interested in how he is going to get out of it than in tracking down the guilty guy. Not literature, but a good rousing tale.

Book Views and Reviews in Brief

A Journey by Motor Over African Desert.

"Desert Encounter," by Knud Holmboe. Translated from the Danish by Helga Holbek. [Putnam's, $3.]

Knud Holmboe was a young Dane, converted to Mohammedanism, who spoke Arabic. With this equipment he was able to be the first man—he claims—to drive an automobile across northern Africa from Ceuta, Morocco, to Derna, in Italian Libya. He wanted to get to Egypt, but the Italians thought he had seen enough of their methods of "colonizing" the nomads of the Libyan desert. He saw too much.

Aside from his adventures Holmboe's book is marked by his observations on his religion as practiced by the Arabs and, particularly, by his description of the Italian conquerors' methods. W. D. O'N.

Miss Winwar Turns to Salem Witchcraft.

"Gallows Hill," by Frances Winwar. [Holt, $2.50.]

Having won acclaim with her "Poor Splendid Wings" and "The Romantic Rebels," Frances Winwar has turned her attention to the Salem of witchcraft days and has produced in "Gallows Hill" a novel that may well prove as popular as her earlier works.

As a novel it may be a little on the weak side. But as a re-creation of the Salem of Cotton Mather and Samuel Parris the book is a masterpiece. Miss Winwar has filled historic characters with red blood, and she makes very understandable the psychological processes, the hates and the superstitions that brought on Massachusetts the disgrace of the witchcraft trials. The ominous note on which the story begins is sustained so long as it concerns itself with grim fact. It is dissipated only by the book's romantic conclusion. E. K.

Pertinent Reflections of a Spanish Princess.

"Memoirs of a Spanish Princess," by H. R. H. The Infanta Eulalia. [Norton, $3.50.]

Related by marriage or blood to every royal house of Europe, Eulalia of Spain has had the opportunity to be "in" on the history of the last six decades. Now 73 years old, the aunt of King Alfonso lives quietly in Paris. But the years have definitly not dimmed her memories, her wit, or her keen mind.

As she tells in her "Memoirs of a Spanish Princess," Eulalia was the liberal of the Madrid court. She continually sought to learn the whys and wherefores of people, both common and kingly, and of ideas. The gloomy tradition-bound Spanish court saw her little during her mature years while she was a cosmopolite, though still a loyal Spaniard, visiting all the courts of Europe.

Wilhelm Hohenzollern was her confidant. Leopold II. of Belgium called her his "Aunt Eulalia." Nicholas of Russia, Edward and George of England, and the Bourbons of France all knew Eulalia intimately, and she them.

Her reflections on a full life reveal how Eulalia foresaw the events which rocked so many thrones. You may disagree with her political philosophy, but you will read her views with keen interest. They are particularly pertinent now because of the Spanish civil war. J. H. T.

Time Turns Backward in a Fascinating Tale.

"St. George of Weldon," by Robert Rylee. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.50.]

Adopting the unusual method of beginning his story with the drowning of the chief character, the author develops a fascinating study in retrospection in "St. George of Weldon." The book, by the author of "Deep Dark River," finds its locale in the red dirt country of Mississippi and deals with the ruling family of the small delta town of Weldon.

St. George Pemberton drowns completely and thoroughly in the first chapter, which is to say in 1929. From there the author steers a backward course in which he takes up each psychological and physiological incident in Mr. Pemberton's life. The reader finds himself wondering why Mr. Pemberton didn't drown sooner.

This through-the-looking-glass tale deals with the world war and its horrors, St. George's college days and their horrors, and finally his boyhood and its horrors.

The descriptions of life in a small Mississippi town are colorful and absorbing. The book is written with genuine feeling for the land and a true appreciation of the brooding beauty of the delta country. C. L.

A Well Written History of United States Army.

"The United States Army in War and Peace," by Oliver L. Spaulding. [Putnam, $6.]

In the restrained language of a good soldier's report on a reconnaissance, Col. Oliver L. Spaulding, U. S. A., has written a fine history of the United States army. Americans who can read it without gaining a new understanding of their country and a new pride in its history deserve deportation to a land where armies are not an arm of the government but the government itself.

Col. Spaulding draws no political conclusions. It is plain from his account, however, that if civil authorities had used the good sense, restraint, and courage of the army two of the saddest chapters in our history—the Indian wars and the reconstruction days after the civil war—might have been different.

Starting with the colonial wars and ending with the world war, Col. Spaulding reviews all the army's campaigns. Spectacular incidents, often overemphasized, he fits into their proper place. Commanders on both sides are given their due. He makes plain that winning a war is a vastly complicated problem in organization, supply, communication, and transportation—not merely a matter of brave men and clever generals. C. J. W.

Napoleon Interpreted in a New Biography.

"Bonaparte," by Eugene Tarle, translated from the Russian by John Cournos. [Knight, $4.50.]

There is probably very little new of a factual nature that can be written about Napoleon, but there remains the broad field of interpretation, particularly in view of the influence of European dictators today. For essentially Napoleon was a dictator.

In this book Eugene Tarle of the Leningrad Historical Research institute has written not only a biography of Napoleon—worthy to rank with the best—but has given an explanation of Napoleon's economics and a study of the relentless dictatorship he imposed on France.

There are excellent—if somewhat brief — descriptions of Napoleon's great battles—Toulon, Marengo, Austerlitz, Waterloo. Tarle also gives an incisive study of Napoleon's attitude toward his soldiers, discounting his legendary sentimental love for them. "Bonaparte" sold 240,000 copies in Russia. S. M. K.

Historian Sees Constitution as a Living Force

Scholarly Life Story Told of Great Document.

"Bulwark of the Republic: A Biography of the Constitution," by Burton J. Hendrick. [Little-Brown, $3.50.] Published Thursday. June choice of the Book of the Month club.

THE subtitle of Burton J. Hendrick's volume describes succinctly the intent of this intensely interesting record. Any force, like any person, whether great or negligible, has a life history. Life blood has made it; life blood has sustained it. When it ceases to be a force it will be because life blood no longer flows through it.

In all of modern history no document except the Magna Charta has lived so long as the American constitution or exerted such vigorous influence, and never in the 150 years since it was drawn up has it been more truly in the public eye than it is today. Mr. Hendrick calls the constitution "a living and fluid instrument, built not for an age, but for all time; responsive to the needs of a changing world."

The life history of that remarkable document—how it came into being, how it has fared—is the story of a living thing, nourished by the life blood of the men who framed it and of those who for the last century and a half of our national life have kept it quick.

The history of the constitution, in the skilled hands of Mr. Hendrick, is also the history of the United States, as well as a keen and brilliant record of the great men connected with it.

Mr. Hendrick, of course, has his own political opinions, but his only comment on the present crisis is found in occasional sentences calling attention to previous crises long forgotten.

He finds Abraham Lincoln a passionate upholder of the constitution except when he knew that it was a matter of national life or death to question the Supreme court's infallibility [as in the Dred Scott decision concerning slavery]. Mr. Hendrick explains why the unsuccessful attempt to impeach President Johnson "is one of the great episodes in the history" of the constitution. He explains in highly illuminating detail the difference between the "national" and "federal" ideal of the framers and when and how the constitution has failed as well as succeeded.

"Bulwark of the Republic" is history made truly "living and fluid."

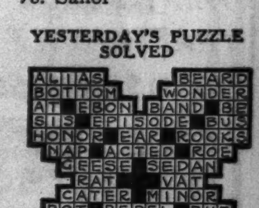
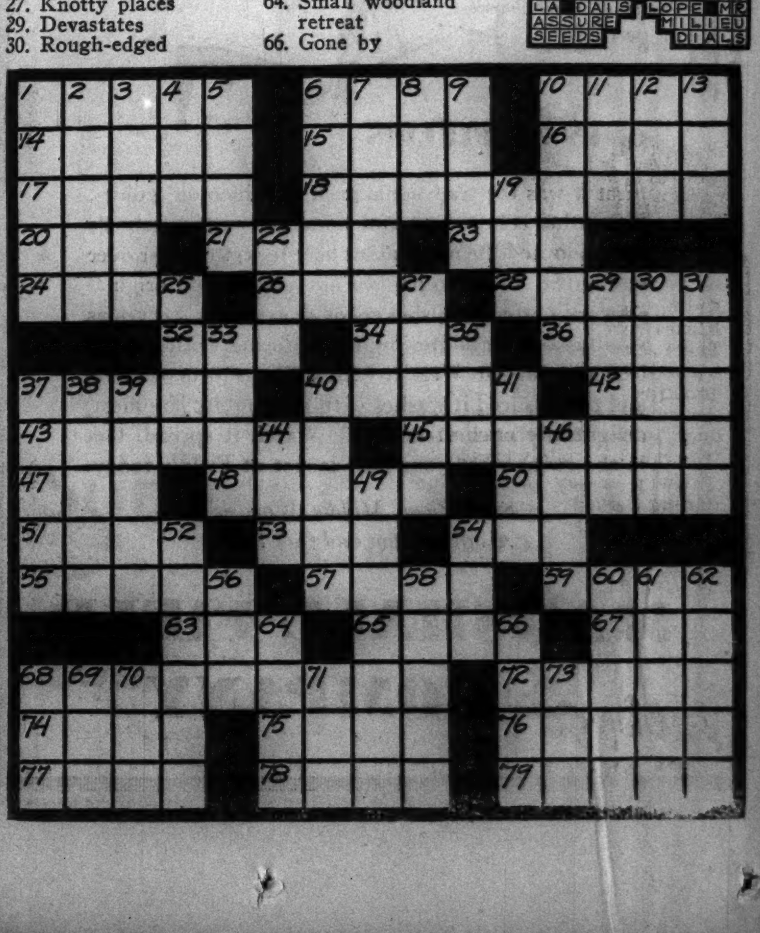
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





MEDDLING WITH BUSINESS PAVES WAY TO FASCISM

Economic Bonds Weaken Nation from Within.

(This is the concluding article of Mr. Ator's series on the methods used to destroy free governments and to create gangster-dictatorships.)

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Most people carry the germs of pneumonia, tuberculosis, and other diseases around in their bodies all the time. Yet it is only when the bodies become weak or exhausted that the diseases attack them. The same thing is true of governments.

Healthy governments do not succumb to revolutions. It is only when a government and the social structure on which it rests becomes weak, most often as a result of its own mistakes, that the overthrow comes. The history of the communist, Nazi, and Fascist dictatorships confirms this. Propaganda and violence would have availed the minorities who attacked free government nothing if those governments had not been tottering already.

Liberalism Cited in U. S.

Any survey of the materials and forces available for the erection of a similar one-boss slave state in America must take into account the degree to which the present government has weakened itself and its social and economic underpinning. But it is a hard thing to say just what tends to break down the complex structure of a nation unless some central principle can be found on which the existence of that system depends. For that general principle, in the United States, the term liberalism is suggested.

But what is liberalism? The word has been much abused, twisted by a variety of men to cover their particular causes. It may imply faith in socialism, or advocacy of open saloons on Sunday. Last year Gov. Landon remarked that its distinguishing mark in Washington seemed to be the disposition to spend other people's money liberally.

The Formula of Liberalism.

There is, however, a historic formula of liberalism, and it is in that sense that the term is used here. By this formula a nation may expect to be most prosperous and happy when it guarantees, in every field, the greatest freedom consistent with public order. This means free competition and free trade in the economic field, free speech, and a free press, free courts, free political institutions, freedom of religion, and, in the United States, freedom from social castes.

It is, in short, the exact opposite of everything that the gangster-dictator, whose totalitarian state controls every activity of its citizens, stands for. A corollary to the position of liberalism is that "the government" is not a holy and beneficent institution, but merely a group of men, whose powers must be checked if freedom is to be maintained.

Some Control Is Necessary.

With liberalism, as with everything else, experience has often opened gaps between theory and practice. It has been recognized that free institutions, particularly in the field of conomics, are not so thoroughly self-regulating as the first philosophers of liberalism thought they would be. As a result, it has been long recognized that certain governmental controls are necessary.

A friendly critic of his fellow liberals has pointed out that much of the confusion in which the liberals find themselves today arises from the fact that they have split into two schools, each content with half a loaf of the original liberal formula.

"On one hand," said this critic, "we find those who want complete freedom in the economic field, but are indifferent to suppression of civil liberties; on the other, the so-called pinks who are valiant in defense of civil liberties but urge more or less complete destruction of economic freedom through government control."

Each school, the critic pointed out, is inconsistent, since economic freedom will fail unless it subjects itself to the constant modification resulting from criticism possible only with free speech and a free press, while civil liberties cannot last long when the government rules the economic field, for the reason that the government cannot long tolerate criticism in such circumstances.

It is admitted that some controls are necessary to the practical application of the theories of freedom. When can it be said that those controls begin to destroy the liberal institutions on which American civilization and government have been based? One suggestion is that those controls are desirable which are designed to protect or restore freedom, while liberal institutions are endangered by controls which by their nature inevitably snowball into greater and greater governmental interference with free activities.

Analyze Roosevelt Laws.

The anti-trust laws would fall in the first class. Their purpose was to restore free competition by preventing monopolies. Laws for regulation of commodity exchanges, and the New Deal's securities and exchange act, in principle, would also fall in this class, since they are designed to maintain free markets.

On the other side would appear the outlawed NRA and AAA and the soil conservation act which succeeded the latter. In each instance the purpose of these acts was to restrict or end free competition and encourage monopoly.

The most radical of these measures were those affecting the coal industry, the Guffey act, declared unconstitutional, and its successor, the Guffey-Vinson act, which was passed in response to a threat of a coal strike by John L. Lewis and his miners' union.

What Coal Act Does.

This measure enforces price-fixing and production control in the soft coal industry. That industry is suffering from too many miners, too many mines, and a dwindling market for its product. That market dwindled because of the high price of coal. The Guffey-Vinson act will increase the price of coal to the nation by an estimated $100,000,000 a year.

The natural result will be a further loss of markets to competing energy sources, oil, gas, and hydro-electric power. The inevitable sequel to the controls set up in the coal industry will be their extension to other power sources, to prevent their free competition with coal. This is the invariable course of controled economics. They cannot stop half way.

Mr. Lewis has been under suspicion because of his communist aids in the C. I. O. His support of the Guffey-Vinson bill indicates that he might be suspected with equal justice of Fascist leanings.

Not Entirely to Blame.

The New Deal cannot be blamed for all of the legislation which is destroying free competition, and in so doing preparing the ground for a totalitarian state in America. Much of the demand for this legislation has come from business men themselves.

Instances are the so-called fair price laws, with their devices for price fixing, in Illinois and other states, and the state tarif walls which are being erected in the form of taxes designed to favor home products.

The transportation field has been particularly fruitful of these measures. The interstate commerce act, originally intended to enforce competition between railroads, has in practice destroyed competition and substituted governmental control. Now the railroads, unable to compete with motor transportation because of federal regulation, seek to abolish that competition by bringing it under regulation too.

Half Slave, Half Free.

What, it may be asked, is the connection between this putative wisdom of American lawmakers and the erection of a slave state in America? The connection is clear. A nation's economic institutions cannot exist half controled and half free any more than its political institutions can exist half slave and half free.

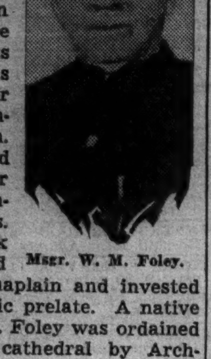
Nor can civil liberties exist alongside of controled economics. Even though the guarantees are left in the constitution for a time, they become valueless when the government becomes the boss in the economic field. Few men exercise the right of free speech when it endangers their bread and butter.

Will Shape to Conditions.

It has been said before in this series that while forces and materials may exist in America out of which men of dangerous ambition might forge a totalitarian, slave state such as exists in Russia, Germany, and Italy today, that state will be neither communist, Nazi, nor Fascist, but will be shaped by American conditions as those dictatorships were shaped by conditions in the countries in which they arose.

The communists, having brutally suppressed civil liberties and economic freedom for two decades, now put themselves forward as defenders of democracy. An American admirer of Gen. Franco seeks to paint his savage Moors and foreign mercenaries as "democratic Fascists." Of one thing we may be sure: If a would-be dictator arises in America, his propagandists will present him as a savior of democracy.

ST. AMBROSE CHURCH PASTOR TO OBSERVE 50 YEARS AS PRIEST



Msgr. W. M. Foley.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. William M. Foley, pastor of St. Ambrose church, 1012 East 47th street, will celebrate his 50th anniversary as a priest with special services tomorrow. Msgr. Foley founded six churches in the first nine years' of his priesthood. He is also the builder of the St. Ambrose church. During the world war he was vicar general of Catholic chaplains. Cardinal Patrick Hayes recognized his service as chaplain and invested him as a domestic prelate. A native of Chicago, Msgr. Foley was ordained at Holy Name cathedral by Archbishop P. A. Feehan.

LOUIS F. SWIFT WILL DISPOSES OF 1 MILLION ESTATE

Members of Family Are Chief Beneficiaries.

The will of Louis Franklin Swift, pioneer meat packer under whose direction Swift & Co. became one of the largest concerns of its kind in the world, was filed yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. It disposes of an estate, estimated at $1,000,000, to relatives. All except $200,000 is in real estate.

Mr. Swift died May 12 in the Chicago Memorial hospital at the age of 75 years. After retiring in 1932 as chairman of the company, he spent most of his time in Europe and at his California home in Santa Barbara. His Chicago home was at 170 South Green Bay road, Lake Forest.

Principal Beneficiaries Named.

Because Mr. Swift made substantial gifts during his lifetime the will provided for no charitable or educational bequests. The principal beneficiaries are a son, Louis F. Swift Jr. of Wheaton; a daughter, Mrs. Ida May Swift Minotto of Phoenix, Ariz., and the widow and three children of another son, the late Alden B. Swift.

Mr. Swift arranged three separate trusts of $200,000 each for these groups of his family. The adults will receive life incomes. The incomes will begin for the grandchildren at the age of 21. The grandchildren are Louis F. Swift III. and Mrs. Libby Chase Swift, children of Louis F. Jr.; Demetrius and Ida May, children of Mrs. Minotto, and Narcissa Swift, Nathan Butler Swift, and Mrs. Lydia Swift Rowan, children of Mrs. Lydia Niblack Swift, widow of Alden.

Grandson Previously Provided for.

The will explained that no provision was made for another grandson, William E. Swift Jr., 11 years old, now with his aunt, Mrs. Minotto, because ample provision had been made for him. Louis Swift III., 1 year old, also will receive $50,000 outright at the age of 30, if he is competent to properly manage it.

Mr. Swift also left $20,000 to Mrs. Minotto for her to distribute among "my trusted employés in such amounts to each as she sees fit."

Two Brothers Share.

From the balance of the estate, one-sixth is added to each of the $200,000 trusts. The remaining three-sixths is divided thus:

To two brothers, Charles H. Swift, 209 Lake Shore drive, and Harold H. Swift of the Blackstone hotel, 20 per cent each.

To the heirs of another brother, Gustavus F. Swift, who are Mrs. Geraldine Swift Taylor, Marie Swift, Jane Gertrude Swift, and Gustavus Swift III., 7 per cent.

To the heirs of a deceased brother, George H. Swift, 9 per cent. They are Mrs. Ruth Swift Van Nice, Lucille, Eleanor, and George H.

To the children of another deceased brother, Edward F., 44 per cent. The children are Edward F. Jr., T. Philip, and Annie May Swift Henry.

Ranson Estate Value $400,000.

James W. Ranson, 77 years old, retired vice president of the Abbott laboratories in North Chicago, left a $400,000 estate according to his will filed yesterday. The entire estate is left in trust for a son, Raymond, with the provision that Mr. Ranson's widow, Susie M., 1123 Dobson street, Evanston, receive the income during her life time.

PROF. F. I. MYERS OF NOTRE DAME, LONG AILING, DIES

Notre Dame, Ind., June 4.—[Special.]—Prof. Frederic I. Myers, 45 years old, died in St. Joseph hospital, South Bend, late last night after a courageous battle of several years in which he was aided by Notre Dame football players, who gave him frequent blood transfusions.

Prof. Myers, a graduate of Indiana university and a member of Phi Beta Kappa, taught at the University of Illinois, in the A. E. F. university in Hawaii, and at the United States Naval academy before coming to Notre Dame in 1932.

He was an officer of a Pennsylvania National Guard artillery regiment, serving at the front from Sept. 1, 1918, until the armistice. He participated in the Aisne-Marne, the Argonne, and the Ypres-Lys offensives.

Prof. Myers is survived by his widow and six children. His funeral will be held Monday morning from Holy Cross church, South Bend. He was born May 1, 1892, in Decatur, Ind.

Charles H. Landwehr Dies in Philadelphia Home

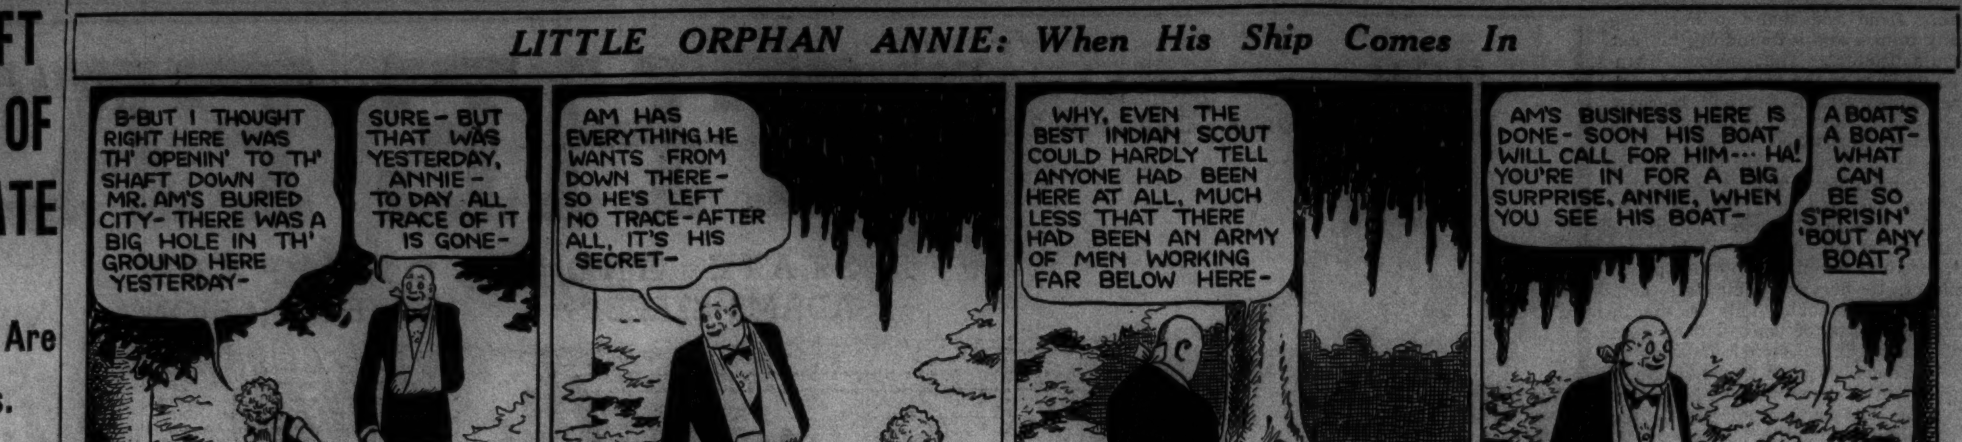
Charles H. Landwehr, 54 years old, former president of the Holland Furnace company and once division manager of the company's Chicago and Detroit branches, died yesterday in his home at Philadelphia after a short illness. Mr. Landwehr left Chicago seven years ago to establish a heating company in Philadelphia. He is survived by the widow, Margaret, and five brothers and a sister.

Finley Peter Dunne Estate $51,451, Appraisal Shows

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—Finley Peter Dunne, who gave the world the inimitable character, "Mr. Dooley," left a gross estate of $51,451 when he died on April 24, 1936, according to a transfer tax appraisal filed today. Payne Whitney left him $500,000 when he died in 1927. Mr. Dunne left his entire estate to his widow, Margaret Dunne, who is the executrix.

OBITUARY.

MISS ALICE MILLER CREED, 63 years old, first woman to be admitted to the St. Joseph county, Ind., bar, died Thursday night at her home, 208 East Angela boulevard, South Bend. Daughter of the late Jonathan P. and Lucretia Creed, she was born Nov. 19, 1873, and had spent her entire life in South Bend.



LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: When His Ship Comes In
B-BUT I THOUGHT RIGHT HERE WAS TH' OPENIN' TO TH' SHAFT DOWN TO MR. AM'S BURIED CITY- THERE WAS A BIG HOLE IN TH' GROUND HERE YESTERDAY-
SURE- BUT THAT WAS YESTERDAY, ANNIE- TO DAY ALL TRACE OF IT IS GONE-
AM HAS EVERYTHING HE WANTS FROM DOWN THERE- SO HE'S LEFT NO TRACE- AFTER ALL, IT'S HIS SECRET-
WHY, EVEN THE BEST INDIAN SCOUT COULD HARDLY TELL ANYONE HAD BEEN HERE AT ALL, MUCH LESS THAT THERE HAD BEEN AN ARMY OF MEN WORKING FAR BELOW HERE-
AM'S BUSINESS HERE IS DONE- SOON HIS BOAT WILL CALL FOR HIM--- HA! YOU'RE IN FOR A BIG SURPRISE, ANNIE, WHEN YOU SEE HIS BOAT-
A BOAT'S A BOAT- WHAT CAN BE SO S'PRISIN' 'BOUT ANY BOAT?

9 DIE IN FLAMES; TRAPPED IN BUS WHEN IT CRASHES

CCC Rescue Attempts Prove Futile.

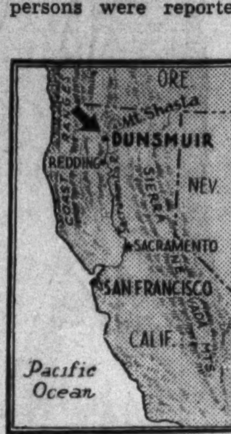
Sacramento, Cal., June 4.—[Special.]—Nine persons were reported burned to death today when they were trapped in a Greyhound passenger bus that overturned and burst into flames on a highway near Dunsmuir in northern California.



Bodies of seven of the victims were recovered. There was some doubt as to whether two of the passengers had left the bus before the crash.

Enrolles from a nearby CCC camp, who heard the screams of the tortured victims, sped to the scene but were unable to save any of the occupants of the vehicle. They threw water on the flames with little effect.

The passengers were so badly burned that immediate identification was impossible. Company officials reported the driver of the bus, en route from San Francisco to Portland, Ore., was Mortimer A. Wilson, 37, of this city.

Crash Cause Unknown.

The cause of the accident was still a mystery tonight. A representative of the bus line said the company had not been able to find any clews.

Policeman F. L. Speck of Los Angeles, on a vacation, said he reached the scene a few minutes after the accident and was told by other spectators the bus had swerved suddenly, ran up a roadside bank and then toppled back into the middle of the highway.

Unable to Aid Victims.

The flames enveloped the wreckage immediately, Speck said he was told. Onlookers reported they could see the trapped victims in the burning bus but were unable to aid them.

It was theorized the bus swerved to avoid striking another vehicle, but there were no reports of any other car on that stretch of road at the time.

EMMETT FLYNN, ONCE ACE MOVIE DIRECTOR, DEAD

Hollywood, Cal., June 4.—(AP)—Emmett J. Flynn, one-time ace film director, died today in a hospital. He was 45 years old.

Detective Lieut. W. C. Burris said he was informed Flynn recently had been using sleeping potions.

Flynn's latter life was turbulent. Several times in the last year he was arrested for drunkenness. He eloped to Yuma March 16 and married Margaret Shelby Fillmore, sister of Mary Miles Minter, former screen star. The marriage was annuled at Miss Fillmore's request when she learned Flynn had not been divorced from Mrs. Nita Baker Flynn.

Baron Wyfold, British M.P. Nearly 20 Years, Dies at 86

READING, Berkshire, England, June 4.—(AP)—Baron Wyfold, member of the house of commons for nearly 20 years, died today at the age of 86. He entered the house in 1886 as Robert Trotter Hermon-Hodge, was made a baronet in 1902 and was raised to the peerage in 1919.

Bishop Laval, New Orleans, Dies in San Francisco

San Francisco, Cal., June 4.—(AP)—The Most Rev. Jean Marius Laval, D. D., auxiliary Catholic bishop of New Orleans, died early today at St. Mary's hospital. He was 83 years old, and became suddenly ill yesterday. Bishop Laval was on a vacation.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Though the French government declined to permit any broadcasts in connection with the marriage of the duke of Windsor and Mrs. Warfield, one of the leading figures at the ceremonies, Marcel Dupre, the French organist, who played the wedding march in the château at Cande, is to make a guest appearance on the Magic Key broadcast at 1 p. m. tomorrow over WENR-NBC. Dupre will play two organ solos from his villa at Meudon, France. And perhaps he may have something to say about the great event.

Mark Warnow, CBS orchestral director, sent a wedding gift to the duke and duchess—a recording of the "Majorca," a bagpipe march composed by Windsor as prince of Wales in 1934. Warnow introduced it to American listeners last year after receiving permission from Edward when he was king. The number is, of course, barred in Great Britain.

News notes: Sponsors of First Nighter, which returned to Chicago last evening with Les Tremayne, Barbara Luddy and McDonald Carey as headliners, are planning a new musical variety show to start on NBC Monday, Oct. 11, at 7:30 p. m., opposite the Margaret Crooks-Alfred Wallenstein series. . . . When Show Boat moves to Hollywood July 8 Virginia Verrill and Jack Haley, who scored in the Bernie-Winchell picture, will have singing leads.

◆

NBC, in addition to the sponsored broadcast of the Braddock-Louis fight, which Clem McCarthy will handle, also plans to shortwave accounts of the battle in Spanish [for Latin America] and German [to Europe].

◆

That display of sound effect gadgets in W-G-N studio windows causes a lot of Michigan avenue pedestrians to stop and study. . . . Monday evening CBS Radio theater will go off the air for eight weeks this summer to give Cecil De Mille and program affiliates—and you, too—a rest. . . . Myrt and Marge show in New York is folding in July.

◆

America's typical family, the Glen Craigs of Muncie, Ind., called America's typical small city, will fly to Chicago today for two radio appearances. At 11:30 a. m. they will be interviewed by Martha Crane and Helen Joyce on WLS and at 9:30 p. m. tomorrow they will be presented on the W-G-N-Mutual Your Parlor Playhouse hour. Family consists of father and mother and Emma Lou, 7, and William, 3.

Hold Charles Fitzgerald Funeral in Oak Park Today

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. today at the Ascension Roman Catholic church, Oak Park, for Charles E. Fitzgerald, 65 years old, former assistant superintendent of mails in the Chicago postoffice. Burial will be in Mount Carmel cemetery. Mr. Fitzgerald died Thursday in his home at 1012 South Elmwood avenue, Oak Park, following a month's illness. He retired from government service three years ago. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Nora A. Fitzgerald, five children, and one grandson.

NEW DEVICE GIVES A CLEAR VIEW OF DISEASED TISSUE

A new method of studying diseased tissue which has aroused great interest among the staf in St. Luke's hospital was demonstrated yesterday at the hospital clinic room before the Northwestern university medical alumni.

The device used is an opaque object projector, developed by Dr. Edwin F. Hirsch, director of the Henry Baird Favill laboratory at St. Luke's. This throws an enlarged, natural color picture of the tissue obtained from an autopsy or during an operation, upon an eight foot screen.

Lesions, the growth of anarchic cancer cells, lung decay, brain growths, foreign bodies, such as dust, are shown with unusual clarity and depth by this method. The tissue itself is placed in the machine and projected by the periscope method.

WINTER BLOWS IN ON STATES EAST OF ROCKIES

Denver, Colo., June 4.—(AP)—Blown down from Canada by a nipping north wind, wintry weather swept along the east slope of the Rockies today, smashing all records at the Denver weather bureau for summertime snow. The fall was heaviest in Wyoming, but also struck Montana and Colorado. Heavy rains in the Dakotas were a boon to crops.

Farmers and cattlemen gave the storm a hearty welcome. Sheepmen, however, alternated between joy over the moisture for grazing ranges and worry over threatened losses because of cold weather to newly sheared sheep.

Russell Thorp, secretary of the Wyoming Stock Growers' association, said, "It's our first break since the drouth of 1934." Byron Wilson, Wyoming Wool Growers' association secretary, termed it "a million dollar storm."

YANKEE OPENS 6 GEM CHESTS FOR BOURBONS

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Charles A. Courtney, New York locksmith, returned from Europe today after spending four weeks as a royalty-hired "Jimmy Valentine" picking the locks of six jewel chests owned by the Spanish Bourbon family.

The chests, removed from Madrid when King Alfonso fled Spain in 1931, had defied efforts of Europe's leading locksmiths to open.

Courtney said he was unable to estimate the value of the jewels he saw.

"I don't know what they were worth, but I know I made enough on the trip to buy up a $50,000 collection of rare locks and keys from the Rothschild family, Count Dillinger of Vienna and the heirs of the Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria," he said.

Mrs. Kimball Again Heads Junior League

Annual Luncheon Held at Saddle and Cycle.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT was a matter for debate whether yesterday's cold and rain were a help or a hindrance toward assembling a quorum for the annual meeting of the Chicago Junior league at the Saddle and Cycle club. At least, as Mrs. Charles H. G. Kimball commented, no one had to forego a game of golf to be there.

Mrs. Kimball was reëlected president for the second year at the business meeting in the morning. Elected to serve with her, all newcomers to their respective offices, were Mrs. Gordon Lang, first vice president; Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr., second vice president; Mrs. Robert M. Adams, secretary; Miss Lois Truesdale, treasurer.

Directors elected included Mrs. Cyrus R. Smith, Mrs. George Silverthorne Jr., Miss Virginia Winston, Miss Elizabeth Smith, and Mrs. Roger D. Shaw, all new to the board; and Mrs. Robert White Jr., Mrs. Louis F. Watermulder, Mrs. Glendon Gerlach, Miss Honor Merrell, Miss Elaine Blackman, Mrs. Clymer S. Bowen, and Miss Marjorie Kimball, all reëlected.

Mrs. Owings Makes Nominating Report.

In the absence of Mrs. Alfred M. Wolfe, chairman of the nominating committee, who had gone to New York with her father, Dr. Frederick Stock, Mrs. Nathaniel A. Owings submitted the report.

Mrs. Owings, Mrs. James Field, and Miss Helen Bell, incidentally, were the only former presidents who were at the luncheon that followed the meeting. A chill wind blowing off the lake made the luncheon a rather expeditious meal, and any lingering afterward was in front of the fireplace indoors rather than over the coffee cups.

Notable among the reports was Mrs. Lang's on behalf of the projects committee. At the recommendation of this committee the league is contributing $3,000 to finance a survey of the day nurseries of the city by a professional nurse. The survey will be conducted in coöperation with the Council of Social Agencies, and will take three years. Mrs. Henry Brigham, Miss Honor Merrell, and Mrs. John P. Wilson Jr. are among those who will keep in touch with this work on behalf of the league.

Mrs. Carleton Scribner has received the $50 prize awarded annually by Mrs. Russell Lord for an outstanding piece of literary work, Mrs. Stanton announced in her report. The award was made to Mrs. Scribner, who formerly edited the league's calendar, for an article on early Chicago that was published this year in the Junior League's national magazine.

Set Dance Dates for 2 Debutantes.

Another gay dinner-dance to which the debutantes and their beaux may look forward is one to be given Sept. 14 at the Saddle and Cycle club by Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Gordon and Mrs. Henry G. Barkhausen for their debutante daughters, Miss Evelyn Gordon and Miss Kate Barkhausen.

The two young women, who are completing their freshman year at Vassar, plan to return to college in the fall. They will be roommates next year.

Miss Gordon and Miss Barkhausen, whose elder sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. André Perry, will come from Fond du Lac for the party, received their early education at the Latin School for Girls. Both families have apartments in the same building, 1430 Lake Shore drive, and in the summer the Gordons go to their home at Harbor Point, Mich. For the last two or three years Mrs. Barkhausen has been going to the Point, too. It was there last summer that Helen Barkhausen was married to young Mr. Perry.

Reveal Betrothal of Miss Lucy Botts

Romantic news of interest is being revealed this morning with the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Graeme G. Botts of Evanston, formerly of Louisville, Ky., of the engagement of their daughter, Lucy, to David Faulds Badger, son of Mrs. David Faulds Badger of Evanston.

Miss Botts attended the Roycemore school, the University School for Girls, and St. Timothy's in Catonsville, Md., and is a provisional member of the Evanston Junior league. She was introduced in Louisville in 1932.

Mr. Badger was graduated in 1934 from Yale, where he was a member of St. Elmo club. The wedding will take place in September.

Barbara Barnhart to Be Bride Tonight.

Two weddings of interest will take place today, one tonight at the Fortnightly, the other this afternoon in Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

ONE more example of the extraordinary devotion accorded Edward Sheldon, the invalid, blind playwright, by stars of the stage and the great musical artists of the world was encountered recently? Eugenie Leontovich telephoned McKay Morris, who is appearing opposite Katharine Cornell in "Wingless Victory," and suggested that he play with her in a two weeks' revival of "Romance," the hit Sheldon wrote nearly a quarter of a century ago. Morris demurred, having already promised to play with Nazimova for two weeks in "Ghosts," and with Anna May Wong for another two weeks.

Legend.

"Wait until I read you this and maybe you'll feel differently," said Leontovich. And she read him over the long distance telephone a letter from the playwright in which he suggested she try to get Morris for the part.

"That settles it," said the actor promptly. "I'd love to do it."

* *

NED SHELDON has been bedfast for twenty years, and blind for nearly as many, although he never has admitted his blindness and wears dark glasses when visitors are with him. If any one admitted to his quarters—he lives in a New York penthouse apartment—refers to his blindness, or expresses sympathy for his invalidism, he can never come again. The invalid playwright will tolerate no reference to his physical condition, and mentally he is abreast of the times. The newspapers are read to him from front page to back every day, and he has as many visitors as his attendants will permit.

Kirsten Flagstad went to see him recently and sang for him. When Heifetz is in New York he is a frequent visitor, taking his violin with him. The late Sophie Breslau was a constant visitor, as well as many other musical artists. When a new play opens in New York members of the cast usually go up to Sheldon's apartment to do scenes from it for him afterward—sometimes the whole play. I remember his sister, Mrs. Alfred MacArthur, of Chicago—who was Mary Sheldon before her marriage—telling some years ago of the beauty of the hampers of vegetables Billie Burke used to bring into him from her Long Island estate, the vegetables arranged with as much artistry as if they were flower bouquets and as if the recipient had eyes with which to see them. Sheldon still writes and collaborates with fellow playwrights. He not only is an inspiration to his friends, but his room of invalidism is a kind of shrine—much as he might dislike the word—and he has become a great legend during his lifetime.

Rice so often is used as a main dish in the meal that its possibilities as a dessert are overlooked. This seemingly prosaic cereal may be transformed into delightful fruity puddings, molded, jellied and even frozen desserts.

Care should be used in cooking rice, whether it's for main dish or puddings. Large, puffy, separate grains of rice are the result of following this procedure. Wash the rice in several waters to remove loose starch. Drain and drop slowly into boiling salted water to cook for from 12 to 25 minutes, or until a grain pressed in the hand is entirely soft. Do not stir the rice while it cooks. Lift it gently from the bottom if it sticks. Turn cooked rice into colander or sieve and run a little hot water through it to wash off extra starch. Dry in a shallow pan in a warm oven. The grains will swell and separate as they dry.

Glorified Rice

[Serves six]

2 cups cooked rice
1 cup pineapple, cubed or shredded
1 cup finely cut apples
2 dozen marshmallows, quartered
½ cup sugar
1 cup cream, whipped

Mix all ingredients except cream and allow to stand for an hour or so. Fold the whipped cream into the mixture just before serving. Garnish each serving with a maraschino cherry. Red raspberries, strawberries or sweet cherries may be substituted for the pineapple, and will lend enough color to the dessert to make the cherry garnish unnecessary.

Raspberry Rice

[Serves six]

½ cup rice [uncooked]
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ cup sugar
1 cup unsweetened red raspberry pulp and juice

Cook the rice until the grains are tender and distinct. Add the salt and sugar, raspberry pulp and juice, and fill into a buttered baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Cool, chill, and serve with cream.

Grape juice may be substituted for the raspberry pulp and juice.

Butterscotch Bavarian Rice

[Serves six]

2 cups cooked rice
1 tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup cold milk
1½ cups hot milk
1 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons melted butter
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup whipped cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup nuts

Soak the gelatin in the cold milk and dissolve in hot milk. Add brown sugar, cooked rice, butter and salt. Cool. Fold in flavoring, whipped cream and nuts. Turn into a wet mold and chill. Unmold and serve with butterscotch sauce or with whipped cream flavored with maple sirup.

Butterscotch Sauce

1½ cups brown sugar
⅜ cup corn sirup
4 tablespoons butter
½ cup cream
¼ cup milk

Combine brown sugar, sirup and butter in saucepan, bring to boiling, and cook to the soft ball stage, 250 degrees. Add milk and cream. Cool.

"Open Windows" Quilt Employs Geometric Patches

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Open Windows" is an old pieced pattern which was popular when quiltmakers first were experimenting with the combination of triangular and diamond patches. It is an easy pattern to set together and even the most amateur needleworker need not be afraid to attempt to make this block. The coverlet from which this pattern was made requires only 15 pieced blocks and 15 plain ones set together in an alternate arrangement and surrounded by a 10 inch white border and bound with a one-half inch bias binding. The individual block measures 14 inches square, so it may readily be seen that it does not take long in piecing. Ninety by 104 inches makes a good size for a quilt.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

As I entered the Fox offices my eyes were drawn to a tender and capricious light that played gently on a poster displaying the precious features of Robert Taylor. Which shows what his producers think of this latest whitehaired boy of theirs.

Well, it's all right by me—and the rest of us women. And I guess it'll be "righter" after the girls have witnessed "This Is My Affair." For in it Mr. Taylor has his most flattering opportunity and does his most effective work since "The Magnificent Obsession." The fact that Barbara Stanwyck, his real life sweetheart, is his leading woman, gives the picture added pull.

Backgrounded by the scenery, picturesque with the costumes and tuneful with the songs of the gay nineties, the film spins a tale re the adventures of a young naval lieutenant who, secretly serving his country in a matter known only to himself and President McKinley, almost loses his life when the latter is assassinated.

Mr. McKinley and President Theodore Roosevelt play important parts in the action. [A false note—Sidney Blackmer with a mouthful of store teeth as President Roosevelt. It is caricature—though, of course, unintentional.]

"But HOW?" ask the children.

The picture tells you.

The cemetery sequence is a bit baffling. All through the film you are torn by the fear that Perry dies. Well—he doesn't. So rest in peace as you view the piece.

Perry's mission is to discover the leak by which bandits are learning the combinations to national bank safes the country over. He has been chosen because of a known ability to eel himself out of scrapes. . . .

He eases out of the navy and into civilian uniform—and finds his "lead" in a showy St. Paul dance hall and gambling establishment where the chief entertainer is a girl known as Lil. . . . She and Perry fall in love. He cleverly manages matters so he's taken in with the gang—and everything is right up his alley when—the President is assassinated. Perry finds himself sentenced to hang. But, as I told you—the pardon does NOT come too late.

Miss Stanwyck, looking extraordinarily charming in the garish costumes her profession calls for, gives a brilliant and most sympathetic performance. She and Mr. Taylor are a magnetic pair—no getting round it. Victor McLaglen is fine as a dumb cluck crook. Brian Donlevy is sinister as a master mind. All other rôles—with the exception of the one aforementioned—are expertly handled. Direction was of the best.

The picture packs both laughs and suspense. It has plenty of romantic thrill and, all in all—I believe you'll love it!

"52d Street" Traces Growth of Night Clubs

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 4.—[Special.]—Sid Silvers, Jack White, and a chorus of twelve girls in short skirted costumes of black beaded spangles trimmed with white net ruffles at the hem and neck were singing and dancing "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee" in 1912 hoofer fashion.

It was one of the scenes in "Fifty-second Street," a Walter Wanger production at United Artists, which is intended for one of the year's musical feature films.

The picture aims to give the story of a generation's change in the character of a well known street. It starts as a conservative family street, gradually changes under the creeping advance of cheapness, and then surrenders its fine old houses to speakeasies. But the street emerges, after days of depression, into the Night Club Main street of the nation.

A couple of New Yorkers go from juvenile days to sophistication and big city celebrity along with the street.

Silvers and White, the latter an old timer who really was doing such hoofing in 1912, wore suits of blue, spaced with thin white stripes. Their coats fastened with three buttons so close together one button could have done the work, and when the buttons were fastened, the longish bottom portions of their coats flared outward. Their vests had gray lapels. Their patent leather shoes had cloth, buttoning tops. Their straw hats had long threads which attached to fasteners in the coat lapels.

"We had a dickens of a time getting the clothes for those hoofers," said Charlie Kerr, assistant director, gesturing with his thumb toward White and Silvers. "There are plenty of wardrobe effects around Hollywood covering the 1890's, but when we get past that period there just aren't authentic things."

Kerr said, "We got a photograph of two hoofers of 1912, and showed the picture to a tailor. We had him duplicate the clothes by looking at the photo. Then we had the cloth top shoes made to order. Nobody makes shoes like that any more."

Cotton Lingerie Wins Place in Summer Styles

Smart, Cool Nightgowns Tempt Shoppers.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Cotton lingerie has won recognition in the summer showings. For almost unheard of low prices you can own the trimmest, coolest looking nightgowns you've ever seen. You can find printed floral effects in cherry red, sapphire blue and pale green against ice cool white backgrounds. Some of the satin and silk nightgown collectors are capitulating to the crisp charm of cottons.

Old fashioned dimities have been used and these will stay colorful after weeks of frequent tubbings. The models are brief as to bodice top, the shoulder straps are mere strings of color, and the white affairs are trimmed with delicate val lace edgings and hand work.

Soft nainsook gowns are back.—But not, we hurry to assure the modern shoppers, the dreary things of long ago, but thin, cool affairs in heavenly shades of shell pink, cloud blue, yellow, and white. These have luscious ribbon sashes of satin about two inches wide, the shoulders are tied in lavishly big bows of the satin, fine lace is used for insets and equally fine tucking decorates the shaped tops.

Cloud blue ribbon ties around the white and the flattering yellow nainsook, and pink goes on the blue. But it's the soft texture of this nainsook that will cause you to replenish your nightgowns for the summer. Some of the dimities are priced around two dollars and the nainsook beauties are a little over five. They'll make ideal graduation or trousseau gifts.

THE TRAP

By Elizabeth Jordan

[Copyright: 1937: by Elizabeth Jordan]

SYNOPSIS.

Brave Alida French opens up Avalon, the ancestral home she has inherited on the Massachusetts coast, for paying guests—though the house, according to local gossip, is haunted. Four men have vanished from it. Her guests are Vance, a young man with a fatal heart ailment; Dr. Eugene Benedict, struggling young physician, and his wife, Lucy, a nurse. Bing Haven, her family lawyer's nephew, assists Alida. Alida hires Comfort Folger, who used to work at Avalon, also her nephew Nat and Abram Parsons, whom Comfort refuses to marry because of his drinking. Vance and the Benedicts, driving to Avalon, collide with the car of the rich, neurotic Mrs. Kirkpatrick and her daughter, Spring. They take them with them to Avalon. Bing Haven and Spring fall in love. A dancing skeleton and two strange men in antique clothes are seen on the grounds of Avalon. Comfort shows Alida a secret cellar for storing liquor. Dr. Benedict tells Alida he has learned that Mrs. Kirkpatrick is the mistress of a wealthy man in the west. Spring, unknown to her, is a child of the liaison. When Bing asks her permission to marry Spring, Mrs. Kirkpatrick tells him the truth. He still wants to marry Spring. The wedding is held at Avalon, then Mrs. Kirkpatrick leaves for the west. Alida decides to make an inventory of the liquor in the secret cellar.

INSTALMENT XXXVI.

TRAPPED IN A SECRET CELL.

When Comfort had gone Alida touched the hidden spring and opened the secret door in her study. She crossed the threshold with her electric flashlight in her hand, and drew the door back to within an inch of closing. There she wedged it open with a strip of wood she had selected for the purpose. She had no idea of going down into that pit without having provided for a quick and easy exit, even though she was now thoroughly familiar with the mechanism of both sides of the panel. It was about one o'clock. Comfort had filled and lit the lamp and its heartening light was visible from below as Alida descended the flight of steps.

She walked around the room wondering where to begin. On all the walls the shelves filled the space from floor to roof, and were strengthened for their burden by perpendicular narrow wooden uprights about three feet apart. The solid corners of the cellar were festooned with cobwebs and dust. The shelves themselves were about eighteen inches apart, leaving space in each honeycombed division for three rows of nests which reached to the shelf above. There were hundreds of bottles in sight, lying in these nests with what seemed the dust of ages on them. That dust and grime would be the extraneous proof of their antiquity, Alida knew. She must handle the bottles as little as she could.

She began with the lower shelves on the west wall directly adjoining the stairway, turning her flashlight on each bottle to decipher the label through its grime. It was slow work, but fascinating.

She entered every bottle on a list, copying the labels with great care. When her back began to ache after an hour of this she realized that she must straighten and work for a time with bottles on the line of her eyes.

Half a dozen times, at least, she glanced back at the line of light that came from the head of the staircase. She was taking no chances. She had even locked both the doors opening from the rear living room and rear hall into the study, and the keys were in the pocket of her smock.

To rest the muscles of her neck she started to list the bottles occupying shelves above the ones she had been examining. She was methodical in her entries, as she realized that she had to be when she skipped about in this way. She even went back to the table, sat down there, and made a rough sketch of the west wall and its shelves, crossing off those she had examined. When she had finished this task she dropped the sketch on the stepladder. She began the listing of some bottles on the south wall.

Even with her brilliant flashlight Alida could not read the labels of the bottles that now faced her. She needed both hands here. She tossed her notebook at the stepladder and it landed near the sketch on one of the steps. Very carefully, disturbing them as little as she could, she drew out the bottles one by one, close enough to her eyes to examine the labels more easily. She was now working on the west bay of the south wall.

Suddenly she started, and withdrew the hand she had thrust into a nest. Her groping fingers had struck a small piece of metal at the rear of the wall and far under the shelf. It seemed no larger than a thumbnail. The startling thing about it was that under the inadvertent pressure of her finger the little thing had moved. She could not see it at all, even by lowering her head and looking upward. It was very close to the bottom of the shelf above it. She could only investigate it by feeling. Tiny as it was, it was hollowed out, like the bowl of a spoon, and her finger fitted into it.

She experienced her first thrill at this point. The metal catch was an old-fashioned thumb latch. There were several of these at Avalon. This one meant, must mean, that it was in a door—that on the other side of the door was a closet or even a larger space.

Cautiously, Alida pressed the little thumb latch. Something moved, gave. Very slowly a narrow section of the wall, shelves, bottles, and all, came toward her.

This time she had a bigger thrill. Mechanically, to free her hands, she replaced in their nests the bottles she had been holding, and stared. That section of the shelf was her side of a small door, about two feet wide and five feet high. It was ten inches from the floor. She caught the side of this door, and very gently pulled it toward her. It swung back a little more, revealing an opening just wide enough to pass through. Beyond this lay a low, narrow, whitewashed corridor.

Alida's scalp pricked. If Comfort had been in the house she would have rushed upstairs and brought her down to share the discovery. Alida thought fast. She had a strange impulse to slam that door shut and run! She had found another hiding place—perhaps their hiding place! An instant's thought showed her the sheer absurdity of this theory. The honeycombed nests and their bottles which protected that little latch under its shelf had not been touched for many years. For many years that door had not made its restricted turn toward that cobwebbed corner. The wine cellar itself had not been entered for fourteen years, till she and Comfort had visited it together.

She picked up the small chair and set it in the opening as a wedge to keep the secret door from closing behind her. Then, flashlight in hand, she stepped over the threshold, past the chair, and into the low corridor. She had had at first no idea of going further alone. But the reassuring beam of the lamp was just behind her. She would at least see what the corridor led to.

It was low, not more than five feet high, and it seemed not more than ten feet long. There was a black opening at the far end. She hesitated, and glanced back into the wine cellar. The warming beam of the lamp still came through the open door. She stood motionless for another moment, a battlefield of impulses. Did Comfort know about this? Did any one know about it? She turned to step back into the lighted wine room. Then curiosity, and perhaps a bit of the spirit of adventurous Frenches, stirred in her. She would take the half dozen steps between that door and the end of the low corridor. She would flash her powerful searchlight into what lay beyond. She would not enter the place alone, whatever it was, however great the temptation. But here were light and safety and an open way back to the upper floor and her study.

Head low, she groped her way to the end of the corridor. There, black space gaped before her. She dared not go close to it, but she leaned forward and flashed the searchlight into the darkness. In the first instant of illumination what she saw seemed merely to be another room. It was about the size and shape of the wine room, but it had white, plastered walls. The next instant she saw something else . . .

She started back with a cry of horror that echoed hollowly in the heavy air. Turning to rush into the wine room she struck her elbow sharply against the plastered wall. The flashlight was knocked from her hand. As it fell she heard it roll and heard, too, another sound—the fall of a chair. The blessed light toward which she had been rushing was blotted out. She saw the last glimmer of it as the secret door settled back into place.

Frantically she groped back through the darkness, feeling the wall for a latch or a spring. There would be, of course, a rat-tail latch on the other end of the thumblatch. Nothing but the plastered wall met her touch. There was no slightest suggestion of a catch or a door.

Temper Common in Teen Age Boy

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Many young boys in their teens go through phases that are as hard on them as they are on us. Often they are gloomy, temperamental, unreliable. They don't know why they act as they do and neither do we, except that we can sometimes explain it under the general title of adolescence.

Here is a letter that is fairly typical—nothing fundamentally wrong with the boy, merely surface tensions that make life difficult.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: I have read your articles for months, but my problem is still with me.

"I have a 15 year old boy who worries me more than a little. He is moody and cross, gruff with his 6 year old brother, and every one else in general most of the time.

"He scowls and sets his lips if I correct him, which I do as seldom as possible, and is more or less inclined to be saucy. This has gone on for about two years, and I'm afraid it's getting to be a habit.

"When he is quite himself we are great pals, but, candidly, I don't know how to cope with his other self, and there are times when I'm about ready to give up.

"What puzzles me is how he can be so disagreeable and yet have so many splendid characteristics. At all times he is absolutely dependable, does just as he promises, and is exactly on time. He is a good student at school and has excellent habits."

This period in a boy's life is more trying than we can possibly imagine, and all we can do is to continue to love him and be just as kind as possible until he had worked through his adolescence. He doesn't know why he is gruff and crude himself and he probably is not at all happy about it.

We have a fully written booklet on the teen age boy and girl, called "Understanding the Adolescent," which will be sent on receipt of a 3-cent, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Waldorf Will Dedicate Dormitory at Orphanage

Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Methodist Episcopal area of Chicago will dedicate the new $65,000 dormitory of the Methodist Deaconess orphanage, Lake Bluff, tomorrow afternoon. The new structure will be known as Wadsworth Harris hall and will replace an old dormitory of the same name. About 125 children are cared for by the orphanage.

Mrs. Kimball Again Heads Junior League

Racine, Wis. The Chicago bride is Miss Barbara Barnhart, granddaughter of Mrs. John E. Wilder of Evanston. At 8:30 o'clock her father, Eugene M. Barnhart, will give her in marriage to John Skillman.

The Rev. John Hindley of the Wilmette Congregational church will read the ceremony, and a reception will follow. Miss Barnhart will be attended by Mrs. Ralph Thomas [Gertrude Havemeyer] as matron of honor. Miss Elizabeth Branch of Mexico City and Miss Margery Nicol will be the bridesmaids.

Donald Lahey will be best man, and ushers will be Mr. Thomas and Harry Begley. Following a wedding trip south and east Mr. Skillman and his bride will be at home at the Marshall Field Garden apartments.

Batten-Murphy Nuptials Today.

A number of Chicagoans will go north to hear the Racine bride, Miss Alice Stockton Batten, repeat her wedding vows with John Raymond Murphy Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Raymond Murphy of Chicago. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Haight Batten. The wedding and reception following will take place at the Racine Country club.

Mrs. James Nolan of St. Louis, a classmate of Miss Batten at Rollins college, will be the matron of honor. Miss Marice Murphy, sister of the bridegroom, returned from London, where she attended the coronation ceremonies, in time to be fitted to a bridesmaid's gown. Mrs. John Oliver of Chicago, Miss Margaret Modine, Miss Margaret Walker, and Miss Mary Clausen of Racine, and Mrs. Richard Rehwald of Waukesha will be the other bridesmaids.

Paul Murphy of Oklahoma City will be his brother's best man, and ushering will be Donald Murphy, Mr. Oliver, Richard Young, William Schulz, and Philip A. Starck of Chicago, and John Batten of Racine.

Give Dinner Tonight for Miss McLennan

Mrs. William France Anderson and her sons, William France Anderson Jr. and Robert G. Anderson, are giving a dinner at their home in Hinsdale this evening for Miss Katherine McLennan and Keith Brown, who are to be married July 3.

The Tavern is doing its part for the Chicago City Opera company by making its first roof party of the summer a benefit for next winter's opera fund. The open air festivities on the club's upper terrace will open on Saturday night, June 19. Many opera singers will attend, and will contribute to the program of entertainment.

Dancing will start at 9 o'clock and a buffet supper will be served at 11. Formal dress or fancy costumes will be obligatory.

Mrs. Hayne Ellis, wife of the commandant, Ninth Naval district, Great Lakes, who is visiting in the east, will return to Great Lakes next Thursday. Mrs. Ellis expects to be at home during the remainder of the summer on the first and third Wednesdays of each month from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Winterbotham and Walter F. Wallace of Winnetka are in Sheffield, Mass., today for the graduation of John R. Winterbotham III. and Walter F. Wallace Jr. from the Berkshire school. They are returning Monday to Chicago.

Thomas-Hines Nuptials June 24.

Miss Marian Thomas will be graduated from Smith college on June 21. Then she will hasten home to be the only bridesmaid three days later at the wedding of her sister, Miss Nancy Thomas, to George W. Hines.

The wedding date was set for Thursday, June 24, so that Miss Marian would be at home, and also so that their mother, Mrs. Frederick B. Thomas, could attend the commencement exercises at Smith. The wedding is to be a small one, at the Thomas home in Winnetka, with only the two families present, and there will be no reception afterwards. Leonard Fassett of Evanston will be best man.

Mr. Hines, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hines of Chicago, will take his bride to St. Louis to make their home.

The high school girls of the Harris schools are having a week-end party instead of the usual early summer picnic, having gone out to the Dunham Woods Riding club yesterday afternoon for two days of tennis, horseback riding and swimming, if the weather permits. Nancy Brown, Betty Webster, Doris Anderson, Jean Lovejoy, Betsy White, Peggy Hodge, Jean Becker, Florence McCourtrie, Cecily Barker, and Jean Fleming are those who are enjoying the outing.

The Misses McCourtrie, Barker, and Fleming will receive diplomas at the graduation exercises next Friday when Dr. John Timothy Stone will be the commencement speaker.

Miss Elizabeth Allen Stover, daughter of Mrs. Isaiah Kell Stover of Wilmette, received her diploma at the commencement yesterday at the Mary C. Wheeler school in Providence, R. I.

Museum Tours.

"Animal Habitat Groups" will be the subject of the guide lecture tour at 3 o'clock Monday at the Field museum. On other days at the same hour the tour subjects will be: Tuesday and Thursday, general tours; Wednesday, "Geology," and Friday, "The Chinese Collections."

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of the prime requisites of the dressing table during the summer time is a skin tonic with which to finish off the cleansing ritual and remove every last vestige of oiliness. Nothing makes you feel any hotter than the suspicion that your cleansing tissues haven't done the job quite thoroughly enough—and besides, skin tonics have cooling properties all their own.

Of course, women with extremely dry, sensitive skins have to be very careful in selecting a tonic that will not aggravate this condition. One of the houses whose preparations are favorites with loads of fastidious women has solved this problem by presenting a series of four skin tonics, meeting the needs of almost every type of skin, and the mildest of these is one that the dry skinned sisterhood can cheer about.

It's especially gentle and delicate but it's as cooling and refreshing as one could possibly ask for, and it removes the last trace of cleansing cream without any risk of hampering the natural oil supply that such skins must hoard.

The others follow right down the line, increasing slightly in astringent properties. There's an herbal tonic for the normal skin that's grand for toning up the complexion and giving that fresh, smooth surface that's ideal for makeup.

The woman with out-and-out oily skin chooses the astringent tonic that removes the surplus oil and closes the pores. If you've had trouble with powder that's inclined to cake and make blotchy patches near the nose and around the chin, this astringent will prevent the seepage of oil that's usually the cause of this evil. And for the older woman who needs something to help firm the skin of face and throat, there's a still stronger astringent that's designed for just that purpose.

These are, all four, excellent preparations. They're sold in most of the stores and they're not at all expensive. We understand they're even more reasonable than usual right now, so it might be a good time to get acquainted with the one best suited to your needs. M. S.

[For information about these skin tonics telephone Eleanor Nangle, Superior 0100, or write to her in care of THE TRIBUNE.]

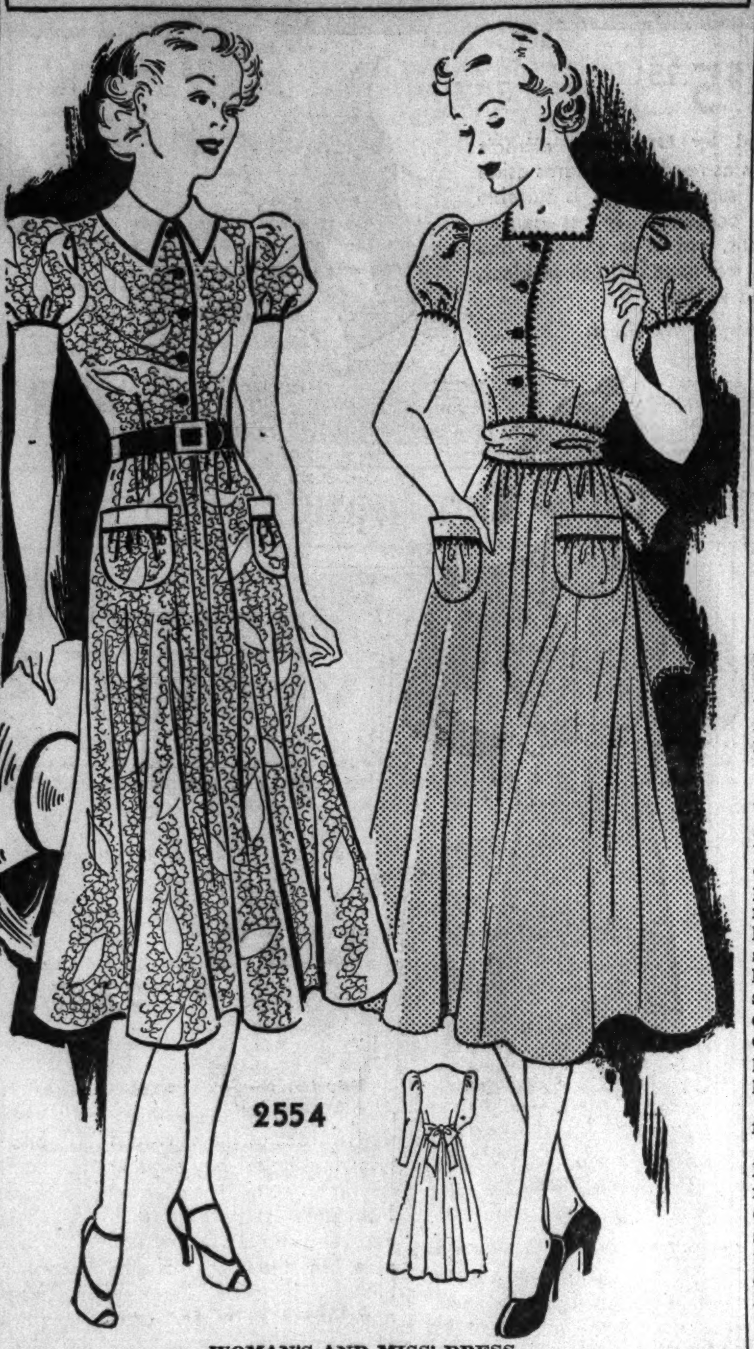
Shirtwaist Takes to Dirndl



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

You can't do without a shirtwaist dress this season any more than you could do without one in years past. The model simply will not die, but it does take on new styling as the seasons pass. This year it has merged with the dirndl,, and the attractive results are apparent in the model illustrated today. The shirtwaist collar is retained and the slim bodice, too. Puffed sleeves are incorporated and buttons do their share for chic. Thus far the pattern is a typical shirtwaist model, but add to this a shirred skirt with adorable patch pockets, and you have something brand new. If you don't want a collar, omit it and have instead a square neckline edged with rick-rack. The frock may be trimmed with the braid or have bindings of contrasting fabric. If you like a tailored belt, by all means have it, but a crushed sash that ties generously in the back is attractive, too.

All the washable linens, cottons and silks make up well, and plain shades are equally as smart as prints. Sheers make up as nicely as do the heavier weight fabrics.

Style No. 2554 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 4⅝ yards of 39 inch material with ¼ yard of 39 inch contrasting and 2½ yards of binding.

Summer Turns Spotlight on Arms and Hands

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Summer places hands and arms in the fashion spotlight and, at the same time, presents a beauty problem which many women are anxious to solve. There are many simple treatments or preparations which remedy roughness and blemishes and prepare your hands and arms for a graceful summer display.

"The summer 'call to arms' is one which every woman should heed," says Ruth Miller Chamlee, concert singer and wife of Mario Chamlee of the Metropolitan Opera company. "Even if you are accustomed to give careful attention to your arms during the winter, short sleeved and sleeveless frocks and bathing suits expose them to sunburn and windburn as well as to the public gaze, and therefore even more care than usual is necessary."

"First of all," says Mrs. Chamlee, who is well known for her lovely, graceful hands, "there is the matter of chapped and rough spots left over from the winter. Although not painful, these spots are unsightly and may be corrected by rubbing a good hand cream or lotion gently into the skin. This also is advisable when your hands have been exposed to wind and sun. A cream or lotion, or the good old glycerine and rose water, all are equally effective. And, if possible, apply it at night, and put on an old pair of gloves before retiring. This vernight treatment is extremely good for the hands.

"And look to your elbows!" warns Mrs. Chamlee. "They give you away, for elbows are more easily seen by others and least easily seen by yourself. If they are flaky and rough, try a soap and hot water scrub with a brush, and follow with softening lotion. The same procedure should be adopted for arms that appear 'goose pimply!'"

According to Mrs. Chamlee, the value of utility gloves cannot be overestimated. "Whether your garden is a matter of acres or of a window box, wear gloves when you tend it. This will save your hands from the grittiness and stains and your nails from being broken. Whether your housekeeping is a matter of a penthouse or a one room studio, wear gloves, rubber or fabric, when you go about it. You will keep hour hands smooth and soft in this way."

Summer time is the best time to reduce the upper arms, reminds Mrs. Chamlee. "Free exercise of the arms becomes possible, with rowing, canoeing, golf, and other sports from which to choose. Stout or flabby arms may be made shapely and firm through constant, careful exercise. But, at the same time, beware of sunburn. Before going out apply sun oil or coconut butter to insure an even tan without burning. These little precautions will save you a great deal of discomfort and pain."

'Swing Hi' Show Tonight Will Have Cast of 1,200

Twelve hundred children from all parts of Chicago will take part in a production called "Swing Hi" to be staged tonight and tomorrow night at the Civic Opera house. It is to feature acrobatic, tap, toe, and ballet dancing. Proceeds will go to the Chicago Milk Fund association. Seven hundred of the children will dance and 500 will play accompanying musical instruments.

This Writer Must Learn to Be Kindly

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright, 1937, by Muriel Stafford.]

She is brilliant and can be very charming. Although shrewd and somewhat materialistic, she has moments when she is so open hearted that she is altruistic. Her handwriting reveals culture and creative talent. Yet I'd rather have this person for a neighbor than to be related or living in the same house with her. She's dynamite!

There is a sort of complex

She writes, "There is a sort of complex that you might help me to overcome." She doesn't mention the complex, but I'd say that whatever is the matter with her she has only her perfectly awful disposition to blame. In spite of her brilliance and intuition, and even an ability to be tactful, I should say that she must find it hard to keep her friends.

The great fault here is overemotionalism. It expresses itself in the heavy, rapid, too-forward slant of the writing, in the sharpness of the letters and in the t-bars that "fly off the handle" showing a quick temper.

Extremely critical and very analytical, the writer needs a check upon her disposition. There is none whatever. She leaves her a's and o's wide open, showing that she says all of the unkind things she would naturally think because of her critical nature.

Her temper is not the kind that blows over easily and quickly. The t-bars not only fly off the handle but they deepen and darken toward the end of the stroke with a little hook on the end, showing perseverance and a tendency to hold a grudge when she is offended.

Of course, she has a mind like a whiplash and her family may forgive her plenty of faults because she is so clever and so unusually warm hearted.

No matter how brilliant and how generous this writer is, she is going to be avoided if she doesn't curb her emotional nature and strike a happy balance. One of the saddest things to discover too late is that we are more loved for our tolerance and kindness than for our mental qualities.

Hospital Concert.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

REBIDDING A MAJOR SUIT.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

The partner of a player who has made a take-out double will respond on the supposition that he will find four trumps in either major. The doubler, remembering this, should not, at a later stage, bid a major suit unless it contains at least five cards. By doubling first and then rebidding a major suit the doubler asks his partner for a raise with three small trumps and only about one honor trick outside.

Forcing to Game.

After having made a take-out double a player may force to game later by making a jump bid in a new suit. This bid is rare, since after a forced response from partner the doubler cannot force to game unless he wishes to play there without support. If he had so strong a hand he probably would have made an immediate overcall in the opponents' suit, instead of doubling.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	2 clubs	Pass	2 no trump
Pass	3 clubs	Pass	3 no trump
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I was East. The only excuse I can find for North-South's bidding is that they must have thought they could pick up three or four tricks against our defense. Well, their estimate was pretty good at that!

"My partner, a young woman who should be contented to just sit and be admired, opened the jack of spades, and declarer won with the king. The club suit then was run off. On the fourth round I signaled with the nine of diamonds, figuring that my one chance to get on lead to come through the spades was with the diamond king. Dear partner chucked a low heart on the third club, and on the fourth, after seeing my diamond signal, made the sensational and, to me, highly satisfactory discard of the diamond ace. 'Well,' said I to myself, 'the little genius actually noticed my diamond signal and is preparing to put me on lead with a low diamond.' I even beamed a little.

"When the fifth club brought the discard of a low diamond from her I was only a little nervous. Surely she had kept another diamond to put me on lead. Imagine my horror then when declarer, after running the clubs, planked down the heart king and my partner won with the ace and returned . . . a heart! What's more, she actually beamed as she did it. 'Catch her establishing declarer's spade queen!'

"So declarer rattled off three heart tricks for his contract while I still sat waiting to get in with my beautiful diamond king.

"I permitted myself just one bit of relief. I leaned over the table and said: 'Listen! Nobody is beautiful enough to do that to me! I quit!'

"And I did!

"Yours truly,
"A. M. S., Brooklyn."

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Partner doubled an opening bid of one spade. Third hand redoubled. What strength should I have to make a penalty pass of the redoubled contract?

Answer: About two honor tricks and something like J 10 x or x x x x in the opponents' suit.

Is Only Child Poor Bet as Marital Risk?

Adviser Believes Rearing Is Vital Factor.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The question has arisen as to whether or not the young woman who chooses for her husband a chap who has brothers and sisters has a better chance for happiness with him than with a boy who is an only child. Likewise, will the young man who chooses his sweetheart from one of a number of children stand a better chance for happiness in his married life?

My reaction to this is that if the boy or girl who is the only child has been reared by wise and thoughtful parents, he will make equally as desirable a mate as would one from a larger family. It is all in the early training of a child. If, as a child, he has been taught to be kind, thoughtful, considerate of others and appreciative of any kindness that has been shown him, he will continue to show that same loving kindness in his own home.

It would be out of the question to expect the boy who has been raised as a mother's darling, who has been waited on hand and foot, with every wish anticipated, to turn around suddenly and be a mate who always would remember to do the nice little things for the girl, who would relieve her of all worries and unpleasantness that might occur. He just couldn't be expected to adjust himself to a partnership arrangement which is necessary if two young people are to get along amicably and happily. He wasn't trained to do it. The fault, in his case, lies with his parents. They made of him a selfish, thoughtless young man. Naturally, he is not the type of chap who could be classified as a good catch. But those same selfish traits will be present in the member of a large family who is known as the "white haired boy."

The adored daughter of doting parents develops into the same selfish, thoughtless kind of person.

Whether there is one or many in a family, each child should be made to realize that happiness can't be attained unless there is thought given to others as well as to one's self.

Sun-Sea-Spun—The Two Piece Suit of Imported Mohair Worsted and Linen

As cool as a refreshing ocean breeze, and as light as the foam that tips the waves. Sun-Sea-Spun was woven in the Old World manner by a little-known English master weaver we discovered, who was able to capture in this jealously guarded wool, linen and mohair blend fresh color tones inspired by the sea and the ocean shore. The resulting fabric is not only light in weight and an open invitation to every passing breeze, but the wrinkles that are the lot of most summer clothing in scorching weather, are strongly resisted by Sun-Sea-Spun. It will help you meet the busy rush of wear in town during the steamy days, with the assurance that only a cool brow and a smart, well tailored appearance can give you.

LEAGUE LIFTS SUSPENSION; DEAN PITCHES TODAY

DIZZY DENIES SLURS; FRICK S SATISFIED

But Days Off Cost Cardinal Ace $500.

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—erome [Dizzy] Dean is officially back n the good graces of the National eague. After another session with he St. Louis pitcher today, at which Dizzy again repudiated the Belleville tatement about the "two biggest rooks in baseball," and admitted eing warned about a balk before it vas called on him, Ford Frick announced that the indefinit suspension vas being lifted in twenty-four hours.

The statement from the National league's president read:

"Mr. Dean today appeared before ne and in the presence of witnesses lenied having made statements purported to have been made by him, in ne instance published in the newspapers of St. Louis, New York, and ther league cities [respecting the lisputed balk rule] and in another nstance, in the newspaper of Belleville, Ill.

Considers Incident Closed.

"The president of the National eague was not present at the time of these occurrences and therefore e can have no definite proof. Under the circumstances he is willing to accept the statement of Mr. Dean at its face value.

'I consider the incident closed and Mr. Dean's suspension will be lifted within twenty-four hours.

"So far as what has gone before, the case is closed. So far as what occurs in the future, time alone can tell. Certainly this office does not intend to have the name of the National league, its officers, and employés, dragged through the newspapers in an uncomplimentary manner."

Session Is Stormy.

Despite its peaceful conclusion, today's session at the National league office was far from harmonious. There was one time when the Cardinal's star pitcher stormed out of the room, obviously in a rage, insisting he was "all washed up," that he would appeal his case to Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, and that he would "see my lawyer."

This, in turn, brought a threat from the league president to renew the suspension which he had decided to lift after the pitcher had made a flat denial of the statements attributed to him that he was being persecuted by the balk rule, aimed especially at him, or that he had said that Umpire George Barr, who called the balk, and President Frick are "the two biggest crooks in baseball." With these things denied, Frick said, he was lifting the suspension.

It's a Questionnaire.

At the same time, the final paragraph of his statement indicated that while all is temporarily forgiven, it is not forgotten. In this, Frick declared, "so far as what may occur in the future, time alone can tell."

In announcing the outcome of today's session, the National league head gave a question and answer transcript of the questions he had put to the Card's pitcher and the latter's replies. This read:

"MR. FRICK—Mr. Dean, you are quoted in the newspapers as making a statement to the effect that the balk rule was instituted by the National league office as a direct slap at you and constituted persecution. Did you or did you not make that statement?

"MR. DEAN—I did not.

Notified of Balk Rule.

"MR. FRICK—Mr. Dean, is it true that you were notified of the enforcement of the balk rule by this office one week before the balk was called?

"MR. DEAN—I was warned in Brooklyn.

"MR. FRICK—Mr. Dean, is it true that you were also notified, on the day of the game in which the balk was called, by Manager Frisch and Umpire Barr?

"MR. DEAN—I was warned by Frank Frisch.

"MR. FRICK—You have been quoted in the papers in Belleville, Ill., of making a statement that the president of the National league and Umpire George Barr were the 'two biggest crooks in baseball.' Did you or did you not make that statement?

"MR. DEAN—I never said that.

Denies Newspaper Report.

"MR. FRICK—I have here a wire from the editor of the Belleville Daily Advocate which says: 'Article in our May 26 issue speaks for itself and contains an account of what was said at the Presbyterian Men's club dinner.' Do you deny that that article is true?

"MR. DEAN—I didn't say it."

From the start Dizzy had insisted, "I ain't going to sign nothin'." He

SCHMELING MAY BATTLE WINNER OF CHICAGO BOUT

Mike Jacobs wants to sign Schmeling and the winner of the June 22 James J. Braddock-Joe Louis bout at Comiskey park, Chicago, for a September fight, probably in one of the New York ball parks, with the world's title at stake.

If the bout is made—and Jacobs says it's a sure thing—the 20th Century Sporting club will be the promoter.

Jacobs, who controls Louis, says Schmeling has agreed and all he has to do is tie up Braddock. Schmeling said he hasn't agreed—yet.

Joe Jacobs said Max might make a statement on the general situation before sailing for home on the liner Hamburg at midnight tomorrow.

BRADDOCK PUNCHES AWAY

Resuming action after a day's lay-off, Braddock went two round against Charley Massera and followed with two slugging rounds against Jack McCarthy.

The champion loosed some heavy punches against both, driving Massera into the ropes with a two-fisted attack in the first round and landing some hard rights on McCarthy.

LOUIS GOES INDOORS

Kenosha, Wis., June 4.—[Special.]—Forced indoors by the threatening weather, Joe Louis resumed training today by belaboring three spar mates in a brisk six rounnd workout. The bomber opened with a newcomer, Joe Aloise of Pittsburgh, who was afflicted with stage fright, and afforded Louis little opposition in two rounds. The veteran Salvadore Ruggeriello followed for two rounds, and gave Louis one of the best workouts he has had since he started training two weeks ago. Against Georgie Nicholson, who went the last two rounds, Louis cut loose in earnest.

Reigh Count's Sons Clash in Stake Today

BY FRENCH LANE.

A couple of Counts—both sons of Reigh Count, America's turf champion in 1928—may have to fight it out for high honors in the renewal of the Great Western handicap at Washington Park this afternoon as both have excellent chances of stepping home at the front of the procession.

These Counts, sharp and ready for the one race on Chicago's annual turf program which is as old as the American Derby itself, are Count Morse and Count Arthur. They belong to Warren Wright and John Hertz, Chicagoans who are close friends and also associates in the affairs of the Arlington Park Jocky club.

They're Good Friends.

Messrs. Hertz and Wright will occupy adjoining boxes in the Washington Park clubhouse this afternoon. No doubt they will spend a pleasant afternoon together except for that two minutes and some three or four seconds during which the Great Western mile and a quarter is being run.

Then it will be each man for himself, for Mr. Wright has reserved the privilege of rooting as loudly as he pleases for Count Morse and Mr. Hertz says he will do the same thing in the event Count Arthur is up there in the thick of the fight when the run down the home stretch starts.

Will they have a side bet of horse against horse between them? O, my, yes, but it more than likely will be a new hat and at the most not more than a new suit of clothes. And the winner will take great pride in collecting that wager.

Count Morse Favorite.

Count Morse will be the favorite in the race at odds of 5 to 2 and Count Arthur will likely rule as the third choice at about 6 to 1. The powerful entry named overnight by Mrs. Emil Denemark, which includes four horses—Finance, Corinto, War Emblem, and Two Bob—looks like a natural second choice in the wagering. It may even muster more backing than Count Morse at post time.

All three of the leading candidates were in action last Monday. Count Morse won the Blue and Gray Memorial handicap at Washington Park. Finance finished third in that race. Count Arthur ran in the Suburban handicap in New York, but failed to get in the money.

Count Morse gave Finance a sound whipping in the Blue and Gray at a mile and an eighth. In today's battle,

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 4.—[Special.]—The university track world long since has accepted Don Lash as its greatest middle distance runner. But tonight, in his farewell to competition in the central states, the husky Hoosier star successfully defended his central intercollegiate mile and two mile championships in the twelfth annual meet at Marquette stadium by establishing new records for these distances.

Lash's victories enabled his alma mater, Indiana university, to win the meet title for the second year with 39 points to Illinois' 29 points. Notre Dame finished third with 28 points, while Michigan State scored 21 points to nose out Iowa, which finished the sixteen event program with 19½ points.

Grieve Wins Twice.

Matching Lash's double victories, but failing to stamp their names in the permanent records of the tournament, were Bobby Grieve, Illinois sprinter, like Lash, a senior, and William Faymonville of Notre Dame. The Illini sprinter took the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Faymonville, a sophomore, was winner in the discus throw and shot put.

Lash's races dominated the meet just as he has proved time and again in the last three years that he has no peer over middle distances. His first record was established in tonight's opening event, the one mile.

Sets Meet Record.

Lash covered the mile in 4 minutes 13 4-10 seconds, clipping seventenths of a second from the four year old meet record set by Butler university's Ray Sears. Lash finished strongly, indeed, so easily that had he been pressed it is conceivable he might have broken the mark of 4:10.8 which he set a year ago at Ohio State when he captured the western conference mile with a record performance.

Lash's meet record in the two miles, his favorite event and in which he broke the world mark last June in the Princeton university invitational meet, was 9 minutes 13 3-10 seconds. This was nearly 15 seconds slower than Lash's Princeton record, but eminently satisfactory considering his previous run and certainly pleasing to the Hoosier, for in it he defeated young Bill Feiler of Drake,

Sport Notables Attend Rites for Harvey Woodruff

Many notables from the world of sport, many other professional and industrial leaders and scores of his friends and fellow workers on THE TRIBUNE attended the funeral of Harvey T. Woodruff yesterday afternoon.

The services were conducted at the First Congregational church in Evanston and were in charge of Rev. John Hayworth, chaplain of the Forty club, and by Dr. Hugh Elmer Brown, pastor of the church.

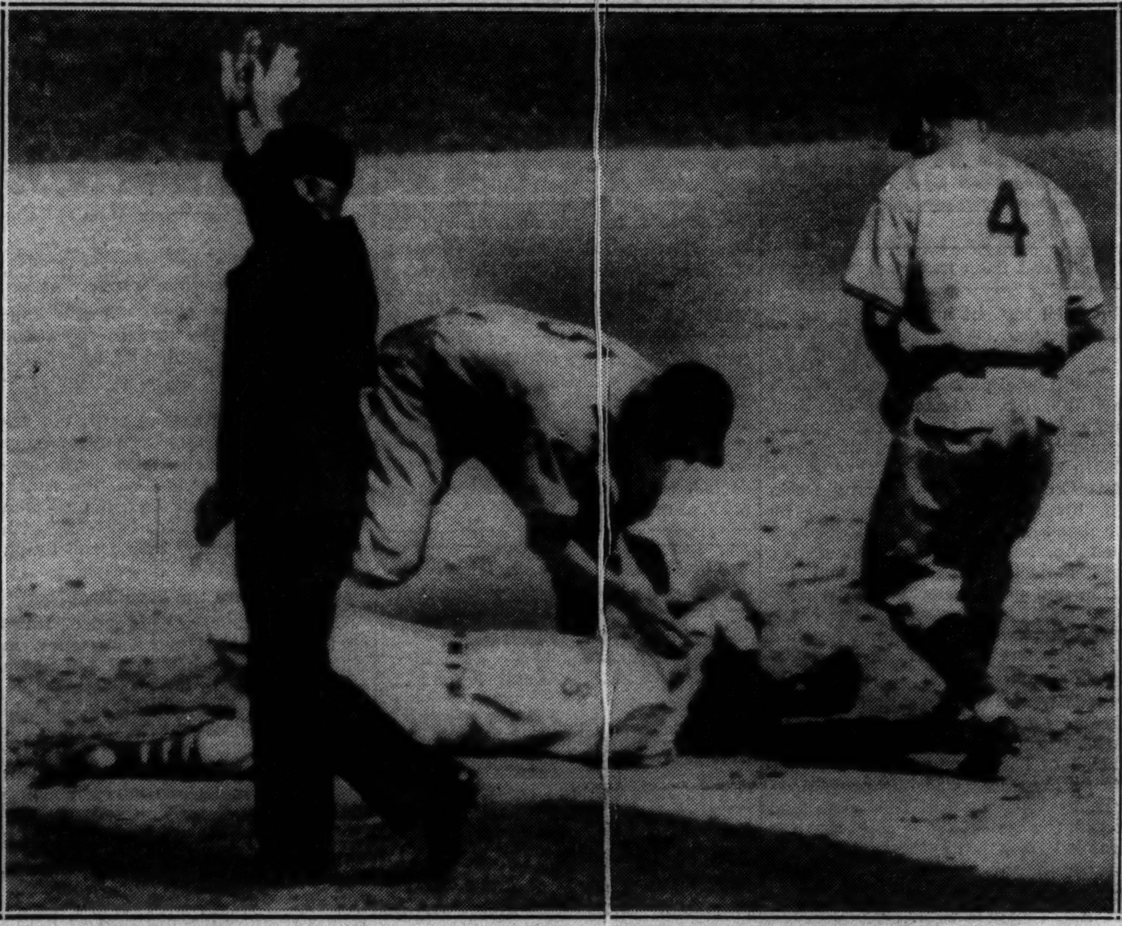
DOWN FOR THE COUNT



Joe Moore, New York Giant outfielder, stretched out at second base after being hit on the head by ball thrown by Larry French of the Cubs. French attempted to catch Moore off base, but despite being knocked out he was safe. Moore retired and then the Cubs and Giants resumed their business of splitting a double-header.

Rain Checks Sox; Oppose Macks Today

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

For the tenth time, a pretty high total for the first six weeks of the race, the White Sox went on a vacation yesterday because of rainfall. They were booked to conclude a series with the Boston Red Sox and at the same time endeavor to add another link to their winning chain of five games. The washout sent the Red Hose out of town with a record of one game played out of three scheduled.

For the next three days, starting this afternoon, the Jim Dykes troupe will concentrate on Connie Mack's rapidly waning Athletics. The Sox have been altogether too kindly to the Macks thus far. They contributed four victories in as many games to the A's unexpected sojourn in the first division, thus delaying their own arrival among the upper four and at the same time stalling off the Macks' inevitable return to their habitual second division status.

It's Whitehead Today.

The A's will be greeted this afternoon by John Henderson Whitehead, the Texas strong man, who since being removed from the suspended list has proved his physical condition by pitching two victories. He whipped the Red Sox at Boston in his comeback effort and in the Cleveland band box last Saturday throttled the Indian sluggers on six hits. For tomorrow's double-header Dykes plans to work Ted Lyons and Monty Stratton and for the final on Monday might present Bill Dietrich, recent producer of a no hit battle against the Browns.

Don't Forget Little Mike.

Mack's pitcher today will be George Caster, and it is a cinch the Sox will resume their yelling over what they claim is the fellow's illegal method of pitching. They raised particular ned about it when he was administering a trimming to them in Philadelphia a couple of weeks ago. The umpires refused to agree that Caster was off the rubber when pitching, but they did chase Manager Dykes from the park for beefing. Dykes subsequently was suspended for three days.

Because Mr. Zeke Bonura's bat has been so prominent during the current surge of the Sox, similar achievements by Mike Kreevich, who went to center field when Larry Rosenthal was injured, have been overlooked. The ex-miner has been in 21 games since being given regular employment on May 12 and in that stretch has been the author of 32 hits in 90 times at bat. That's a .360 average. He has been blanked in only two of these games and now has a string of 14 in which he has hit safely.

Although the team has shown repeatedly that an enemy pitcher is never secure, Luke Appling is a long way from threatening to repeat his 1936 performance, when he topped the league with .388.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

COACH ROBERT ZUPPKE thinks the Illinois football team next fall will be heavier and rangier, with more reach and bigger hands, but greener than last year's. . . . Big hands, he explains, are important, making for better ball handling, tackling, and general play. . . . Kid McCoy, former claimant of the welterweight and middleweight championships, says that he grew an inch after he had passed his 40th birthday. . . . McCoy, who is 64 years old, is 6 feet 1 inch tall. . . . Southern California has two ineligible high hurdlers, Jim Humphreys and Leroy Kirkpatrick, who probably can beat any other college hurdlers in the country with the exception of Roy Staley, an eligible Trojan. . . . Jimmy Phelan, University of Washington football coach, plans to make a hunting trip in Alaska before serving as an instructor in a coaching school at Catalina Island in July. . . . Philadelphia Athletic pitchers give Charley Berry, former White Sox catcher, now with the Macks, most of the credit for their success this season. . . . Jim Mullen has resigned as matchmaker at Chicago Stadium. . . . He soon will enter a hospital to take treatment for a stomach disorder. . . .

Harold McSpaden, runner-up in the P. G. A. tournament, is undefeated gum chewing champion among the big time pros and runs a close second to Billy Burke in the cigar smoking race. . . . Burke's supporters, however, claim that he is holding himself in reserve, for he now smokes only about ten stogies a day. . . . Not a single forward pass ever was completed in territory covered by George Gipp in his career on the Notre Dame football team. . . . Burleigh Grimes scoffs at the report that his feud with Charlie Dressen dates back to a duster he threw when Dressen was a player. . . . "I knocked down a lot of guys in my day," says Grimes, "but I never wasted a pitch on a .250 hitter." . . . Earl Smith, who hit a home run with three on for Cleveland in the 1920 world series, is working for a Cleveland brewery. . . . Three Big Ten schools, Illinois, Purdue, and Minnesota, have announced new track coaches since the start of this semester. . . .

Bill Dietrich is the tenth White Sox pitcher to turn in a no-hit game and his feat of last Tuesday was the eleventh no-hit game by Sox pitchers. . . . Frank Smith pitched two no-hit games, one in 1905 and another in 1908. . . . The Sox were held hitless for the only time by Adrian Joss of Cleveland in 1908. . . . His mound opponent that day was Ed Walsh. . . . Jim Lightbody, New Trier High school graduate, cinched a place on the Harvard-Yale track team which will meet Oxford and Cambridge at Harvard next summer by winning the 440 yard event in 49.1 in the freshman meet with Yale. . . . Wendell Wilson, athletic director at Illinois, has made 95 speeches since Jan. 1. . . The war is still on between the Cleveland Indians and Cleveland baseball reporters. . . . One author is on the outs with the business office and Manager O'Neill. . . . The club's traveling secretary has been ordered not to make any rail or hotel reservations for him. . . . Another writer is okay with the business office but persona non grata with the manager. . . . The other correspondent is half and half with both. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Lou Gehrig, New York Yankee first baseman, was leading the American league hitters with an average of .420. Babe Ruth pounded out his seventeenth home run of the season. . . . Rene La Coste defeated Bill Tilden for the French singles championship. . . . Sherif Blake pitched the Cubs to a 7 to 0 victory over the Braves.

BRYANT PITCHES CHICAGO TO 8TH VICTORY IN ROW

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 4.—The Cubs in the first game of a double-header with the Giants this afternoon knocked out Carl Hubbell in the course of making two runs in the eighth, tied the score in the ninth and won 6 to 5 in the eleventh on a triple by Ken O'Dea and a single by Bill Herman. It was their eighth straight victory.

Their heroic rush from behind to deprive Hubbell of his ninth victory of the year and give Clay Bryant his fourth favorable decision as compared with no defeats should have inspired the Cubs to keep right on marching in the second game. But it didn't. Clydell Castleman whipped 'em for the third time this season, 4 to 2. The Giants scored one run with two out in the sixth and three in the eighth to give Bill Lee his fifth defeat o fthe season.

Blanked Until Ninth.

The Cubs did not get more than three men up to the plate in any of the first seven innings of the second game and did not advance a runner as far as second until O'Dea knocked his second triple of the day with two out in the eighth. Then, in the ninth, a walk to Linus Frey and Augie Galan's second homer of the afternoon scored two runs. Herman later got a pass and Frank Demaree a single, but the game ended with Stanley Hack's grounder to Burgess Whitehead.

The first game was in a pretty discouraging fix after the first two innings, even though Galan opened the afternoon's entertainment with a homer.

Poor pitching by Larry French in the first inning gave the Giants two runs, and they added two in the second because of only medium pitching by French, aggravated by an Old Aunt Kate throw by Rip Collins.

French lived up to his reputation as a feeble beginner. Bartell opened with a line single to right and went to third when Chiozza duplicated the shot. Moore bounced a double over Collins' head, Bartell scoring. French then fanned Ripple, but Ott sent a long fly to Demaree, Chiozza scoring.

Moore Hit on Head.

Whitehead opened the Giant second with a double. Hubbell popped to Hack, but Bartell walked. Chiozza bounced to Collins, whose short toss to Jurges was wide, Whitehead scoring. Moore fanned, but Ripple singled to right, Bartell scoring.

Hack knocked a homer in the fourth his first hit in 14 times at bat, but in the fifth the Giants added a run to give the great Hub a 5 to 2 lead.

Moore opened the home fifth with a single to center and reached second on Marty's fumble. French threw toward second to attempt to catch Moore napping and hit Joe on the head. Moore dropped to the ground unconscious as the ball bounced clear to third base. Davis went to second to run for Moore after Joe was helped to the clubhouse. Ripple moved Davis to third with a sacrifice, whence he scored on Ott's single to right.

Hubbell Is Yanked.

In the eighth singles by Demaree and Gabby Hartnett produced a run and when Joe Marty singled, Hubbell was yanked and Dick Coffman rushed in. O'Dea entered the game and singled, scoring another run. But the eighth ended with the Cubs still behind, 5 to 4.

With one down in the ninth Chiozza committed a two base throwing error on Herman, and Bill scored the tying run on Collins' only hit of the game, a single to center.

In the meantime French had pitched perfect ball in the sixth inning as had Curt Davis, who made his first appearance of the season on the mound, in the seventh. And so had Clay Bryant in the eighth, ninth, and tenth innings.

Then came the deciding eleventh.

CATHOLIC PREPS BREAK DISCUS, DASH RECORDS

Philadelphia Schools Lead Qualifying List.

Notre Dame, Ind., June 4.—[Special.]—Two meet records fell today as a field of 310 athletes from 20 schools went through qualifying trials for the finals tomorrow in the national Catholic interscholastic track meet.

Trials were held in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, intermediate and low hurdles, shot put, discus and javelin throws, and the broad jump. Finals in all events will be run tomorrow.

Capt. John Maher of West Catholic, Philadelphia, smashed the 100 yard dash record when, with a slight wind at his back, he covered the distance in 9.7 seconds. The old mark, ten seconds, was made by Steve Coughlin of Loyola last year.

Looby Stars in Discus.

Phil Looby of North East Catholic, Philadelphia, bettered the discus throw mark with 132 feet 9 inches. The old mark, which has stood for three years, was 124 feet 10½ inches, by Norman Ballatin of St. Aloysius, New Orleans.

North East High led in the qualifying, placing ten men in tomorrow's finals to provide a serious threat to the domination West Catholic has held during the three year history of the meet. West Catholic was next with eight men.

Prokop Wins Four Places.

Joe Prokop, junior at Cathedral Latin of Cleveland, gave his school four of its six places. Qualifiers by schools:

North East, Philadelphia	10
West Catholic, Philadelphia	8
Cathedral Latin, Cleveland	6
De Paul, Chicago	4

DONOGHUE RIDES EXHIBITIONIST TO VICTORY IN OAKS

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 4.—(AP)—Pulling away in the stretch as did her half-brother, Mid-day Sun, in the Derby, Sir Victor Sassoon's Exhibitionist today outclassed a field of thirteen 3 year old fillies in the classic Oaks.

With 52 year old Steve Donoghue in the saddle for his second triumph in the prized filly stake, the bay daughter of Solario-Lady Wembley ran the one and a half miles in 2:37 flat, three-fifths of a second faster than the time made by Mid-day Sun over the same course. At the finish she was three lengths in front of F. W. Dennis' Sweet Content. A head farther back, in third place, was Lord Astor's Sculpture.

J. E. Widener's Black Lashes, the only American owned filly in the field, finished far back among the also rans after trailing away from the barrier.

ROOSEVELT RACE PURSE BOOSTED FOR AMERICANS

New York, June 4.—(AP)—An additional $10,000 in prize money, exclusively for American drivers, has been posted for the Vanderbilt cup automobile race at the Roosevelt raceway July 3, track officials announced today. This is added to the original stake of $60,000 for the 300 mile race.

The new prize will be divided into prizes of $2,500, $1,500, and $1,000 for the first three American drivers to finish, regardless of the cars they drive or the positions of European contestants. Similar prizes will be given for the first three American built cars.

American Giants, St. Louis Open 4 Game Series Today

Chicago's American Giants, leaders in the American league race, will open a four game series this afternoon with the St. Louis Stars at the American Giants park, 39th street and Wentworth avenue. Single games are scheduled today and Monday, with a double-header tomorrow.

Illness of 7 Months Old Son Calls Mungo to His Home

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Van Mungo, star Brooklyn pitcher, has been called to his home at Pageland, S. C., because of the serious illness of his 7 months old son who underwent an operation for double mastoid about two weeks ago. Van Mungo left for Pageland last night.

Indiana Track Team Wins in Central Meet

Lash Makes Pace.

Lash made pace until the eighth and final lap. Always an excellent judge of speed, the Hoosier again demonstrated he was running well within himself and had reserve power left. On this last lap Tommy Deckard, his teammate, pulled away on the back stretch. Then, forced to open up, and with Feiler pounding at his heels, Lash lengthened his stride and passed Deckard to win by five yards. Feiler gave up the chase in the last twenty yards and finished an indifferent third.

Two other central intercollegiate records were broken. Allan Tolmich, hurdler from Wayne university, Detroit, raced over the 220 yard stretch of barriers in 23 4-10 seconds. His performance was obscured, however, by the fact that the finish line was at the south of the field and far removed from the spectators.

William Hawthorne of Michigan Normal and Albert Haller of Wisconsin, Big Ten pole vault champion, set a new vault mark tonight of 13 feet 9⅛ inches. Hawthorne however, received first place medal for he cleared this height on his second attempt. Haller scored over the bar on his third and final trial.

MILE RUN—Won by Lash, Indiana; Fenske, Wisconsin, second; Rice, Notre Dame, third; Deckard, Notre Dame, fourth; Hrissung, De Kalb Teachers, fifth. Time, 4:13.4. [New meet mark; former mark of 4:14.1 established by Sears of Butler in 1933.]

Dallas, Tex., June 4.—(AP)—George Marshall of Washington announced today Sammy Baugh, famed football passer formerly with Texas Christian university, has signed with the Redskins, Washington pro team.

Marek Is Hurt; Name Lipps to Fight Burman

Joe Lipps, Ty Ty, Ga., heavyweight, last night was substituted for Max Marek in a ten round bout against Red Burman at Marigold Gardens Monday. Marek asked to be removed from the card following an injury to his right hand, received while sparring with Bill Palmer at C. Y. O. center. The injury will keep the former Golden Gloves and Catholic Youth organization champion out of action for at least a month, thus necessitating cancelation of a contest with Nathan Mann on the Jim Braddock-Joe Louis title card at Comiskey park, June 22.

Shaw, Horn Check In for Auto Races

Wilbur Shaw and Ted Horn, who finished first and third, respectively, in the Memorial day 500 mile at Indianapolis, arrived yesterday for the automobile races at the Fair Grounds speedway, River road and North avenue, tomorrow afternoon.

Jimmy Snyder of Chicago, who turned the fastest qualifying time in the history of the Hoosier speedway, and who led the Indianapolis race for the first six laps, arrived Wednesday and has been busy ever since preparing for the Fair Grounds race.

Shaw Expects to Repeat.

Shaw is confident his car will run away from the field Sunday as it did at Indianapolis, while Horn's mechanical crew has been working on his mount at the Fair Grounds since Wednesday.

Rex Mays is due early tomorrow to tune up the car in which he rode to a world's record of 25.72 seconds at the inaugural Fair Grounds race three weeks ago. Mays, who was the victim of misfortune at Indianapolis, is determined to regain the midwestern championship to add to his Pacific coast driving title this year.

It's an All-Star Field.

In all, eight of the field that will start at the Fair Grounds were in the race at Indianapolis. In addition to Shaw, Rose, Snyder, Horn, and Mays, Promoter Carl Stockholm has Chet Gardner, Frank Brisko, and Frank Wearne ready to face the starter's flag.

The field:

MOVE COCHRANE TO DETROIT FOR CONVALESCENCE

New York, June 4.—(AP)—Mickey Cochrane, manager of the Detroit Tigers, is to be tranferred from St. Elizabeths' hospital here to the Ford hospital in Detroit tomorrow or Sunday night, his physician, Dr. Robert E. Walsh, announced today.

Cochrane is suffering from a triple skull fracture received when he was beaned by Bump Hadley of the Yankees in a Detroit New York game here ten days ago.

Dr. Walsh said in his opinion Cochrane should remain here for five or six weeks longer until he is entirely out of danger, but added that Mickey, who is anxious to get home, has promised to remain in bed all summer, if necessary.

Col. Jake Ruppert and Edward G. Barrow, owner and business manager of the Yankees, had planned to visit Cochane Monday.

Cochrane continued to improve today.

Smith, Cooper Capture Lead at Inverness

Toledo, O., June 4.—(AP)—Harry Cooper, a favorite to win the National Open at Birmingham, Mich., next week, and Horton Smith shot their way into the lead in the $4,600 Inverness four ball matches today with a pair of par-shattering performances.

The two stars carded a 61, ten under par, this morning to defeat Denny Shute, P. G. A. champion, and Lawson Little, former British and American amateur titleholder, 6 up. Then they came back this afternoon with a 66 to beat Sammy Snead and Ralph Guldahl 1 up.

Here Are the Standings.

The standings, at the end of three of the scheduled seven matches, in which each pair of the 16 top notch stars meet each other twosome:

Smith and Cooper, plus 5; Guldahl and Snead, plus 3; Tommy Armour and Jimmy Thomson, plus 2; Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta, plus 1; Olin Dutra and Gene Sarazen, even; Shute and Little, minus 3; Paul Runyan and Ky Laffoon, minus three; Ray Mangrum and Jimmy Hines, minus 5.

Under the Inverness scoring system, a team is given a plus or minus rating on each match, depending on how many "up" or "down" it is at the end of the 18 holes.

Results and Scores.

MORNING ROUND.

Snead-Guldahl [63] defeated Mangrum-Hines [68], 5 up.

Picard-Revolta [63] defeated Dutra-Sarazen [65], 2 up.

AFTERNOON ROUND.

Armour-Thomson [62], defeated Picard-Revolta [64], 2 up.

P. G. A. ENTERS 18 IN BRITISH OPEN TOURNEY IN JULY

New York, June 4.—(AP)—The Professional Golfers' association today entered 18 United States professionals in the British open championship at Carnoustie, Scotland, July 5-9, though probably only 11 of them will play in the tournament.

Those definitly sure of playing in the championship are Open Champion Tony Manero, Peabody, Mass.; P. G. A. Champion Denny Shute, Boston; Gene Sarazen, Brookfield Center, Conn.; Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa.; Horton Smith, Chicago, and Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., all members of the United States Ryder cup team, and Walter Hagen, Detroit, nonplaying captain of the Ryder cup team.

There are still 11 players in the fight for four open places on the cup team. But they will not be chosen until the last day of the United States open at Birmingham, Mich., June 12.

The 11 others entered were Byron Nelson, Reading, Pa.; Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y.; Harold McSpaden, Winchester, Mass.; Ky Laffoon and Ralph Guldahl, Chicago; Ed Dudley, Philadelphia; Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J.; Jimmy Hines, Garden City, N. Y.; Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; Olin Dutra, Los Angeles, and Craig Wood, Rumson, N. J.

HORSE BETTING KILLED, TEXAS TO TIGHTEN LAWS

Austin, Tex., June 4.—(AP)—The legislature outlawed pari-mutuel wagering in Texas today and received word that Gov. James V. Allred would continue his war on gambling.

Gov. Allred announced he would submit proposals to tighten laws against bookmaking, dog race betting and other gambling. He called this special session a week ago and demanded repeal of Texas' 1933 law legalizing betting on horse races after the senate in regular session had refused to take such action.

The house voted 93 to 13 today to repeal the 1933 law.

Doug Casey's 76 Wins Bond Men's Golf Tournament

Douglas Casey won the 1937 championship of the Chicago Bond dealers golf association on the Knollwood course yesterday. A field of 238 took part in the tournament. Casey had a 37—39—76, four strokes better than Johnny Ames, 40—40—80. E. L. De Staebler and W. D. Kerr turned in 81's, while C. K. Morris and Wm. Martin had 82.

The low net winners were J. A. Keating, 99—30—69, first; E. L. De Staebler, 81—11—70, second; William Martin, 82—11—71, third, and T. E. Hough, 83—12—71, fourth.

The winning foursomes were J. A. Keating, W. F. Phipps, C. H. Thompson, and Charles Crane, 290 total, first; W. D. Kerr, E. L. De Staebler, G. H. Willis, and C. K. Morris, 305 total, second.

RANGER BEATS RAINBOW IN 2D YACHT TRIAL

Two days ago Ranger trounced Gerard B. Lambert's Yankee, third of the defense aspirants and a veteran of the 1930 and 1934 international sailing engagements.

Today's race was sailed in a light and variable breeze, but it furnished dogged competition, in which Ranger was favored by a shift in the wind.

It was Rainbow that Vanderbilt sailed to victory over T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavour I. in 1934.

ALL CLASSES OF YACHTS RACE AT BELMONT HARBOR

All classes of racing sloops will compete in course races off Belmont harbor today, under the auspices of the Chicago Yacht club. In the Universal division, R and Eagle class boats will race. The new Tumlaren class and the Stars also will race, starting at 2:15 p. m.

The North Shore Yacht club and Wilmette Snipe class fleet will conduct a combined race for the first competitions in the A series tomorrow. The club is headed by Commodore Walter Eggers, whose new snipe won in preliminary races last week. Bill Park, captain of the fleet, is expected to give Eggers a fight for first place.

The Sheridan Shore Yacht club's fleet of Star class racers in Wilmette harbor will be unable to hold races outside the harbor, according to Richard Barnes of the club, because of a shoal at the entrance. Racing was scheduled to start today at the Sheridan Shore club, but must be postponed several weeks until the shoal is removed.

Races are being planned by the Columbia and Jackson Park Yacht clubs over the week-end.

What all men want

Heart of Havana
SUPERIOR HARVESTER QUALITY

A man's smoke. A cigar that brings luxurious taste and aroma with the good, clean, honest tobacco taste. A cigar that's firm, well set-up—and with the quality-flavor that could come only from the heart of Havana—Harvesters, please.

KNOWS CHARACTER
We get to know good things in the Railroad Business—character soon shows up. That's why I've switched to Harvester. Made with a heart of Havana they taste rich and mild and I've lost that annoying smoker's cough I used to have.

INDIANS SLASH YANKEES' LEAD TO TWO GAMES

Win, 5-3; Averill Leads Attack.

Cleveland, O., June 4.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians moved to within two games of the American league lead today by beating the New York Yankees, 5 to 3.

Earl Averill had a field day at the expense of the Yankee pitchers, Spurgeon Chandler and Johnny Murphy, to lead the Indians' attack. He hit a homer, double and single, driving in one run and scoring three himself.

Johnny Allen, who went the route for Cleveland, was clubbed for 11 hits—two more than Cleveland collected—but was effective with men on bases.

Bees Trounce Pirates, 9-1; Take Series

Boston, Mass., June 4.—(AP)—The Boston Bees took the series from the league leading Pittsburgh Pirates today as Jim Turner, veteran rookie, hurled five hit ball for a 9 to 1 victory.

Landing on Right-Hander Bill Swift in the second inning for six runs, the Bees coasted to an easy victory. Waite Hoyt and Bauers relieved Swift after the second inning, but were unable to check the Bees, who made 11 hits.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 4.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds defeated the Phillies, 9 to 8, today to sweep the two game series.

Davis' relief pitching helped the Reds to victory. He replaced Brennan in the ninth after two runs had scored, men were on first and second, and one out.

Cubs Halted by Giants, 4-2; Win First, 6-5

O'Dea opened with his second vital hit in two times at bat, a 460 foot triple to right center. O'Dea held third while Bryant beat out a hit and Galan fanned, then scored the winning run on Herman's fourth hit, a single to center.

This string of 12 putouts in a row, added to Bryant's string of 19 outs in a row plus a single and another out in St. Louis Monday, gave Bryant a great string of 32 straight putouts against the last 33 batsmen to face him on this trip.

The double-header drew a paid attendance of 23,955. In addition there were 5,864 women guests.

See Chance to Climb.

At the end of the first game the Cubs were in second place, a game and a half behind the Pirates. At the end of the day's work they were in third place, a half game back of the Giants and two games back of the Pirates. On the dope they are in a swell spot if they can function as well as usual in the three games in Boston tomorrow and Sunday. The Giants and Pirates will fight it out simultaneously in a three game series.

Carleton Seeks Vengeance Today Against Boston

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 4.—Tex Carleton whose favorite cousins, the Boston Bees, did him dirt in Chicago, recently, will pitch the opener in Boston tomorrow. He will be opposed by MacFayden or Bush, certainly not Lou Fette, who beat the Cubs in Chicago; Lou pitched a shutout against the Pirates yesterday.

◆

Davis' appearance in the seventh inning was his first since April 1. On that date he went four scoreless innings against the White Sox to develop the sore arm which had him out of service till today.

◆

Joe Moore, hit at second base by a throw from Larry French, was taken to a hospital for x-rays. It was not believed he had suffered severe injury. He was hit over the right ear.

League Lifts Ban; J. Dean Pitches Today

succeeded in making good on that promise. There was no signature by the pitcher on the question and answer transcript. It was signed by Manager Frankie Frisch, Clarence Lloyd, secretary of the St. Louis club, and a group of newspaper men. When this had been done the National league head shook his finger at Frisch and said:

"Now, Frank, keep that big guy quiet or we will have to go through this all over again."

Dispute Costs Dean $500.

Dizzy will have been out of service for three days when the suspension ends tomorrow. Under National league rules, he must lose about $500, since while suspended he is automatically off the club's pay roll. This amount is calculated on a contract of $25,000 for a 154-game season.

It was believed to have been an attempt by the pitcher to win an abatement of this deduction that led to the principal flareup at today's conference. Dizzy has always made a point of getting as much as possible of the money to which he feels his pitching prowess entitles him. The threat to "see my lawyer" was construed by many observers as a determination to make a fight for the salary which the suspension forces him to lose.

Today's conference, which finally brought the closing of the case, was of Dizzy's seeking. Dizzy showed up at today's session with a telegram from the Rev. D. C. Boyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Belleville, repeating the Rev. Boyd's statement of last night that he regarded Dean's talk as a "big boost for baseball."

Tigers Release Infielder English to Boston Bees

Detroit, Mich., June 4.—[Special.]—Gilbert English, Detroit Tigers infielder, was released today to the Boston Bees of the National league on waivers.

Tilden, Schurz Nines Clash for City Title Today

Tilden Tech and Schurz will meet at Wrigley field this afternoon at 3 o'clock for the championship of the City High School Baseball league.

Schurz will be seeking its third pennant since the present league was formed in 1914, while the south siders hope to achieve the flag for the first time.

Right handers will start. Ed Zydowsky was named by Coach Koehler of Schurz, while Coach Shortall nominated Clarence Sredzinske, who won the last four games for Tilden, the only ones he worked.

Joe Schwarz, who will start at second base for Schurz, will relieve Zydowsky should he weaken. Tilden will have Len Novaski and Len Zintak as reserve pitchers. The batting orders:

TILDEN.	SCHURZ.

THREE GAMES SCHEDULED IN CRICKET TODAY

The first round of the Illinois Cricket league's Century of Progress tournament will be played this afternoon. Three games are scheduled. A fourth game, between Hyde Park and Winnetka, originally planned for today, will be played at a later date. Lake Forest drew a bye.

WAR ON RABIES PUTS 2,622 DOGS IN POUND IN MAY

BY BOB BECKER.

The police department of Chicago picked up 2,622 roving street dogs in the city during the month of May and took them to the Chicago dog pound, according to the poundmaster. The campaign against strays still is being carried on vigorously in an effort to cut down the cases of rabies in the city.

Dogs brought to the pound by the crews of dog catchers are kept just 24 hours unless they wear license tags. In addition to the 2,622 dogs taken from the streets, 927 biters were in the pound for observation last month. Of the 2,622 dogs picked up on the streets, 1,233 were destroyed at the pound and 381 were claimed by owners.

How Dog Crew Works.

The Chicago health department reports that of 94 dog heads examined last month 40 were found to be positive or with rabies. Last year during the month of May 46 out of 100 heads examined were found rabid.

We saw a dog catching crew in action the other day when we were on the southwest side of the city. Three men were attached to the truck used to convey the animals. One of the men had just snared a white mongrel that obviously was of Spitz origin. A wire loop had been tossed around the dog's neck. The pup was yelping and howling from fear while excited women and children in front of the small homes nearby watched. One of the men grabbed the dog and into the truck it went along with 15 or 18 other crossbred, unlicensed dogs.

No Purebreds Seen.

We inspected the dogs in the truck and didn't see a purebred in the group. The most pathetic dog in the truck was a long haired spicemen which had some skin disease. Large areas of its back were devoid of hair.

As this department has pointed out several times, there is no need for any dog owner who keeps his pet under control to worry about rabies. If the owner does not allow his dog to run the streets, exercises it on leash, and keeps it away from strays there is no chance for it to contract rabies. The disease is transmitted by the bite of a rabid dog. If your dog is not bitten by a rabid dog it cannot develop rabies.

MANIE O'HARA IS STILL QUEEN AT HOMEWOOD

Makes It Two for Two in Fifth Race.

Manie O'Hara still rates as the filly champion out at Washington Park. Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' gray filly made it two out of two by winning the fifth race yesterday, and her next start, the $25,000 Princess Pat stakes a week from today, is expected to find her a favorite.

Manie O'Hara didn't run by herself yesterday as she did on the occasion of her first trip to the post. She won by just one length from Bill O'Toole's promising Lillian Roth, with another Milky Way color bearer, Well Rewarded, a close third. But Manie O'Hara, when challenged in the stretch, drew away like a good performer does, and she wasn't unduly pressed at the wire. Carrying 115 pounds, she raced the five furlongs in :50 4-5 over a good track, missing the track mark by only three-fifths of a second. She provided Jocky Al Robertson with his sixth winner in three days.

Five of the field of nine were Princess Pat eligibles. When the break came in yesterday's race, Warlou was in front momentarily, but the Milky Way pair was right with her and Manie O'Hara was soon on top. They never caught her, either, though Lillian Roth moved up second with a rush at the head of the stretch and Well Rewarded on the rail was never far behind. Manie O'Hara was one of the shortest priced favorites of the year and the Milky Way entry paid off at only $2.80.

Fifteen were named in the overnight field for the Great Western. This famous old stake was first run in 1884 and was won at that time by Boatman. Old timers will remember such Great Western winners at old Washington Park as Joe Cotton, Bonita, Yo Tambien, and Jolly Roger. More recent winners were Top Row in 1935 and Where Away last year. In 1935 Count Arthur, then a 3 year old, finished third in the race.

Time, :23 3-5, :48, 1:00 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Little Flag, $6.60 straight, $4.20 place, $3.00 show; Mr. Grief, $20.60 place, $9.20 show; Techy, $2.60 show. Winner trained by B. B. Williams. Went to post at 2:19½. Off at once. Start good, from gate. Won easily, place driving.

LITTLE FLAG away slowly and raced wide throughout, raced to the leaders quickly when in good stride, was steadied on the stretch turn and moving into command in the last three-sixteenths, continued strongly but probably had little left. MR. GRIEF, slow to get going and inclined to bear to the inside, came around several opponents with a rush soon after reaching the stretch and holding on gamely wore down TECHY in the late stages. Latter, taken under light restraint when unable to outrun the early leaders, offered good response when called upon but weakened near the close.

PARMELEE T., in close quarters soon after the start, secured room between horses when beginning to move up, came through on the inside on the stretch turn and closing with fine speed after going well out in the course for the final three-sixteenths overtook RUSSMOR to win with something left. Latter away fast, took command without need of stout urging, was shaken up when entering the stretch and continued in determination fashion to the end, though unable to withstand the winner. FAIRY HALL, a strong factor from the start and under light restraint early, was subjected to energetic riding after three-eighths and began to weaken when straightened up in the stretch.

Time, :24 1-5, :48 3-5, 1:13 2-5, 1:26. Two dollar mutuels paid: Color Bearer, $47.00 straight, $9.20 place, $5.00 show; Billy Jones, $3.00 place, $2.80 show; Western Slope, $3.40 show. Winner trained by S. N. Holman. Went to post at 3:16. At post half minute. Start good, from gate. Won driving, place same.

COLOR BEARER, improved and on the inside throughout, drew away gradually after reaching the turn and holding on well, withstood the challenge of BILLY JONES to gain a lucky win. Latter poorly handled and repeatedly thrown off stride as his rider took him back under almost choking restraint the first half mile, went wide as he began to move up on the stretch turn, bore over in the stretch and finishing on his own courage barely failed to get up. WESTERN SLOPE moved up mildly after reaching the stretch but tired in the final eighth.

Time, :23 2-5, :47 2-5, 1:14 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Harold H., $8.00 straight, $4.60 place, $3.80 show; Maiden Dream, $5.00 place, $3.40 show; Firm Hand, $6.20 show. Winner trained by W. T. Westrope. Went to post at 3:46½. At post 5½ minutes. Start good, from gate. Won easily, place driving.

HAROLD H., on the inside throughout and well up from the start, sprinted into command with a rush on the stretch turn and held sway thereafter. MAIDEN DREAM, also saving much ground, was under light restraint for three-eighths and closed well under strong hand riding but did not threaten the winner. FIRM HAND, away slowly and far out of it for five-eighths, passed tired horses thereafter.

Time, :23 2-5, :47 1-5, :59 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Manie O'Hara, $2.80 straight, $2.20 place, $2.20 show; Lillian Roth, $3.00 place, $2.80 show; Well Rewarded, $2.20 show. Winner trained by R. M. Garvey. Went to post at 4:23. At post 1½ minutes. Start good, for all but FANCY THAT, from gate. Won ridden out, place driving.

MANIE O'HARA took command quickly, was taken under snug restraint after about three-sixteenths and after losing ground when entering the stretch was shaken up approaching the final eighth where she continued well under energetic hand riding. She went out three-quarters in 1:14 3-5. LILLIAN ROTH, forced to race wide throughout and sent into a contending position under vigorous riding, rallied following a short breathing spell on the stretch turn and shook off WELL REWARDED but could not get to the winner. WELL REWARDED on the inside throughout, had speed from the start, moved up slightly in the drive but failed to hold LILLIAN ROTH.

Time, :23 2-5, :47 2-5, 1:12 2-5, 1:37 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Over The Top, $6.00 straight, $3.60 place, $3.00 show; Military, $4.40 place, $3.60 show; Schoolmom, $6.60 show. Winner trained by B. B. Williams. Went to post at 4:51½. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won driving, place same.

OVER THE TOP, going in fine form and overcoming a big loss of ground moved up when racing very wide approaching the final half mile, was steadied around the turn, responded to pressure when wearing down SCHOOLMOM after reaching the stretch and holding on courageously withstood MILITARY'S bid. Latter allowed to remain a good distance back during the early racing began to work his way up on the outside after five-eighths and closed strongly in a fine effort. SCHOOLMOM, quick to begin and well rated in the pacemaking held on gamely to the final eighth where she weakened.

Winner trained by J. Johnson. Went to post at 5:21. At post half minute. Start good. Won easily, place driving.

SIR QUEST improved and taking command without need of strong urging saved ground when making the pace under restraint to the stretch and continuing well held OUR COUNT safe to win with something left. Latter, under light restraint and raced wide in the final three-eighths closed with determination, under strong handling. LADY MONTROSE, inclined to sulk, showed speed in spots, entered contention while racing under a steady hold, was lightly punished on the stretch turn and again in the final quarter where he loafed badly.

Winner trained by C. Troutt. Went to post at 5:51. At post half minute. Start good. Won easily, place driving.

WILD TRANSIT away slowly and saving ground early was taken out when beginning to move up after reaching the final half mile and after getting up in the final eighth drew out fast. PEGGYS PEGGY under steady reserve for three-quarters, came around KNEE ACTION when entering the stretch and held on well but was not good enough. KNEE ACTION made the early pace under restraint, was under pressure after about three-quarters and weakened in the last three-sixteenths.

WAR ADMIRAL, 6 OTHERS RACE IN BELMONT STAKES

Pompoon Chief Threat in $50,000 Test Today.

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—The $50,000 Belmont stakes will be run at Belmont Park tomorrow before an expected crowd of 40,000 with the seven best three year olds in training entered in the mile and a half test. War Admiral, winner of all starts this year, including the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, is fit and ready and is sure to rule an odds-on favorite.

The attraction is War Admiral, Samuel D. Riddle's son of Man O' War, whom his admirers think will be the fourth horse to earn the triple crown of Derby, Preakness, and Belmont.

Expects Pompoon to Win.

Main challenger to War Admiral's supremacy is the colt who chased him home in the Derby and Preakness—Pompoon. J. H. Louchheim, his owner, said today that he expected to win. But there is a difference of opinion between Louchheim and his trainer, Danny Clarke, as to whether Pompoon should go out fast and furiously and make War Admiral come from behind; or whether Pompoon should be rated and try to pick up the son of Man o' War.

This should not be a hard question to answer as Pompoon twice tried to pick up War Admiral coming from behind and could not do it. When both were juveniles Pompoon made the running and defeated War Admiral. This is a different year, with longer distances, but it would appear that the only chance for this son of Pompey against the son of such a good stayer as Man o' War would be to make a front race of it.

Brooklyn Strong Threat.

Aside from these two the main threat is considered to be E. R. Bradley's Brooklyn. Brooklyn was withdrawn from the Kentucky Derby when it was found that rushing his training—as a race as early in the year as the Derby demands—proved unwise.

Calvert's "Reserve" Blended Whiskey
Calvert's "Special" Blended Whiskey
TRY CALVERT AND SODA—THEY BLEND!

NO HOOK IN THIS!

In every pool, both big and small,
There is a rule that holds for all:
Take it easy, make it light;
Buy good whiskey—know you're right!

Here's a thought to keep in mind when glasses start to clink: a perfectly blended whiskey makes a perfectly blended drink. That's why, in every bar—wherever you are—the trend's to blends, and the call's for Calvert! You'll find it smooth and mellow in cocktails ... rich and flavorful in highballs ... sheer perfection in all mixed drinks!

MILLIONS MORE OF WORLD GOLD HOARD ARE SOLD

London Price Is Cut 8 Cents an Ounce.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

As millions of dollars of additional gold poured out of European hoards yesterday the price of the metal in the world market in London fell 8 cents an ounce, widening the margin between the international price and the figure at which the United States treasury has committed itself to buy all the gold offered to it. The metal was quoted in London at $34.57 an ounce or 43 cents an ounce below the American guaranteed price.

An all time record of £4,200,000 [about $21,000,000] was offered in the London market when brokers met to fix the day's price. Most of the metal was traced to private stocks which have been off the market, in some instances for several years.

Selling Is Stampede.

The rush to sell the metal, inspired by fears of a price reduction, is now as urgent as was the stampede to buy the metal when currencies were undergoing wholesale devaluation and the price was being arbitrarily advanced.

In Washington President Roosevelt asserted without reservation that there will be no change in the gold policy.

The President advised his questioners not to worry about the gold situation. Asked concerning the possibility of a joint statement on gold by the countries adhering to the tripartite monetary agreement, the President replied that nothing was being planned along that line.

Makes Sharpest Cut.

The slash in the London gold price yesterday was the sharpest that has been made since the heavy offerings from private hoards began to flood the market a week ago. The price permits ample profits on gold shipped to this country. Shipments can be profitably made to this country when the London price is $34.75 an ounce and each reduction in the price there widens the profit margin for those selling the metal to the United States treasury.

London dispatches reported withdrawal of an offering of $2,000,000 in gold bars because of the physical difficulties of moving that amount of the metal.

So far this week almost $40,000,000 has been sold for shipment to the United States, one of the largest movements for such a period since the dollar devaluation in January, 1934. Atlantic liners are doing a profitable business transporting the metal.

View on Price Cut.

The possibility of an early reduction in the American gold price appears to have been eliminated unless the continued influx forces the administration to reverse its position. Other alternatives are being discussed. The possibility of taxing foreign capital coming into this country and seeking an international agreement on gold production are talked of. The country's present gold holdings of $12,027,000,000 represents approximately 52 per cent of the estimated world supply of monetary gold.

Aside from the disturbance to the world monetary balance resulting from the accumulation in the United States, the treasury has the added problem of financing the purchases. Under its "sterilization" policy the treasury sells bills in an amount equal to the gold bought in order to prevent the metal from adding further to the credit base of the banking system and aggravating the threat of credit inflation. Since the present policy was adopted more than $800,000,000 of treasury bills have been sold against imported metal.

Foreign Currencies Rise.

Foreign currencies advanced against the dollar in the exchange market, led by the British pound which rose 1⅛ cents to $4.93½. The French franc closed .00⅝ cent higher at 4.45⅝ cents.

The German mark and Swiss franc were exceptions to the trend. The former dropped to a new 1937 low quotation of 40.04 cents, off .04 of a cent. The Swiss unit yielded .01½ of a cent to 22.81 cents.

SPEYER ANSWERS SEN. TRUMAN'S "LOOT" CHARGES

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—Speyer & Co., one of the firms named by Senator Truman of Missouri on the floor of the senate Thursday in an attack on "New York bankers and investment bankers" in connection with "looting" in railroad financial reorganizations, sent the following telegram to Senator Truman:

"If your yesterday's remarks concerning our firm are correctly reported today, we herewith advise you that you are entirely misinformed, and your assertions concerning our firm are without any foundation in fact. This would be clear to you if you would take the trouble to investigate the facts. When about two years ago Senator Wheeler made similar remarks we protested and our Mr. Speyer had an interview with him and stated to him the truth and actual facts."

E. N. Brown, chairman of the board of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway company, also sent a telegram to Senator Truman explaining the details of the deals which he had criticized.

Gold Price Cut Difficult, Says Josiah Stamp

Sir Josiah Stamp.

A reduction in the American gold price, entailing a loss to the government on the metal it has acquired at the present price of $35 an ounce, would constitute an extremely difficult political decision, Sir Josiah Stamp, British economist, said yesterday at a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Council of Foreign Relations at the Palmer house.

Stamp is a director of the Bank of England and chairman of the London, Midland and Scottish railway. His brief reference to the gold question was made during the course of a speech dealing with the general international outlook. He did not elaborate on the subject or indicate what he believed would be the outcome of the rapid piling up of most of the world's monetary gold in this country.

Seeks World Stability.

Stamp asserted that there is no possibility of lasting economic recovery without international stability. Recent experience has taught that prosperity cannot be achieved in one country independently of the rest of the world; nor do the remedies for economic ills apply equally in all nations, he said. What one nation may find successful in restoring confidence and promoting trade may be entirely unsuitable in another.

Stamp emphasized that he believed that the restoration of world trade was most essential to world-wide recovery. He spoke warmly in praise of the foreign trade policies of Secretary of State Hull.

Views on Arms Program.

Britain's rearmament program, he said, is the most important stabilizing influence in Europe. "A strong Britain," he said, "is not to be trifled with."

He said that his government is primarily interested in maintaining a neutral stand with respect to the Spanish conflict and is prevailing on other countries to pursue a similar course.

SEC SEEKS BAN ON 'UNIVERSITY' SECURITY SALE

An injunction to prevent the Universal Service corporation from selling securities and to restrain its officers from enrolling any more "student coöperators" in its "national university" was asked in federal District court here yesterday by the Securities and Exchange commission. The "university" professes a philosophy of plenocracy—plenty for all. The commission charged the defendants have no schedule of securities filed according to law, and "have employed and are employing a scheme, device, and artifice to defraud."

Individual defendants are C. Franklin Davis, director of finance; Harry N. Andreasen, director of organization, and Samuel R. Maxwell, president. The SEC charges the corporation has been selling securities through the mails and in interstate commerce since 1933, assuring investors of an annual return of 30 per cent.

The action was instituted by the Illinois attorney general's office after it said an investigation disclosed that the association, while professing to be a nonprofit organization, accepted contributions and promised its members a return. It asserted the organization was insolvent.

MEMORIAL DAY HOLIDAY CUTS MOTOR OUTPUT

Ward's Automotive Reports, Inc., estimated assemblies in the United States and Canada at 106,136 cars and trucks, compared with 132,425 in the preceding week and 98,106 in the corresponding period of last year. Cram's Reports, Inc., placed output at 103,319 units, against 131,421 and 101,732, respectively.

Ward's said production of General Motors corporation totaled 37,052 cars, against 53,890 the week before; Ford produced 28,830, compared with 29,615, and Chrysler turned out 23,930, against 29,975.

EMPLOYES OF STEEL MILLS TOTAL 589,000 IN APRIL, NEW PEAK

New York, June 4.—(AP)—With the addition of 12,000 employés in April, the total number of workers in the steel industry reached the record total of 589,000, the American Iron and Steel institute announced today. This compared with 577,000 in March, 480,000 in April, 1936, and an average of 458,000 in 1929.

Total pay rolls in April, the first full month following the general wage increase effective March 16, amounted to $94,322,000, against $90,863,000 in March, $60,151,000 in April of last year, and average monthly pay rolls in 1929 of $70,105,000.

Average hourly earnings of the 530,000 wage earnings employés of the industry who are paid on an hourly, piecework or tonnage basis were 85.6 cents per hour in April, the highest ever reached in the industry, the announcement said. In March the average was 79.3 cents per hour. In April, 1936, the average was 65.5 cents. In 1929 wage earners received an average of 65.4 cents per hour.

RAIL INTERESTS OF VANDERBILTS, MELLON PROBED

Senate Group Taps Surprise Action.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—(AP)—Railroad interests of Andrew Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, and the Vanderbilt family, long prominent in New York social and financial circles, became the subject of a senate investigation today.

In an unexpected secret session, the railway finance committee voted to investigate the recent financial history of three railroads—the New York Central, The New York, New Haven and Hartford, and the Virginian.

Committee members said privately it is "quite possible" they will summon Mellon, who was secretary of the treasury in the Hoover administration, and some members of the Vanderbilt family to testify.

Charge Control by Mellon.

They asserted that a Mellon-controled holding company took over the Virginian railway last December, and that the Vanderbilt interests have dominated the New York Central for many years, although their investment was less than 5 per cent of the line's total value.

Partners of J. P. Morgan & Co. may be called to describe the banking relationship between their firm and the New Haven, a carrier which has been investigated repeatedly in the last two decades.

Until today the committee had limited its inquiry to 25 roads selected by the interstate commerce commission. For nearly six months it has been tracing the financial history of the Van Sweringen system, the largest and most complex railway holding company set up in America.

The senate recently voted an additional $150,000 to finance the committee's investigations.

Plan Hearing Next Month.

Public hearings on the Virginian, New Haven, and New York Central, probably will begin late in July, after investigators finish a study of the Pennsylvania railroad. Preliminary surveys already have been made of this line and hearings are expected by committee members within a week or two.

By extending its inquiry to the three additional lines, the committee has brought typical major trunk lines in every section of the country under its scrutiny. Although its experts have been at work for months on southern, western, and Atlantic seaboard carriers, the New Haven will be the first New England road studied.

BROKERAGE FEE LAW GETS FIRST INTERPRETATION

Washington, D. C., June 4.—(AP)—Federal trade commission attorneys today issued the first official interpretation of the brokerage fee regulation of the Robinson-Patman act. They advised the commission that the law, intended to eliminate certain types of price discriminations, prohibits "payment of brokerage fees from sellers to buyers, directly, or indirectly,"

Under this interpretation, they said, the services performed by the Biddle Purchasing company of New York for hundreds of companies, particularly food merchants, violates the act. Both the interpretation and the judgment of the Biddle plan will be reviewed by the commission, however.

The brief said persons employing the Biddle company as their purchasing agent pay a monthly charge varying from $25 to $50 for the services. In its buying, however, the Biddle company receives from sellers brokerage fees ranging from 1 to 5 per cent of the sales price and turns this fee over to the buyer. The transfer of the brokerage fee to the buyer is the illegal part of the plan, the attorneys alleged.

SEVERAL CHAIN STORES REPORT GAIN IN SALES

The W. T. Grant company yesterday reported May sales of $8,614,253, a gain of 3.4 per cent over 1936. Sales for the first five months this year were 3.8 per cent above last year.

Edison Brothers Stores, Inc., reported sales during May of $2,542,855, an increase of 29.2 per cent over May, 1936. Sales for the first five months were 25.7 per cent above last year.

McLellan Stores corporation had a gain of 9.7 per cent in May over 1936, and a gain of 11.2 per cent for the four months ended May 31.

French Proposal Places Big Levy on U. S. Autos

PARIS. June 4.—(AP)—A bill which importers of American automobiles declared would mean an end to United States automobile exports to France was introduced in parliament today by Deputy Emile Taudiere. Designed to enable French automobile manufacturers to overcome increased costs under Premier Leon Blum's social reform measures, the bill calls for a 35 to 40 per cent increase in import duties on automobiles and parts.

Claims Utility Failure Record Is Exaggerated

John T. Madden.

The utilities appear to have made at least as good a record, if not a better one, in regard to receiverships than any other group of industries, he asserted.

Madden also took occasion to rap the holding company act of 1935, saying: "The holding company act was announced as an attack on size and 'a beginning of an attempt to handle the problem of concentration of economic power.'

Points to Lower Rates.

"It was found, however, that on the average the large national holding systems are supplying services at prices 5 to 15 per cent lower than the prices charged by small holding company systems.

"The paradox of the act of 1935 is that it aims at the elimination of that size of holding company which has served the customer best and from the widely scattered small town market where it has demonstrated its advantages."

Madden pointed out the records of other industries, showing that 21.7 per cent of the capitalization of railroads was involved in receivership during those years. Also, in terms of fixed capital, 12.8 per cent for manufactured gas and 45 per cent for traction companies were in receivership.

Cites Railroads' Record.

"A record for the railroads which was more than twice as bad as that for manufactured gas and electric companies," Madden continued, "is a sad commentary upon government regulation in terms of preventing losses to investors through receiverships. Is this the state of affairs to which closely regulated public utilities are to look forward in future depressions?"

Charles W. Kellogg, president of the institute, announced that the Charles A. Coffin medal, most coveted of awards for which electric light and power companies can compete, was awarded to the Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc., for "a distinguished contribution to the development of electric light and power for the convenience of the public and the benefit of the industry."

BANKER GROUP FIGHTS M'ADOO BRANCH BILLS

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—The American Bankers' association today announced that it opposed the McAdoo bills providing for branch banking across state lines, and reiterated its stand in favor of granting to 'national banks permission to establish branch banks within state borders to the same extent that branch banking is permitted to state banks.

The position of the association was decided upon by its interim committee, consisting of its president, two vice presidents, executive manager, general counsel, and chairman of its committee on federal legislation which is empowered where prompt action is needed to make such a decision between meetings of the administrative committee.

Rail Wage Parley Adjourns; Will Study New Demands

Representatives of the railroad nonoperating unions, which include 14 crafts representing 766,000 employés, and railroad operators yesterday adjourned a meeting started Thursday at which the unions demanded a 20 per cent increase in wages. Yesterday the unions presented two demands—full time compensation for all regularly assigned forces and a guarantee of two-thirds full time compensation for standby forces. These will be studied by the operators until the meeting reconvenes next Tuesday.

COURT CANCELS LONG TERM LEASE ON LAND UNDER POST BUILDING

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday approved a report by Federal Master in Chancery Wallace Streeter and terminated the 99 year lease of the Chicago Evening Post Building corporation on the land under the 19 story Times building at 211 West Wacker drive.

This gives the estate of Marshall Field, owner of the land, possession of the building this morning. It also wipes out the $1,800,000 leasehold bond issue underwritten in 1927 by A. C. Allyn & Co.

According to Ward Farnsworth of the Field estate there are $175,000 in back taxes which the estate must pay at once. In addition, Holabird & Root, architects of the building, have been commissioned to make a survey and see what will be needed to modernize the property.

The building, completed in 1928, cost $1,300,000. The balance of the $1,800,000 bond issue was used to pay for presses for the Evening Post and other building improvements. The bonds were issued against a 99 year lease dated July 1, 1927.

The ground rent was $30,000 annually up to July 1, 1937. This had not been paid since Jan. 1, this year, and because of this nonpayment of rent the Field estate asked the court to terminate the ground lease.

The Times occupies approximately 50,000 square feet of space. When the Home Owners Loan corporation moves to the Merchandise Mart on July 1 the building will still be 40 per cent rented, according to Farnsworth. All subleases have been canceled and new ones will be made, it was stated.

ILLINOIS SPENDS MORE THAN IT RECEIVES IN MAY

Springfield, Ill., June 4.—(AP)—Treasurer John C. Martin reported today the state's income during May was $16,339,116, compared with disbursements of $18,753,740. The balance in the general revenue fund was $9,445,246 on May 31. The total balance was $62,606,086.

Sources of May revenue were reported as follows: Direct property tax, $134,420; inheritance tax, $533,316; liquor taxes, $737,142; insurance fees and taxes, $160,172; corporation fees and taxes, $336,720; interest on state funds, $12,185; retail sales tax, $6,559,710; public utility tax, $656,894; motor fuel tax, $3,107,393; federal aid to roads, $724,910; federal aid to old age assistance, $1,056,687; miscellaneous fees, earnings, and returns, $642,672; trust funds, $861,807.

ALBERTA'S DEBT ACT HELD INVALID BY APPEAL COURT

EDMONTON, Alta., June 4.—(AP)—The five judges of Alberta's Court of Appeals ruled unanimously today that the Alberta reduction and settlement of debts act is invalid.

The measure provided division of all private debts into two classes. On "old debts," contracted before July 1, 1932, the act stipulated that payment of interest and principal since that date should apply entirely on the principal and that the balance become payable in ten instalments.

On "new debts," on which interest was limited to 5 per cent, payments in excess of that amount since 1932 automatically would be applied to principal.

The court ruled that the act trespasses on federal bankruptcy legislation powers, that the provincial legislature delegated to the lieutenant governor powers not authorized by the province's constitution, and that the act affects civil and property rights outside the province.

Stock Advice Expenses Deducible on Tax Returns

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—The internal revenue department will in the future permit individuals dealing in the stock market in a volume that requires statistical services and advice to deduct expenses for such services from their taxable income, Guy T. Helvering, commissioner of internal revenue, announced today.

Car Loadings Climb to New High for Year

Railroad freight trafic during the week ended May 29 set a new 1937 record of 794,855 cars and was the largest since the week ended Oct. 31, 1936, when a total of 814,175 cars were loaded, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

The previous record this year was 782,423 cars, loaded during the week ended May 1. Last week's loadings exceeded those of the preceding week by 15,579 cars, or 2.0 per cent, and topped the corresponding week of 1936 by 148,043 cars, or 22.9 per cent.

Gain More than Seasonal.

The increase was slightly more than seasonal. The gain over the corresponding week of 1935 was 232,173 cars, or 41.3 per cent.

Gains over the preceding week were recorded in all classifications of freight except live stock, and over the like week of last year in all except grain. Sharp increases in loadings of coal and ore accounted for the greater part of the gain.

Group Loadings Compared.

	Wk.ended May 29.	—Change from— Prec.wk.	Yr.ago.
Miscellaneous	329,850	+2,110	+67,000
Merchandise	171,112	+ 962	+26,124
Coal	123,002	+5,753	+ 8,980
Grain	27,653	+1,499	— 2,068
Live stock	12,598	—1,115	+ 2,255
Forest products ..	42,675	+ 928	+11,520
Ore	77,174	+4,902	+32,519
Coke	10,791	+ 540	+ 1,713

The Dow-Jones seasonally adjusted loadings index advanced to 94.6, from 92.9 for the preceding week. The gain over the like 1936 week was widened because last year's period included the Memorial day holiday.

The Associated Press seasonally adjusted weekly index of freight car loadings, based on 1929-'30 as 100, advanced to 81.6, compared with 80.5 the preceding week and 71.5 a year ago.

CLOSED BANKS RETURN $78,936 TO DEPOSITORS

A total of $78,936 has been authorized for repayment to 8,950 depositors of four closed banks in Cook county, and checks have been mailed, Edward J. Barrett, state auditor, announced yesterday.

Baker State bank paid 10 per cent, or $15,776, to approximately 2,200 depositors, bringing the total return to 30 per cent. The Commercial Bank of Chicago Heights distributed 5 per cent, or $22,965, to 2,000 depositors, placing the total return at 70 per cent.

The Elston State bank distributed $23,620, or 5 per cent, among 3,700 depositors. This was the first return made since the bank closed. The Papanek-Kovac State bank made a 5 per cent payment of $16,575 to approximately 1,050 depositors, a total of 67 per cent to date.

Elevated Trafic in May Slightly Below Year Ago

The Chicago Rapid Transit company—the elevated lines—yesterday reported May trafic was 0.86 per cent below that of May, 1936. The decline in April was 3.46 per cent. The improvement over April was due partly to the three day holiday travel of last week-end, which was larger than expected. During the first five months of this year trafic on the elevated lines has been 4.42 per cent below the corresponding period last year.

Exports of Scrap and Old Rubber Rise to New Record

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—American exports of scrap and old rubber reached an all-time high in the first four months of 1937. A total of 21,067,035 pounds, valued at $377,645, was shipped to foreign markets, the commerce department reported today. In the corresponding period of 1936 exports amounted to 13,327,307 pounds, with a value of $274,307.

Sitdown Strike Closes Cotton Mill Permanently

Tupelo, Miss., June 4.—(AP)—Stockholders of the Tupelo Cotton Mill voted unanimously today to liquidate the plant, "vacate the mill village, and put it on the market," because of a strike of workers. Eighty-four per cent of the stockholders were represented either in person or by proxy. Shutting down of the mill because of a sitdown strike that started April 7 affected 400 employés.

Two Chicago Firms Report Poorer Results

Pines Winterfront company, makers of automobile accessories, and headed by B. F. Stein, showed a net loss of $316,308 for the year, compared with a loss of $181,710 in the preceding fiscal year.

The Potter company, producers of radio equipment and automobile electrical parts, reported a net profit of $2,674 after surtax, compared with a profit of $8,582 in the preceding year. Net sales were $190,305, against $208,206.

Spaulding Firm Has Loss.

Among other reports yesterday, A. G. Spaulding & Brothers reported a net loss of $52,680 for the quarter ended April 30, compared with a loss of $258,958 in the preceding quarter and a loss of $197,111 in the April quarter of 1936. The indicated net loss for the six months ended April 30, 1937, was $311,638, compared with a net loss of $496,016 in the corresponding six months of last year.

Duro-Test corporation reported for the six months ended April 30 a profit of $79,572 before taxes, against $71,280 in the six months ended April 30, 1936. These figures include revenue received from operations of wholly-owned subsidiaries—Tungsten Products corporation and Tungsten Research Laboratories, Inc. Gross sales for May were $85,022, against $67,801 in May, 1936.

Telephone Concern Earns More.

Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania reported April net operating income of $1,438,345, against $1,408,739 in April of last year. In the first four months of the year net operating income of $5,700,253 compared with $5,400,304 in the corresponding period of last year.

Southern New England Telephone company had net operating income of $353,021 in April, against $299,203 in April 1936, bringing the total for the first four months to $1,396,102, compared with $1,098,487 in the corresponding four months of 1936.

Oklahoma Gas and Electric company, a unit of the Standard Gas and Electric company system, reported net income of $2,547,134 for the twelve months ended April 30, compared with $1,885,785 in the preceding twelve months.

Farm Machine Business Good.

Continued good business in the farm machinery industry was reported yesterday by Cal Sivright, president of the Oliver Farm Equipment company, at the annual stockholders' meeting. Stockholders approved a proposal to sell up to 25,000 share of common stock either directly or under option to officers and employés. A. K. McCord, vice president, was elected to the board of directors, filling a vacancy existing since the resignation of S. A. Russell last year.

PLAN CAMPAIGN TO BOOST SALE OF SAVINGS BONDS

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—The treasury department, it was learned today, is making plans for a new sales promotion campaign for baby bonds [United States savings bonds]. Sales are now averaging about $1,000,000 daily.

The campaign, it is understood, will be timed to reach investors when they are receiving July 1 interest and dividend distributions. The campaign will continue through the remainder of 1937, it is stated.

PORK IMPORTS CLIMB TO NEW PEAK FOR APRIL

Receipts Total Far Above Year Ago.

April imports of dressed pork by the United States aggregated 5,233,877 pounds, the largest April pork imports on record, and far above imports of 3,019,219 pounds in the corresponding 1936 month, the department of commerce reported yesterday.

However, the flood of pork pouring into the country fell well below the all time record for any month—7,671,908 pounds established in March of this year when heavy imports of hams for the Easter trade swelled the total. Imports of hams in April were said to be about 50 per cent below March.

Small in Earlier Years.

Imports of pork in April, 1935, aggregated 443,000 pounds, and only 80,000 in April, 1934. The figures do not include imports of pork on the hoof which are not yet available for recent months.

In the first four months of 1937 imports of dressed pork were 24,767,570 pounds, against 10,151,102 pounds in the corresponding period of 1936. Imports for the same period in 1935 were 1,551,000 pounds, compared with only 502,000 pounds in the first four months of 1934. The rise in imports from 1934 to 1937 was 4,833 per cent.

The influx of pork from foreign nations rose above beef and veal imports for the first time in the first four months of any year since 1911, the report showed. Dressed beef and veal imports for the period this year were 24,159,838 pounds against 36,971,127 pounds in the 1936 period, 29,068,000 pounds in 1935, and only 9,973,000 pounds in 1934.

Beef and Veal Figures.

Imports of beef and veal in April aggregated 10,818,331 pounds, the largest for any month since April of last year. They compared with 7,626,447 pounds in March and 1,764,914 pounds in January.

Imports of foods into the United States during the first four months of this year totaled $333,012,000, while exports amounted to only $69,507,000, according to preliminary figures released by the department of commerce.

Imports rose 36 per cent above those of the corresponding period in 1936, when the total value was $244,864,000, and exports were increased by only 13 per cent. The total foreign trade in foodstuffs was 31 per cent above a year ago.

CANADIAN EXPORTS RISE.

MONTREAL, Que., June 4.—[Special.]—Exports of hogs to the United States from Canada were larger than those of beef cattle during the last week and showed another increase over the preceding week's heavy volume.

The week's exports were officially announced today as 3,507 beef cattle, 575 dairy cattle, 3,968 calves, and 3,813 hogs. In the same week last year exports were 7,375 beef cattle, 176 dairy cattle, 2,028 calves, and 449 hogs.

For 1937 to date exports to the United States have aggregated 78,135 beef cattle, 5,148 dairy cattle, 43,679 calves, and 31,441 hogs.

DRIVE TO OBTAIN SOCIAL SECURITY TAXES ORDERED

Washington, D. C., June 4.—[Special.]—Collectors of the internal revenue department were ordered today by Guy T. Helvering, internal revenue commissioner to start an intensive drive to collect delinquent social security taxes. Special emphasis was placed on taxes under old age provisions of the law.

The old age taxes are due monthly, while collections for the unemployment provision of the act are made quarterly. Helvering said telephone directories and other sources would be checked to determine whether taxes are being paid on all employés subject to the act.

Export Scrap Iron, Steel Cartel Is Formed in U. S.

New York, June 4.—[Special.]—A cartel has been formed for the export of scrap iron and steel, the first of its kind in this country, it was disclosed today when the Scrap Export Association of America filed papers with the federal trade commission under the Webb-Pomerene export trade act.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 4.—A brisk rally developed on the stock exchange late today and gains of fractions to around 5 points were chalked up. Some steel and farm equipment shares featured in the upswing. However, the big advances were attributed in part to "thin" markets.

Although some covering was reported to have come from shorts, increased demand was credited with having had a great deal to do with the better behavior of the list. The turnover rose to 779,190 shares.

Of steadying influence, in the opinion of many brokers, was the President's comment on gold and his statement that he did not know of any more messages that would be sent to congress at this session. The trade believes that the market has been acting unusually well in the face of much uncertainty. Gold rumors, news from Washington, and the trouble on the labor front have not been able to dislodge much stock, and opinion in financial circles is that the market's technical position must be unusually strong to withstand all the battering.

Price movements in the first half of the session today gave no indication to observers of the final trend. A long list of issues opened at previous levels and then moved in a narrow range. U. S. Steel common coasted along until early afternoon when buyers appeared, and the issue once more crossed par on a 3½ point gain. Other steels also advanced.

Farm equipments gave a uniformly better performance. International Harvester was outstanding in volume and jumped more than 2 points. Case leaped 6 points, Deere 2½, Oliver Farm Equipment 3¼, and Allis Chalmers more than 1.

Reflecting a favorable car loadings report, which put them at a new peak for the year, carrier equities staged a mild but steady rise. Most other groups advanced moderately.

New York Bonds.

New York, June 4.—(AP)—The bond market moved upward on slightly increased activity today, with demand spread evenly over most of the list. All groups except utilities were at higher levels at the close. The power and light company loans moved off a bit late in the day after earlier improvement.

Turnover for all bonds, the best for the week to date, totaled $8,554,000, face value, compared with $7,275,000 Thursday.

United States government loans again moved slowly, with prices slightly uneven. Most changes were on the up side and gains ranged to 6-32, with the majority under ⅛ of a point. Setbacks extended to 3-32ds of a point.

Enough bids appeared in the domestic corporate division to lift most active obligations fractions to a point or so. Rails and industrials were the chief beneficiaries of this light demand.

Central Railroad of New Jersey 5s jumped 4⅝ points to 60⅝. This virtually completed a recovery from a recent decline by these bonds. New York, Ontario, and Western 4s added 2 points at 16.

Foreign bonds were slow but nearly steady.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks were irregular and dull yesterday. Lion Oil provided the outstanding movement of the day, rising 1¾ points to close at 28, a new 1937 high. Gardner-Denver common also reached a new peak at 65¼, up ⅜, in odd lot sales. Armour advanced ⅜, and Ætna Ball Bearing ¼. Wisconsin Bankshares slipped ¼. The exchange announced that trading will begin today in Bunte Brothers $10 par common stock, of which 88,518 shares are listed.

Bank Stocks.

Moderate changes occurred in Chicago bank stocks yesterday. While Continental-Illinois slipped 50 cents, First National advanced $1 a share. City National dipped $3 and National Builders $5. Terminal National rose $2.50 and Chicago Title and Trust $2.

Commodities

World commodity prices moved in narrow ranges yesterday. Rubber recovered about a third of the grou lost in heavy selling Thursday, a most other basic staples also proved, but metals, cottonseed coffee, and sugar were reactionary.

Irregularity in North American metal prices was attributed to a sharp dip on the London Metal exchange where copper declined to a American equivalent of 14.07 cents a pound asked at one stage of trading, against a price of 14.29 Thursday, and only seven points above the American domestic price.

Export copper in New York reflected the weakness in London, as most sales were made between 14.10 and 14.15 cents a pound, compared with about 14.25 the day before. Nominal prices of tin and zinc were higher.

Rubber for delivery in July closed at 19.82 cents a pound, against a closing price Thursday of 19.66 cents, and gains in other contracts ranged between 0.14 and 0.21 cent a pound. Hides improved between 0.16 and 0.18 cent.

Coffee futures closed easy. The cash market for coffee was dull but steady. Early moderate declines in cotton were turned into slight gains in later trading. Raw sugar was unchanged. Sugar futures were a few points lower.

Grain.

Early easiness yesterday in Chicago wheat futures gave way to moderate strength in later trading. Prices rallied more than 2 cents a bushel from the early lows and closed near the day's best levels with net gains of about a cent a bushel.

Corn rose minor fractions, oats were irregular and only slightly changed, and rye continued to suffer from liquidation, the July delivery dropping nearly 3 cents net.

Initial weakness resulted from favorable weather conditions in the spring wheat belt and an early sharp decline in Liverpool wheat futures. The decline proved short lived, however. The market effect of light showers in the Canadian spring wheat belt was offset by reports which said that substantial moisture still is needed in the prairie provinces to pull the crop through to maturity.

In addition, unwanted rains fell in sections of the southwest, where harvesting is under way. Reports were circulated that Texas millers had raised flour prices because tests of new wheat arriving at market showed the grain contained excessive moisture. The latter reports were unconfirmed, but the news as a whole brought in short covering, which started the upturn and new buying carried it through.

Activity in other grain pits was featureless. While the early losses were not large, they were sufficient to carry December wheat and corn, September and December oats and rye, and October and December soy beans to new low levels for the crop.

Live Stock.

Fresh pork met narrow demand and sold lower again yesterday at most of the principal distributing points, but a derth of slaughter supplies checked the break in hogs at Chicago. The hog market was mostly steady, with sows under 450 pounds firm. The average for the day, $11.05, was unchanged.

Top loads sold at $11.55, which was 10 cents less than similar kinds brought at the best time early Thursday, but 10 cents above the close of that session.

Yesterday's light run of 6,000 hogs brought the five day total to 51,900, compared with 70,313 in 1936 and 62,735 two years ago, the previous lows for this period.

Lambs rose mostly 25 cents, top new crop stock reaching $13.25, highest since May 25. Current lamb quotations are 50 cents to $1.00 above last week's close. New crop lambs from California sold without sorting at $12.10 and last year's crop of fed shorn lambs, now called yearlings, sold at $10.50.

Cattle sold readily at mostly steady prices, although no strictly choice kinds were available. The highest sale reported was $11.50, the bulk of steers selling at $9.00 to $11.50.

Fully steady prices were paid for the limited number of beef cows, hefers, canners, cutters, calves, and bulls offered.

Butter and Eggs.

Egg futures were irregular on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday with the October contract finishing ⅛ cent lower and June futures closing an equal amount higher. The cash market was unsettled with prices closing unchanged to ¼ cent higher. Government buyers again bought extras at 20½ cents and firsts at 20¼ cents.

Butter futures eased an ⅛ cent a pound. Federal buyers purchased 300 tubs here at 30 cents a pound and a carlot of the same grade in New York at 31 cents. The cash market was steady.

There was no trade in potatoes. Sales of futures yesterday totaled 40 cars of eggs and 26 cars of butter, while 16 cars of eggs were delivered.

MODIFIED PLAN FOR CHURCHILL HOTEL APPROVED

Judge Accepts Proposal for New Company.

A modified plan for reorganization of the Churchill hotel, 1255 North State street, was approved yesterday by Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg. The plan drawn by the bondholders' committee last year was rejected by the court two weeks ago as "vicious."

Judge Feinberg.

The plan provides for the setting up of a new corporation to take title to the property. It will have authorized capitalization of 36,000 shares of stock and will be operated by three trustees to be named by Judge Feinberg. The trustees are to operate the property for not more than ten years, with the objective of liquidation by sale of the hotel. Their compensation may not exceed ½ of 1 per cent of rents collected.

Judge Feinberg said he would select no "professional trustees" and indicated he will not name any of the men proposed by the committee.

Nominees of Committee.

The nominees were Dayton Keith, paid chairman of the committee; Charles Tuttle, vice president of the City National Bank and Trust company, and Frank McKey, head of the American Bond and Mortgage Liquidating corporation. This corporation holds title to the property, $19,000 of subordinated 7% first mortgage bonds, and a block of unsubordinated first mortgage bonds. The bonds originally were offered by the American Bond and Mortgage company.

The modified plan reduced from 2,500 to 1,500 the number of shares of new stock to be given the A. B. & M. Liquidating corporation in exchange for title to the property and cancellation of the subordinated bonds. Other holders of the $206,000 of subordinated bonds will receive 1 2/5 shares of stock instead of 1 share for each $100 of bonds. Five shares of stock will be given in exchange for each $100 of the $655,000 of unsubordinated bonds, as was proposed in the bondholders' plan.

Receivership Petition Withdrawn.

With approval of the plan, a petition asking removal of Chicago Title and Trust company as receiver was withdrawn. The receiver's conduct was criticized by Judge Feinberg.

The court indicated fees previously asked will be slashed, but new fees will be asked by four attorneys who successfully represented bondholders objecting to the original plan. They are Meyer Abraham, Morris Blank, Leo Ginsburg, and Norman Ascher. Suggestions were made yesterday that the committee's fees be cut from the $15,850 asked to $9,925; that the $10,600 asked for I. E. Ferguson, attorney for the committee, be cut to $10,000, and that the $6,800 fee of the Chicago Title and Trust company as depositary be slashed to $3,200.

The hotel has been in receivership since 1930, following default on the bonds in 1929. It is a nine story fireproof steel and concrete structure containing seventy-eight units ranging from hotel rooms to four room apartments.

Business Bits

Letcher Lusby, of the Equitable Life Assurance society, has been elected president of the Junior Association of Commerce.

W. A. Armstrong of Dayton, O., has been appointed vice president of Nash-Kelvinator corporation. His new duties will be in the automotive and refrigeration divisions.

A. W. Brandt, Robert D. Robinson, and Henry Knight have become affiliated with W. Earle Phinney & Co., underwriters and distributors of investment securities.

The eighteenth annual conference of the National Office Management association will open Monday at the Stevens hotel and continue through Wednesday.

Daniel C. Roper, secretary of commerce, will speak before the 42d annual convention of the National Association of Credit Men in the Stevens hotel during the week of June 21.

Charles R. Underhill has been appointed a director and elected president of the Brown Fence and Wire company, succeeding the late Frank Spitz. M. B. Sackheim was elected vice president.

Utilities Power and Light.

Investors' Guide: In the New York Stock exchange table is listed Utilities Power and Light A with quotation of 2½. In curb quotations is Utilities Power and Light, quoted at ⅝. Do these two quotations have any relation? What is the rating?—D. P. B.

Answer: Although listed on different exchanges, both are stocks of Utilities Power and Light corporation. The class A stock is entitled to noncumulative dividends of $2 a year before anything can be paid on the common and participates with the common in further dividends after payments on the common equal the aggregate amount paid on the A stock. The A stock is junior to preferred stock and heavy funded debt, and has prior rights of $35 a share over the common in the event of liquidation. The company has operated in the red for five years and is seeking to reorganize under terms of the federal bankruptcy laws. No dividends have been paid on the A or common stocks since 1932. They are extremely speculative.

Armstrong Cork 4s.

Investors' Guide: Please inform me as to the security of investment in Armstrong Cork 4s of 1950.—Miss M. C. H.

Answer: These debentures are rated sound. Although unsecured, the issue is well guarded by company's normally large earning power, a strong financial position, and the protective provision in the indenture against issuance of prior securities. Interest charges have been earned by a wide margin.

Argentine Bonds.

Investors' Guide: Would the Argentine 4½s of '71 be a safe investment for funds of a widow of limited means?—Mrs. T. C. S.

Answer: These bonds are considered reasonably sound but are under the standard usually regarded as suitable for persons in your position. They are a direct obligation of the Argentine republic but are more an investment for a business man who will be watching for any changes that may occur in the status of the issue.

Budd Wheel Dividend.

Investors' Guide: Budd Wheel recently declared a 20 cent dividend on its common stock. Please inform me when that dividend will be paid and on stock of what record.—K. C.

Answer: The Budd Wheel common dividend will be paid June 30, 1937, to stockholders of record June 16.

BRIGGS BOOSTS DIVIDEND TO $1 FOR 2D QUARTER

Directors of the Briggs Manufacturing company, one of the largest manufacturers of automobile bodies, yesterday voted a dividend of $1 a share, to be made June 25 to stockholders of record June 15. Fifty cents a share was paid March 31.

Directors of a number of other concerns yesterday acted on dividends. A dividend of 50 cents a share was voted on common stock by the Borg Warner corporation, payable July 1 to stock of record June 15. Prior to the two-for-one slipup of the company's shares dividends of $1 a share were distributed.

Mead, Johnson & Co. directors declared an extra dividend of 75 cents and a quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share, payable July 1 to stock of record June 1. A similar extra was distributed by the company April 1.

An extra dividend of 10 cents a share and the regular semi-annual dividend of 20 cents were announced by Oilstocks, Ltd., payable June 14.

An initial quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share, payable June 21 to stock of record June 15, was voted by directors of Bond Stores, Inc., which was recently formed through consolidation of the Bond Clothing company and the old Bond Stores, Inc.

Bonds.

A bond differs from stock in that the bond is a loan. Stock is a certificate of partnership. A bond represents money lent to a corporation, institution, government, or municipality, and is formal acknowledgment of the loan in the form of a contract by which the borrower agrees to repay the money on a certain date, with a fixed rate of interest paid at specified intervals during the life of the loan.

A corporate bond issue is usually backed by a lien on certain valuable assets. The highest form of corporate bond is the first mortgage bond which is secured by a first mortgage on certain property. In the event the company fails to pay interest or principal when due, or within a reasonable time thereafter, the mortgaged property may be taken over and operated for the benefit of bondholders, or the property foreclosed and sold and the funds thus realized distributed to bondholders to the extent of the amount of money owed them.

Two important factors in a mortgage bond are the value of the mortgaged property in relation to the amount of bonds issued, and the ability of the company to earn its annual interest charges by a safe margin.

First mortgage bonds have prior claim to all other securities of the company. Interest and principal must be paid before any money is made available for junior bonds, notes, debentures, or other funded debt. All funded debt must be cared for before payments can be made on stocks.

BOND FINANCING EXPANDS; STILL BELOW YEAR AGO

Corporate and Municipal Issues Increase.

Corporate and municipal financing in the week ended June 3 was the largest in several weeks but substantially under the volume of the corresponding period last year, according to figures compiled yesterday.

Twenty-four new issues with an aggregate value of $23,271,143 were placed on the market during the week, compared with 27 issues totaling $17,453,118 in the preceding week and 30 issues aggregating $139,135,500 in the corresponding 1936 period.

Classification of Offerings.

Municipals	$ 9,866,000	$ 13,766,000
Industrials	760,500	40,000,000
Public Utilities	10,000,000	77,000,000
Stocks	2,644,643	5,188,500
Railroads	....	2,000,000
Miscellaneous	....	1,181,000
Total	$23,271,143	$139,135,500

Stockholders of the Chicago Pneumatic Tool company at a meeting yesterday in Jersey City, N. J., approved a program of capital readjustment which provides for clearing up preferred dividend arrears and retirement of bank loans and debentures.

Provides for Stock Exchange.

Under the plan one share of $3.50 preference stock will be exchanged for one share of $3 convertible preference stock and ¾ of a share of common stock upon waiver of the $17.50 back dividends. The authorized common stock was increased from 500,000 to 750,000 shares and approval was given for the issuance of 100,000 shares of new $2.50 convertible preference stock. Proceeds of the latter issue will be used to retire $2,000,000 outstanding debentures and $842,000 of bank loans.

The stated value of the new common stock will be fixed at $13.33 1-3 a share against the $50 stated value on the old $3.50 preferred stock. By this means this company will write off nearly all the $5,568,814 carried as good will.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Smart Turkey Trade.

June 4, 1937.

THE turkey hens still are swapping or stealing each other's poults as if they really enjoyed the game of losing and then picking up new groups of young ones every few days. This week a Bourbon Red turkey hen upset the hatching schedule by a clever little act involving the theft of four young poults. At least we would call it theft, although Rawlings pointed out that this same hen hatched two poults which were taken by another hen. So technically she just swapped two little ones for four, which is pretty smart trading for a barnyard turkey hen.

This particular turkey was setting in the hayloft. When two poults came out of their shells they got out of the nest. The old bird continued to incubate her eggs in the hope that more little ones would be hatched. Right next to this hen in the hayloft was a half wild hen on another clutch of eggs. When she saw these two little poults on the loose she promptly added them to her family of seven. Then the old Bourbon Red hen, having failed to hatch any more poults, decided she had better get busy. So she appropriated four poults from the flock of the half wild hen.

Hens Do Their Stuff.

It takes the Barred Rock hens to really show the turkeys how to hatch eggs. This week four steady old hens hung up this fine record—35 turkey poults out of 36 eggs. This is a feat that ought to make any conscientious turkey hen hang her head in shame.

We didn't have much success this week playing Sherlock Holmes around the big pond to find the unidentified water birds that are supposed to be on the farm this season. One of the men reported seeing this pair of birds this week. We have sneaked around the ponds with our binoculars several times to see if we could get a glimpse of these mystery birds. But so far we have had no success. At the present time we know there are mallards, grebes, and mud hens staying on the ponds. It's possible that there is another species to be added to this list.

Old Timer Teaches Colt.

Minnie, the aged white draft horse on the Wheaton farm, is showing the boys that she can still do her part when the heavy work schedules are on deck. Minnie is between 25 and 30 years old, but when we were on the farm the other day we saw her teach a 4 year old colt a thing or two about pulling a heavy load.

Minnie was hitched up with Hazel, the bay colt, on a two-row corn planter. The arrangement seems ideal from the standpoint of both horses, because this is Hazel's first season in harness, and she needs an old veteran like Minnie to keep her steady. The boys rather expected the youngster to outpull Minnie, but the old horse proved she can still hold up her end of the load.

Mules Get Workout.

Mulina and Muletta, the mule team on the farm, had a good workout at corn planting time, too. One of the tractors was being repaired, so the boys had to use the mules and three horses to pull a heavy double disk ahead of the corn planter. Even with five animals hitched to the heavy piece it took a lot of heavy pulling to get the job done. Mulina and Muletta were hitched nearest the disk, with the three draft horses ahead of them.

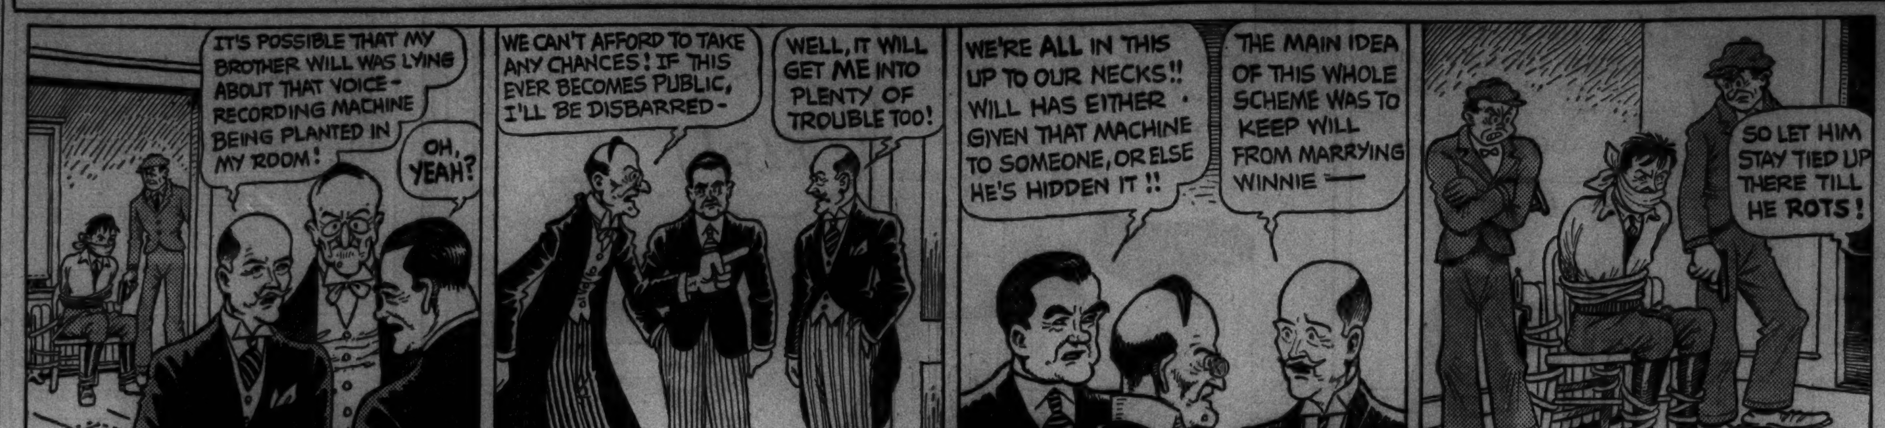
WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Ties That Bind



IT'S POSSIBLE THAT MY BROTHER WILL WAS LYING ABOUT THAT VOICE-RECORDING MACHINE BEING PLANTED IN MY ROOM!
OH, YEAH?
WE CAN'T AFFORD TO TAKE ANY CHANCES! IF THIS EVER BECOMES PUBLIC, I'LL BE DISBARRED—
WELL, IT WILL GET ME INTO PLENTY OF TROUBLE TOO!
WE'RE ALL IN THIS UP TO OUR NECKS!! WILL HAS EITHER GIVEN THAT MACHINE TO SOMEONE, OR ELSE HE'S HIDDEN IT!!
THE MAIN IDEA OF THIS WHOLE SCHEME WAS TO KEEP WILL FROM MARRYING WINNIE—
SO LET HIM STAY TIED UP THERE TILL HE ROTS!

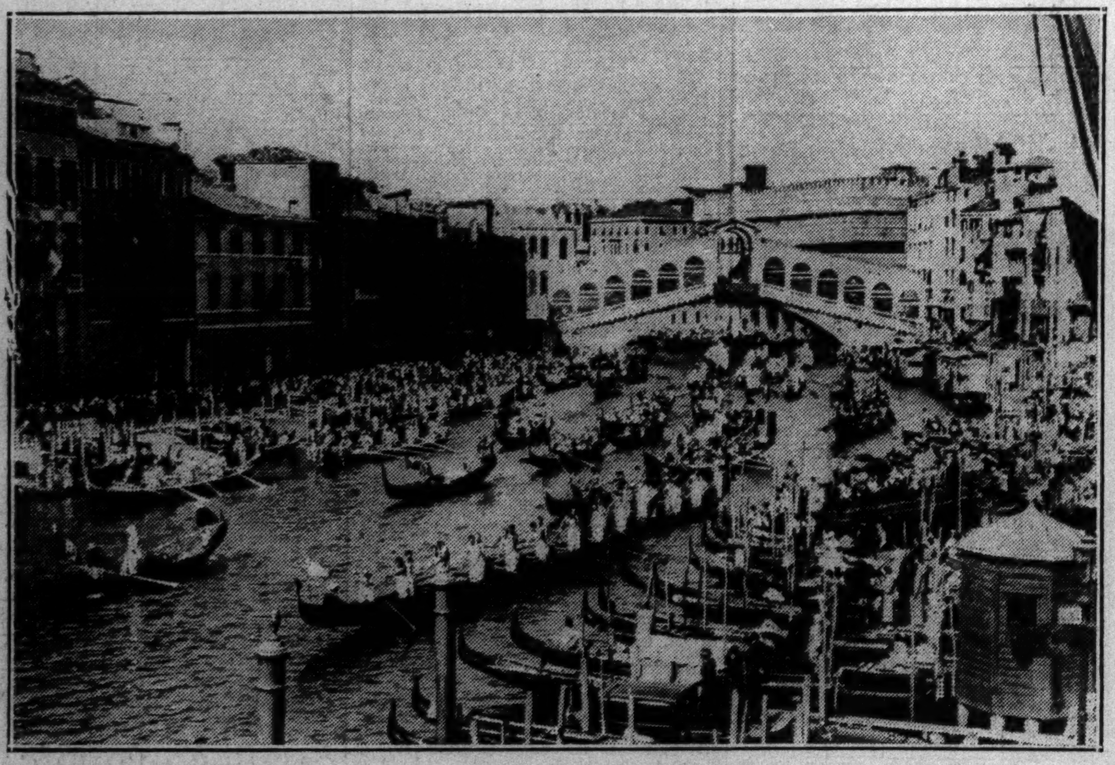
Along the Honeymoon Trail with Windsor and Wally



The newlyweds, the duke and duchess of Windsor, paused yesterday in Venice, Italy, and took a ride along the famous Grand canal as thousands of residents cheered. They were the guests of the British consul, Allen Napier, who piloted them about in a motor launch. Later they continued their trip to their honeymoon castle, Wasserleonsburg, in Carinthia, southern Austria. (Story on page 6.)

LONG LIFE AND HAPPINESS TO THE DUKE AND DUCHESS

In London yesterday an American, Capt. Reginald Jaffray, created a sensation by displaying this banner from the windows of his apartment. The agents for the building objected, but the captain, who said he was personally acquainted with the duke, refused to take it down. He is shown standing behind the banner at the left. Capt. Jaffray said he spent all his vacations in England. [Associated Press Radiophoto]

ODDITIES IN NEWS FROM JAPAN

An unusual photograph showing Helen Huss Parkhurst of New York, educator and originator of the Dalton plan, reciting Buddhist prayers before an image of Buddha in Tokio. She is in Japan on a lecture tour. With her are a Japanese priest and an American companion.

Top hat and tails. This Japanese is not a comedian, but a tufu, or bean curd monger, who blows a metal whistle to attract customers. His high silk hat is also to make him conspicuous.
